QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
Veterinary.*HORSE PANTS AND COUGHS.

Had horse in stable all summer. He commenced to cough about three months ago. He pants and coughs greatly after exercise. W. W.

Ans.—The symptoms indicate heaves, which, if well established, cannot be cured, but if alteration of the structure of the lungs and air cells has not taken place, you may be able to arrest the trouble by the following treatment: Feed first-class hay in small quantities. If working, feed liberally on good oats; dampen all he eats with lime water, and give every morning a ball composed of 1½ drams powdered opium, 2 drams solid extract of belladonna, 1 dram camphor, and 20 grains digitalis, with sufficient oil of tar to make plastic. Roll in tissue paper and administer. V.

SUPPURATIVE MAMMITIS.

1. In December, 1909, I saw treatment recommended for suppurative mammitis in a cow. Would the same be all right for the same trouble in a pregnant mare? 2. Is camphorated oil sweet oil and camphor; all the camphor the oil will take up? B. G.

Ans.—1. The treatment for the trouble in a pregnant mare would be about the same as for a cow, except that it would be wise to omit the purgative. A laxative of 1 pint raw linseed may be given. Follow up with 4 drams hypophosphite of soda three times daily. Open abscesses as they form, and flush the cavities out three times daily with a five-per-cent. solution of carbolic acid. If pus can be drawn off through the teats, dose three or four times daily. Bathe frequently with hot water, and after bathing rub well with camphorated oil.

2. Yes. Put oil in open vessel, add the camphor, and put in a hot-water bath and keep warm for several hours. V.

REMARKABLE AND SUCCESSFUL TREATMENT FOR NAVICULAR DISEASE.

In your issue of December 1st, I notice treatment recommended for navicular disease. I will give my experience. My driver was lame from the trouble. My blacksmith cured him by shoeing him with shoes with four calkins, one on each heel and two in front, with a space of about ¼ inch between them. He has cured several others the same way; one was a case of two years' standing. A. B. D.

Ans.—This treatment is certainly as remarkable as it is successful. If your blacksmith would spend a little money in advertising, and be able to secure a patent on the shoe and convince horsemen that he can do as he claims, he can make a fortune in a very short time. At the same time, I hope you will pardon me for being somewhat skeptical, and venturing the opinion that "your blacksmith" has no idea of the nature of the disease, and in all probability has not an intelligent idea of the anatomy of the navicular joint, else he would not claim ability to cure by the use of two toe calkins. V.

MiscellaneousDRYING COW - GNAWING COLTS.

1. Which is the best method to practice in drying up a milking cow? Is it of any benefit milking them on the ground?

2. I have two colts which chew boards very much while running loose in a box stall, and even gnawed some of the rungs of their rack in two. They are being fed plenty of hay, and half a gallon of bran and oats each night and morning. SUBSCRIBER.

Ans.—1. Cut the rations of the cow down to a great extent, withholding succulent foods and concentrates, do not milk out thoroughly. Cannot see any advantage arising from milking on the ground.

2. It would appear either that the colts have not enough exercise, or else their teeth are sore. Turn them out as much as possible in the day time, and have their teeth examined.
