Gardening for Women.

There is nothing better for wives and daugh-ers, physically, than to have the care of a garen - a flower pot, if nothing more. What is seasor than to spend a portion of every passe ing day in working among plants and watching the growth of shrubs and trees, and plants, and o observe the opening of flavers, from week to week as the season advances? Then, how much it adds to the enjoyment, to know that your own hands have planted and tilled them. This is a leasure that req sires neither great riches nor prefound knowledge. The humble cottage of the laboring poor, not less than their grounds may be sdorned with pet plants, which in due time will become redolent of rich perfume, no less radiant with beauty ; thus ministering to the love of the beautiful in nature.

The wife and daughter that love home, an would seek ever to make it the best place for husband and brother, it willing to forego some gossipping morning calls for the sake of raving leisure for the cultivation of plants, and shrube, and flowers. The good housewife is early among her plants and flowers, as the husband at his character of husiness. They are both utilitarians, removing immediately by their purgative properties. It is upon this union that we claim the the one it may be in the abstract, and the other in the concrete, each as essential to the erj is ment of the other, as are the real and ideal in haman life. The lowest utilitarianism would labor only for the meat that perisheth. Those of higher and pebler views, would labor with no less assiduity for the substantial things of life, but would in addition, seek also those thingwhich elevate and refine the mind and exalt the
