I uster think my character
Was spotless as the snow,
I uster think 'twas stainless as

But the stories they're tellia'
You hardly could believe,
They say that I'm a horse thief siace
They put me up for reeve.

Was fit to lead in prayer,
But since that sad occasion
I'm frequent made aware
That I served a term in prison
From court of last assize,
For boilting with the coppers from
A helpless dead man's eyes,

They say that missing goods are oft
Upon my person found,
That neighbors lock the henhouse when
They see me coming round,
That I never yet was sober
An hour in all my life,
And that I'm too familiar with
A certain party's wife.

So I decline to run for reeve;
I rather would be free,
A-choppin' cordwood in the swamp
Is good enough for me.
The township will be losers and
The voters all will griere on learning that I've shook the job,
And will not run for reeve.

A POLITICAL ROW.

William Smith Assaults Mayor

Fowke at Columbus Oshawa, May 25 .- (Special.) -At meeting held in Columbus, a village six miles north of here, in the interest of the candidature of Hon. John Dryden, a lively scene was enacted. Throughout the canvass the Conservatives have constantly sought to slander and vil fy the character of Hon. John Dryden, and this policy was followed at this meeting. Mr. Dryden had spoken first in an able presentation of the policy of the Govern-ment, after which Dr. Kaiser of Oshawa followed, giving a half hour's address in which he spoke in abuse of Mr. Dry-den, and related afresh Mr. Fowke's remarks in reference to Mr. Wm. Smith ex-M.P., at the nomination meeting in Whitby on Thursday last. He asked Mr. Fowke, who was present at the meeting, if he was willing to repeat the remarks to this audience, and in the presence of Mr. Smith.

Mr. Fowke, Mayor of Oshawa, who was down for the closing speech, followed Dr. Kaiser. He stated in reply to Dr. Kaiser that he had said nothing in reference to Mr. Smith at the nomination meeting that he had not said to his face, and was prepared to repeat it now. Proceeding, Mayor Fowke told the audience that he had been informed that he was likely to get into trouble if he attended the meeting in Columbus, and read the following telegram, which he had received at 6 o'clock that evening:— Whitby, May 24 .- Personal plot at Co fumbus on you. Be ready, (Signed) T. G. Calwill." On reading the telegram Mr. Fowke said that he cancelled an engagement at Oshawa in order to be present in Columbus to-night, and said that none other than an arrant coward would maliciously determine upon being ed by the telegram, and then proclaim his purpose to the world. Mr. Wm. Smith, ex.M.P., than suddenly sprang upon the platform from the audience, exclaiming, "I am the man," and assault-ed the Mayor, without, however, doing very much damage. At once everything was in a state of confusion and nothing but the presence of the township constables prevented more serious trouble. Mr. Fowke had loaned his watch, a fine gold one, to the Chairman to time the speakers, and it was badly smashed, if
