Baking Powder Truth

No better Baking Powder can be devised than that made from pure cream of tartar and bicar-bonate of soda. Desire for big profit has led to the use of in-ferior ingredients, and very few ferior ingredients, and very powders are now made from the articles named. For this reason we decided to make an absolutely pure cream of tartar and soda powder. Nothing better can possibly be produced, better can possibly be produced, yet we self it at 25c a pound. No one could improve on it if they charged $1.00 a pound.

On Saturday, every lady coming to our store may obtain a trial 1/4 pound package free,

TWO ASTUTE KENT FARMERS

With the Assistance of Maple City Police They Round up Chicken Thieves.

A Long Wait in the Nightly Zephyrs has its Reward-Poultry at Station.

The cellar of the police station re-The cellar of the police station re-sembled the stall of a poultry dealer this morning. Arranged on a table in the lower regions of this place of detention were 57 chickens, undressed. The array made quite a spectacle. Above in the cells two sad prisoners regretted that they had been caught with those chickens in their possess.

Two farmers, Johnson Orr and An-thony Edwards did some sharp detec-tive work and were responsible for the chicken thieves.

The birds disappeared in the night. Man tracks pointed instrument in this vanishing act on the part of the chickens. Mr. Orr felt hurt he also hoped to catch the thief. He watched the market on Saturday and saw that one man who lived in this city had a large number of chickens for sale. He enquired and learned that this man did not raise chickens. He also learned that the same man sold chickens every Saturday for a long time. Tuesday night Mr. Orr and Mr. Edwards sent two men to watch the house of the man who sold so many chickens on the market. Last night, the two farmers watched the house themselves. About 12.30 the vigilance committee of two saw a sleigh leave the house. The two sentinels then left their post of of duty and reported the matter to the city police.

The rest of the story is best told P. C. Groves' own words.
"When this little incident was ported to us about 12.30," said the officer, "Mr. Dodson and I at once de cided to go over and watch the house until the sleigh came back. Leaving P. C. Durr to look after our beats, we went over. Concealing ourselves in a little lean-to attached to the stable, waited and the chicken speculators certainly kept us waiting. Half the boards were off the building, and we four watchers nearly froze in the lithe 6x4 shed. "We certainly had reason to rejoice when the sleigh returned at 4,40 a, m. to the house on the sorner of Brock street, and the town line, where four men had been patiently waiting for four hours. As soon as the horse had been unhitched and put in the barn we arrested Chas. Mumma, the owner of arrested Chas. As soon as Mumma saw that the officers had found the chickens, he acknowledged that the jig was up. The chickens were dumped into the sleigh and P. C. Dodson and the two farmers becoming beasts of burden, pulled the sleigh over to the police station.

When arraigned this morning, the When arraigned this morning, the men pleaded guilty and were remanded till Monday for sentence. They told Judge Houston that they had secured 17 of the chickens from Gus Joseph on the second concession, some from the first house on the right hand side of the Prince Albert Road, and some from a farmer on the 5th concession, Chatham township, next to James Waugh's place.
