

I OWE MY LIFE TO "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

The Old No. 1 More Good Than All Other Treatments Combined

Palmerston, Ont., June 26th, 1913. "I really believe that I owe my life to 'Fruit-a-tives'. Ever since childhood, I have been under the care of physicians and have been paying doctors bills. I was so sick and wore out that people on the street often asked me if I thought I could get along without help. The same old stomach trouble and distressing headaches nearly drove me wild. Some time ago I got a box of 'Fruit-a-tives' and the first box did me good. My husband was delighted and advised a continuation of their use. 'Fruit-a-tives' completely cured me. Today, I am feeling fine, and a physician meeting me on the street, noticed my improved appearance and asked me the reason. I replied, 'I am taking 'Fruit-a-tives'. He said, 'Well, if 'Fruit-a-tives' are making you look so well, go ahead and take them. They are doing more for you than I can'. 'Fruit-a-tives' are sold by all Dealers at 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

The Secret of Content.

It isn't what a fellow has that clothes him with content. That puts him in that frame of mind where joy and peace are blent. And unless he has that recognized and that he's in the well satisfied, and glad that he's alive. It isn't in my stored in banks, there piled on his account. It isn't mortgages he holds of fabulous amounts. Nay, none of these things worry a throng as down life's throng we jaunt. It isn't what a fellow has, but what he doesn't want! Tough manly feet may be a curse, far more than itching hands. That grasp, but never satisfy, their cravings and demands. Though railing stones accumulate but very little moss. They're like averting palms keep a waiting at their loss. And so the most modest wants who keep his desires curbed. Strolls side by side by happiness when others walk perturbed. Possessions we're taken from immune from care that siege or haunt. It isn't what a fellow has, but what he doesn't want! It one's by wish and want imbued, his days will all be spent. In futile sports upon life's road to overtake content. If one's desires modest be, he'll find them all supplied. And by a constant 'Giddy Jim,' with life well satisfied! It isn't bonds that make for cheer, nor stocks that price supplies. It isn't silver picture brings so gold contentment buys. It isn't bank or treasury notes, though, riches you may flaunt. It isn't what a fellow has but what he doesn't want!

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

If a Boy Oily Knew.

If a boy only knew how his inner life shows in his outward bearing, it would be a stimulus to good, honest, straightforward living and thinking. The difference in carriage, address and facial expression of a boy when he is trying to live an honest and useful life, as compared to when he is leading a lazy, dishonest, insincere life is most noticeable. True, there are few boys who can play a part for any considerable length of time. All boys appreciate and long for approval and praise. If they could only realize that it is useless to expect this unless they really deserve it. They are often deceitful in particular, and at particular times, but the cases are rare when a lad deceives many people as to the course of his life. His usual tone of thought and aim, his likes and dislikes—in fact, the general nature of his inner life, which is his real life—are known to all who have to do with him. I recently observed a boy who has of late been aiming at better things, honestly trying to do much better; his whole bearing, his tone and inflection when he speaks to me, seem so much more gentlemanly and sincere. And similarly when a lad gets careless and reckless and unmanly in his conduct, one may trace it to the letting down of his ambitious aims. If lads could see themselves it would be a remarkable help to their conduct.

Royal Abstainers.

The Emperor William is not only a monarch who is interested in temperance. The King of Italy, the King of Bulgaria, the King of Sweden and the King of Spain are abstainers. Even at banquets and public dinners the Spanish king takes only water—in this case clear spring water. The Crown Prince of Sweden is a total abstainer, and the Crown Prince and many of her ladies in waiting wear the white ribbon of the international women's temperance movement.

Think of These Things.

Better lead a little child than miss a lost man. To do both, however, is best. It is vital to know what the Father has said, but no less vital to know what our sons are doing. A heart of stone is no foundation for the house of character. Some people never see the way because they will not face about. It is a straight way, but it is a more liberty than a broad one. The world is not God's machine, but His workshop. It is hard to divert the wrong course of a long day with a short prayer at bedtime.

WOMEN WHO ARE ALWAYS TIRED

May Find Help in This Letter.

Swan Creek, Mich.—"I cannot speak too highly of your medicine. When through neglect or overwork I get run down and my appetite is poor and I have that weak, languid, always tired feeling, I get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it builds me up, gives me strength, and restores me to perfect health again. It is truly a great blessing to women, and I cannot speak too highly of it. I take pleasure in recommending it to others."—Mrs. ANNE CAMERON, R. F. D., No. 1, Swan Creek, Michigan.

Another Sufferer Relieved.

Halsom, Me.—"Before taking your medicine I was all run down, discouraged and had female weakness. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and used the Sanative Wash, and had today that I am an entirely new woman, and willing to do my household work, where before taking your medicine it was a dread. I try to impress upon the minds of alliling women I meet the benefits they can derive from your medicine."—Mrs. CHARLES ROWE, R. F. D., No. 1, Halsom, Maine.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., (consultants), Lynn, Mass. Your letters will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

No. 50 Great, After All.

St. Robert Bell, the famous English astronomer, whose death occurred a few months ago, used to tell a little story of an experience that he had when he was at the Danvers Observatory. A former came to him one day, and asked if he might look at the moon through the telescope. "Surely you can," said Bell. "Come round to night, and I shall be very happy to let you see it through the telescope." "Can't I see it now?" asked the farmer surprised. "I am sorry that you cannot," said the astronomer. "You will have to wait until night."

Piano Maker Praises Zim-Buk.

Old Ones Stayed Away.

"Of a certain stonery his young rival related the following anecdote. The better told it the ancient anecdote is: One day the floor of a well known and the office of the office had been laid in, as far as haste was in him to answer it. After a while he entered the office and said: 'A client wish to see you.' 'An old client or a new one?' queried the lawyer. 'A new one, of course,' answered the boy."

Before the busy merchant stood pretty little Bea. "I want some cloth for Dolly, enough to make a dress," what color, little lady, the pleasant dress, said. Why don't you know? she answered, I want it awful red," she smiled, and cut the fabric for the delighted miss. "What does it cost?" she questioned. He answered, "Just one kiss." And then the clerk who heard her went laughing up and down. "My diamonds said she'd pay you next time she comes to town."
