Parents Objected To Fredericton Wedding

To be married on one day and separated from his bride the next day was the experience of Alonzo Smith, a returned soldier, of Fredericton.
On Wednesday afternoon, at the home of the groom's parents, Alonzo Smith and Miss May Harding, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Harding, of Lower St. Mary's were united in marriage. Shortly after the ceremony the bride and groom decided to pay a visit to the bride's parents at their home on the other side of the river, and were anticipating a hearty welcome on their wedding day, but their joyful anticipations were soon shattered, as they no sooner entered the house when the irate parents of the young bride seized her quickly and locked her in a room and the groom was asked to leave the house. He did not at once do so, but endeavored to effect a reconciliation, but to no avail and he was forced to leave his bride of a few hours and return to the city.

The groom, undaunted, at once called on Police Magistrate Limerick and explained the situation to him. After some time the magistrate and the bride's parents came to an agreement whereby she would remain under her parents' roof and her husband visit her on Saturdays. It was quite a jolt to the newly married couple, but they had to abide by the verdict, as the bride was under age and had been married without her parents' consent.
Early that evening Mrs. Smith in some manner escaped the surveillance of her parents and came to the city and joined her husband, and they were passengers on one of the outgoing trains to parts unknown.
Egg stains can easily be washed from dishes if a little salt is sprinkled over them before washing them.

Large Amount Raised By Hospital Aid

Good Work In Aid of Miramichi Hospital Being Done by New Society

At an adjourned meeting of the Miramichi Hospital Aid, Newcastle, held Thursday afternoon, 6th instant, in the Hospital Building, to complete organization and receive report of the President on Life membership, the greatest enthusiasm prevailed. The President, Mrs. L. H. MacLean, being at the previous meeting deputized to solicit life members among the leading men of the town and community, reported that she had met with a most delightful reception among the men as a whole and consequently was able to report, at this early date, after only about one week's canvass, a life membership list of 33 representative men, netting $250.00 and donations of $200.00, and Chatham not yet canvassed, from where the committee is sure an equally splendid response will be made.

As a recognition of this work done by the president, the ladies of St. James' Presbyterian Church, at the close of Mrs. MacLean's report, presented her with a life membership in the Hospital Aid, bringing the total life membership to 34.

Knowing that the Hospital was the free gift of the late Ernest Hutchison, of Douglasston, Mrs. MacLean in closing her report suggested that Mrs. Hutchison be made Honorary President of the Miramichi Hospital Aid, which suggestion was unanimously adopted amid the heartiest enthusiasm. A vote of thanks was tendered the Union Advocate of Newcastle, for printing notice postal cards free of charge.

The Aid would heartily thank all those who have already contributed, and those who yet may, at the same time assuring them they are contributing towards a worthy cause, as the Miramichi Hospital rates even to paying patients are most reasonable, and to all who cannot pay equally good care is given. Hence in supporting the Miramichi Hospital an institution being supported second to none in its equipment and service, and whose only requirement to give free treatment is that it be assured the patient is unable to pay; after which assurance it receives treatment in no sense inferior to that given to all other patients.

The hospital will give free treatment to those unable to pay.

The Life Members of the Aid are: E. A. McCurdy, Newcastle.

James Robinson, Millerton.

Hubert Sinclair, William Sinclair.

Rev. L. H. MacLean, R. Cory Clark, Newcastle; Donald Fraser, of Fraser Ltd.; A. D. Ferris, C. G. Coady, Newcastle; Hon. John P. Burchill, J. Percival Burchill, Nelson; D. J. Buckley, Chester C. ## SYMPATHY WITH LADY LAURIE

Ottawa, March 10—British mails are bringing to Lady Laurier a large number of letters of condolence from prominent statesmen of Great Britain and Europe and other prominent people, who were friends of the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier. Already over two thousand letters of condolence have been replied to by Lady Laurier and they continue to be received in large numbers.

Six of the seven print cloth mills of the Fall River, Mass., Iron Works Co. which have been shut down for several weeks, will resume operations. They will be run three days a week. A train of the Transcontinental railway, was derailed on Sunday at Cadorna, a junction station near St. John. The accident delayed all trains over the lines at that junction.

Local House Now In Annual Session

Opening Took Place on Thursday Last—Votes for Women Forecasted by Lt. Governor's Speech

New Brunswick's first-after-the-war session of the Provincial Legislature—officially known as the third session of the seventh Legislature—was opened Thursday afternoon with one of the most elaborate military displays that has ever characterized the event.

The guards about the Legislature were dispensed with after having been kept on duty during the war-time sessions and all these features of the military display which had been passed up during the war were in evidence once more.

Returned soldiers were everywhere in evidence. The party who fired the 12-pounder guns from the usual position on the river bank in front of the Parliament building was composed entirely of returned men under the command of Lieut. de la Milliege, M.C. officers recently returned from overseas, were in command of the Guard of Honor, while Lieut. Governor Pugsley's military staff was composed entirely of officers who had been with the Canadian Corps.

Under most auspicious weather conditions, with a warm sun shining after a light fall of snow during the night which served to make everything appear clean and fresh, a larger gathering than usual viewed the out-of-doors features in connection with the opening of the House, while the ceremonies in the Assembly Chamber were witnessed by probably the largest and most brilliant gathering since before the war. In fact, the out-of-door visitors were even more numerous than usual, the galleries being crowded, while all the available space on the floors of the House was taken up.

The Speech from the Throne was read by Lieut. Governor Pugsley, was a somewhat longer document than usual but referred to many matters of interest and gave a comprehensive programme for the session.

Premier Foster and his government were all present at the opening ceremonies but Hon. Jas. A. Murray, leader of the Opposition, was not in attendance and it is said will probably not be here for at least a week, as a result of a relapse of an attack of influenza which he has suffered, Hon. J.B.M. Baxter acted as leader of the Opposition and will continue to do so until the arrival of Hon. Mr. Murray.

The first official ceremony of the day, after the opening prayers had been offered by Rev. Z.L. Fash, pastor of the George Street United Baptist Church, the new chaplain of the House was the election of a new speaker to succeed Hon. William Currie, who resigned the Speakership, as a result of the findings of Commissioner Friel.

The new Speaker is Dr. J.E. Hetherington, M.L.A., for Queens, but his election was entirely a formal matter the House assenting to Premier Foster's proposal for the elevation of the popular member for Queens to the Speakership. The new Speaker then took up his duties amidst applause but soon retired as the arrival of the Lieutenant Governor was announced by the Sergeant at Arms, S.S. Wetmore, A.A.G. of No 7 Military District, lined up on either side of the Throne, extending almost the entire distance across the Assembly Chamber while Lieutenant Governor Pugsley, accompanied by Lieut. Col. W.J. Osborne, ADC and Mr. R.S. Barker, his private secretary, proceeded to the Throne from which the Speech was read.

It was just about 3 o'clock when the strains of the National Anthem played by the New Brunswick Depot Battalion Band announced the arrival of the gubernatorial party, and as Lieutenant Governor Pugsley alighted from his barouche the guard of honor from the 7th Canadian Garrison Battalion, St. John, under command of Capt. Smith, M.C., presented arms.

About the same time the salute of 15 guns fired by the party of returned soldiers under command of Lieut. de la Milliege, M.C., also burst forth with more noise than is usually made by the salute as the bigger guns than usual were utilized.

Romantic Maiden Meets Disappointment

English Lass Wedded N. B. Indian in England and Had Dreams of Life in The Wilds of Canada

A strange case of romance mingled with tragedy was brought a few days ago to the attention of patriotic women workers who attend the arrival of returned soldiers at West St. John and care for the soldiers' dependents.

In receiving and conversing with the many English brides who have cast in their lot with Canadian lads and who have come to this country to settle with their soldier husbands, their notice was attracted to a particularly distinguished looking young lady, cultured and of fine attainments. On enquiry they learned that this English girl of splendid family had become acquainted with a New Brunswick Indian in the ranks of the army. He presented himself to her as a young man as being chief of a great tribe and wielding immense influence over a vast territory. The possibility of being queen of such a realm no doubt appealed to her romantic nature after her quiet life among the peaceful pastoral surroundings of the English country village, and the two were wed.

The young lady's conversation betrayed the castles she had built in the air; how she proposed to govern with queenly grace a great band of Redskins, and how, in her charitable nature, she was planning to improve their "primeval" conditions.

It took but few minutes for the women to realize that the pretty bride had been victimized as much by her own false conceptions perhaps as by the misrepresentations, but at the same time they approached with reluctance the task of disillusioning her.

Sympathetically they advised her that she had made a mistake and urged her not to proceed to her husband's home. She insisted, however, that she should go and rule the tribe of which he was chief. As delicately as possible she was told that there were no "big chiefs" now. She was still unmoved, however, interpreting the solicitations of the kind women as advice against adopting the redman's life. She still believed her husband was head of a tribe and a big ruler.

Finally the young bride consented that two of the women should accompany her to her husband's home to see if she was satisfied with conditions. Still in good spirits, she traveled with the two local women to a place not many miles from St. John, where the Indian had made his abode.

There her romantic vision received a rude jolt. Instead of the encampment that was pointed in her imagination she found but a few rude huts and her husband's relatives living in squalor without one relieving touch of romance. The shock was so great that she fainted away.

The next train back to St. John brought the bride of a few weeks and her two guardians. After but a few minutes' visit to what she expected would be her home, she gave up the dreams of future glory, and, incidentally, parted from her Indian husband. The next boat took her back to England to rejoin her family.—St. John Telegraph.

carried out their part of the program faultlessly and were generously praised.

Following the retirement from the Assembly Chamber of the Lieutenant Governor and his party there were some formal proceedings in connection with the changes in the staff of the House and other matters, and after the formal announcement by the Speaker that he had obtained a copy of the speech of His Honor, Mr. Dy-sart, of Kent, seconded by Mr. Robt. chand, Gloucester, moved the formal resolution that the speech from the Throne be forthwith taken into consideration.

The findings of the commission on responsibility for the war are still incomplete. It is understood the commission will consider that the officials of the Central Powers were morally guilty of the most heinous crimes, but that physical punishment would, of necessity, be retroactive.

One thousand persons were killed or wounded in the fighting in Berlin last week.

Sad Death Of Popular Young Man

Frank Noonan Formerly Clerk in Hotel Miramichi Died Monday After Short Illness

The death occurred at the Hotel Dieu Hospital, Chatham, at four o'clock yesterday afternoon, of Frank Noonan under very sad circumstances. The deceased, who recently obtained his discharge from the Canadian Militia, left on the 24th ult. for Toronto, to accept a position in the Hotel Carls Rite, and had only been in the city a few days when he was taken sick, and not desiring to be ill in a strange city started for home, arriving here Sunday morning, but was in such a condition when he arrived here that he had to be carried from the train, and was at once taken to the Hotel Miramichi, and Dr. Nicholson summoned, but the long journey, together with his weakened condition, proved too great a strain and when it was seen that the end was near, he was hurried to the Hotel Dieu in the hope of saving his life, but without avail, and he passed away yesterday afternoon from pneumonia.

The deceased was for some years clerk in the Hotel Miramichi, and made many friends, who were shocked to hear of his sudden and untimely death.

The late Mr. Noonan was twenty-three years of age, and is survived by his mother, Mrs. Michael Noonan, Douglasfield, one brother John, at home, and two sisters, Misses Gertrude and Marie, of New York.

The funeral will take place at three o'clock Wednesday afternoon at St. Michael's Cathedral, Chatham.

Canadian Troops Riot In England

Five persons are known to have been killed, and from twenty-five to seventy-three wounded in rioting during the past three days at the Kilmel military camp at Rhyl, Wales.

The riot was started by about two hundred malcontents. There were 25,000 Canadians in the camp awaiting demobilization and embarkation. The casualties who had served for three years or more in France. They complained that their embarkation had been postponed while other men who had seen less service were sent home.

The outbreak began Tuesday night with the signal cry "Come on Bolsheviks" uttered by a man said to belong to the Canadian forces. A large number of men then wrecked the stores building and thousands of loaves of bread were trampled into the mud. The women's auxiliary quarters were rushed and the women's clothes carried off. The rioters seized stores of ammunition, fired on the officers' quarters and then began a march in the direction of Abergale, but were held up.

A staff officer flew from the war office in London by airplane and addressed the men, undertaking that their grievances regarding demobilization and pay, which caused the outbreak, should be immediately removed.

He declared that ten thousand men would be away by the week after next and that four transports, would be placed at the disposal of the colonials.

Canadian military headquarters in London issued a statement which says the disturbance was entirely due to the delay in getting the men back to Canada. It was impossible to keep the promises given the men, owing to the shortage of vessels to convey them home. The authorities, however, do not regard the rioting as justified and the offenders, many of whom already are under arrest, will be vigorously dealt with.

A number of civilians took part in the disturbance, and twenty of these also have been arrested and handed over to the civil authorities.

In the course of the trouble three rioters and two soldiers were killed, and twenty-one persons were injured, including two officers, according to the statement.
