The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

"In babbling, gorging food, or quenching drought,
All mischief comes through opening the mouth."

—Chinese proverb.
I am not quite sure whether I've said it before or not, but I am sure I want to say it again if I have.

And "it" is this —that I am more convinced every day that one of the crying-est needs of this generation is more reserve.

There is, of course, the explanation that it is easier to reveal one's inner self to the shipmate-pass-in-the-night acquaintance, than to the intimate friend whom one will have to see the next day, after the glow of feeling which makes confidences possible, has died into the commonplace and unromantic daylight of the "morning after."

But I do not think even that really accounts for the frequency with which we rush into intimate confidences with strangers.

I met a woman in a hotel the other day. We were both alone and drifted into eating together. At the first meal she told me why she didn't marry a very desirable man who had offered himself to her. At the second she related some interesting details about her brother's wife which one would have hardly thought she would have wanted known outside her own family, and the third she told me why she wished she hadn't married the man she did.

Dora Melegari, a Russian writer, says, "If we could prove by statistics the number of acquaintances a man had fifty years ago and those which the modern man has, the difference would be enormous."

It seems to me one certainly could say the same of confidants with even more reason.

I know a woman who travels a good deal who makes it her boast that in all her travels she has never spoken to anyone to whom she has not had a formal introduction. That doesn't appear to me at all. I consider that there is no reason why a mature woman who is capable of looking out for herself should not while away a long journey by conversing with those of her fellow passengers whom her common sense tells her are desirable people. Personally, I think fleeting glimpses through conversation into other people's points of view and experiences are much more interesting than fleeting glimpses through the café window into a monotonous landscape.

But I do not see why such conversations need be of an intimate character.

It seems to me there are plenty of impersonal topics or plenty of less intimate personal topics to furnish food for any amount of interesting conversation between cultured people without touching on matters which in sanguine moments one cannot but regret having spoken of.

Fortune Telling

Does not take into consideration the one essential to woman's happiness—womanly health.
The woman who neglects her health is neglecting the very foundation of all good fortune. For without health love loses its lustre and gold is but dross.
Womanly health when lost or impaired may generally be regained by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

This Prescription has, for over 40 years, been curing delicate, weak, pale, wracked women, by the hundreds of thousands, and this too in the privacy of their homes without their having to submit to indecent examinations and offensive repugnant examinations.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free.
All correspondence held as strictly confidential. Address World's Dispensary Medical Association, R. V. Pierce, M. D., President, Buffalo, N. Y.
Dr. Pierce's Great Family Doctor Book, The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, newly revised up-to-date edition—1000 pages, answers in Plain English hosts of delicate questions which every woman, single or married, ought to know about. Sent free, in plain wrapper to any address on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to cover mailing only, or in cloth binding for 50 stamps.

Household Notes.

Cake batters, as well as candies and coffee, are improved by a pinch of salt.

An apple pie made without the jar or tub will find that the use of a little charcoal will insure having the butter sweet. The charcoal is placed in a paper bag and then put into the jar.

Housekeepers who get butter in the
jar.

Cold bluefish, or almost any good cold fish, except coarse fish like salt cod, may be utilized for salad dressing, thin slices of young onions and minced parsley. Serve on a bed of lettuce.

Old velvetene should be saved for polishing cloths. It will serve the purpose of wash-cloths for plate cleaning and save buying anything fresh. Wash the velvetene in soapy water as often as needed, and lay out to dry.

To get better results from a hot-water bottle wrap it in a soft cloth wrung out in hot water. This will give a steaming heat, and is much more effective for neuralgia, etc., than the dry heat of the bottle as ordinarily applied.

For a cream whip which is easily made fill sherbet glasses half-full of preserved fruit. Heap them with whipped cream that has been flavored with vanilla or wine and spread the tops lightly with cocoa, coconut or minced nuts.

Never sit on the edge of a sick person's bed, and never place your chair so that he must strain his eyes or turn his head to see you. Get directly in range of his vision, so that he may see you comfortably. Never whisper in a sick-room.

To destroy red ants, grease the plates with lard and put them on the floor, with a few sticks for the ants to climb up. Soon the plates will be covered with ants, which prefer lard even to sugar. Turn the plates upside down on a hot fire.

Lamb's liver, which is very delicate, and not so much used as it deserves to be, is delicious minced and served on toast. It is also excellent dried cooked two or three minutes in a tablespoonful of butter and folded in an omelet with peppers and a minced olive or two.

A sweet biscuit may be made with ordinary biscuit dough with the addition of chopped dates. Roll the dough quite thin, spread with plenty of soft butter and then put on a thick layer of chopped dates. On top place another layer of dough and cut out with a small cutter. Bake in a hot oven.

A delicious dessert is made of French chestnuts that have been peeled, boiled tender and mashed, until they are smooth and then seasoned with a little vanilla or other extract and sugar, heaped around the sides of a glass dish and filled in the centre with whipped cream. The cream may be dotted with jelly.

The latest way of serving oyster or clam cocktails is to use a new double glass, quite similar to the glass used for grape-fruit. The outer receptacle is filled with finely shaved ice. The oysters are placed directly on the ice, while the dressing is put in the inner glass. Each oyster, as it is picked up, is dipped in the sauce.

To make whole wheat bread, take

Bad Colds

Some colds are worse than others, but they are all bad.
Do not neglect them. Treat promptly, vigorously. First of all, ask your doctor about taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Then do as he says.

GIRLHOOD

AND
Scott's Emulsion

are linked together. The reason is that at a period when a girl's digestion is weak

Scott's Emulsion
provides her with powerful nourishment in easily digested form.
It's the food that builds and keeps up a girl's strength.

four cupfuls of whole wheat flour, two of white flour, half a cupful of sugar, one teaspoonful of salt, one yeast cake dissolved in enough warm water to make a stiff batter. Let rise until light, mold in two loaves, let rise again and bake in a moderate oven.
A teaspoonful of shortening soda adds to the richness.

A delicious and simple fruit punch is made of canned pineapple shredded.
Take a pint of this fruit and to it add the juice of three good-sized lemons, the juice of four oranges, two sliced bananas and one and a half-cupfuls of sugar. Put the mixture in a bowl with a good-sized lump of ice. Let it stand for an hour or so and then add a pint of carbonated water.

Leftover cereal may be useful in either of two ways, mixed with some chopped meat and seasoned well it is always tasty in croquettes. An excellent dessert may be made of the cooked cereal, sweetened, seasoned with spice and then mixed with chopped raisins. Then it should be molded into cones and browned in the oven. Serve with syrup or thick cream.

Beeswax and turpentine is a capital polish for furniture which is, not French polished. To make it shred half an ounce of beeswax, very fine and add to it a quarter of a pint of spirits of turpentine. Stir well and put aside until the next day. Then stir again and let it stand for another day, when it will be ready for use. Never melt beeswax and turpentine over a hot fire as it is highly inflammable.

Sociable at the Goulds.

A very enjoyable sociable was held at the Goulds on Thursday night last.
The school house was nicely decorated for the occasion, and a large number of people were present. Rev. H. Uphill, Organist Lloyd and the choir of St. Mary's Parish arrived at 8 o'clock.
The tables were well supplied with all the good things necessary to satisfy the inner man, and full justice was done to same by the large crowd present.

Rev. H. Uphill then made a few opening remarks, and thanked the good ladies of the Goulds for providing such an excellent tea.

Rev. G. H. Hewitt, incumbent of the Mission, then followed, and, on behalf of the people of the Goulds thanked the Rector of St. Mary's and his choir for their presence, and hoped that many similar gatherings would take place in the future.

A short entertainment then followed, the choir singing the Christmas Carols, and the following ladies and gentlemen also contributing to the programme:—
Duet—Miss E. and Master H. Bendall.

Recitation—Rev. H. Uphill.
Cornet Solo—Messrs. Pope (2).
Recitation—Miss Uphill.
Song—Rev. H. Uphill.

The various items were well rendered and encores were called for.
After the concert a dance was held which terminated early Friday morning. The people of the Goulds are to be congratulated on providing such an enjoyable sociable, and let us hope that before long another such gathering may be seen at the school house.
The proceeds which amounted to a fairly large sum are to be devoted to the building of a new church in that locality.

Laid to Rest.—The funeral of the late James J. Kietley took place from his late residence Prescott St. at 2.30 this afternoon and was largely attended. Interment was at Belvidere.

CALENDERS.—We thank the Singer Sewing Machine Co., J. J. Hanley, Esq., and G. N. Read, Son and Watson —Agents for the Central Insurance Co., for calendars.
