Children's Festival.

We believe that the little set-back of the movement for a Children's Festival in connection with the Coronation rejoicings will prove a blessing in disguise, and will serve to stimulate the movement rather than to retard it. For it set people thinking and served to stir up some public opinion in the premises. When people begin thinking vigorously, they proceed to take active steps, and people are thinking that it would be an irretrievable mistake to let the coronation slip by without letting the nation have a part in the general festivities. In childhood the mind is at its most impressionable stage, and its environment plays the most important part in the formation of its emotional character. People wish that children should grow up good citizens, loyal to the King, and with a proper pride in their nationality, in all its aspects, Colonial and Imperial. These ties are largely matters of sentiment, and of that class of emotions and feelings which exert the most powerful influence in the world for humanity and civilization. Then what a mistake it would be to let the coronation of the Coronation be lost upon the children. What an error it would be to let slip an opportunity which may never recur in the childhood of the children of to-day of allowing the Coronation festivities to have their full effect on their mind. An opportunity is presenting itself for the children to join in acclaiming the exaltation of their biggest brother. An opportunity is afforded of rejoicing when their King rejoices in his Coronation. They can take a part themselves, not indeed in Westminster Abbey, but in one of the oldest Colonial cities of the Empire, and though young and humble feel that their heart beats in unison with the heart of their Prince, at the most exalted period of his life, when the great act is performed, which sets forth to all the world the unity of the Empire and the loyalty of the people to their Prince.

SUBSCRIPTION LISTS.

His Majesty the King has set a good example by arranging for the entertainment of 100,000 children at the Crystal Palace. Each child will be the King's special guest and will be presented with a handsome memento. These are being especially made and decorated with the portraits of the King and Queen and suitable topical emblems. His Excellency the Governor has offered Government House Grounds for the Children's Festival, and the next important matter is to raise funds and organize committees who can carry out the proposal to a success. There are many persons in the city highly experienced from what they have learned at Sunday School Outings. We have no doubt these ladies would place their service at the disposal of a Central Committee. As to the funds, we have no doubt, they will be forthcoming. The Evening Telegram wishes to take a part in aiding the collection of this fund, and opens a list for that purpose. Subscriptions will be acknowledged and handed over to the constituted authority.

Terribly Frostbitten.

BOTH FEET AMPUTATED.

Letters received here from the Labrador by the last express give details of a terrible experience which an Eskimo had the latter part of the past winter. The man's name is Tomase Tamashie. He was travelling from Cartwright to Red Island, Sandwich Bay, when a very slight snow storm overtook him and the mercury suddenly dropped to 30 below zero. The man had a team of two dogs with him and was hauling two barrels of flour to his family when the storm broke on him. He lost his way and wandered about with the dogs for hours, when at length he felt his strength fail him, and he knew he must freeze to death if he did not do something to get a shelter. He had no blankets with him, and when he felt that all feeling had gone from his hands and feet, he knew they were becoming frozen. He then resorted to the expedient of making a hole in the big banks of snow which had fallen, and into this he tumbled his two dogs and lay between them for the night, receiving the warmth from their bodies which kept him alive. Next day he found that his hands and feet were terribly frozen, but yet he staggered along 20 miles till he reached his home, where he collapsed. He was later visited by Dr. Grieve, who found him in a pitiable condition and had to amputate the feet in near the instep. The man was also frozen badly about the hands and body, but will recover. An hour or so more spent in the open would have proved fatal to him.

Vessel's Crew Fight.

North Sydney, May 24.—The cabin of the Gloucester fishing schooner Senator Gardiner was last evening the scene of what came within an ace of being murder. Two of the crew, John Burton, belonging to Cape North, and one Conway, had been ashore together and on returning to the vessel had a comfortable "jag" stowed away beneath their respective belts.
Shortly after entering the cabin the two men became quarrelsome and finally got into a mix-up. Burton grabbed an axe and laying about him first struck and smashed the cabin lamp. He then made a lunge at Conway and the axe caught him beneath the right shoulder and cut him to the bone for quite a length diagonally across the back. All others in the cabin rushed to the deck out of harm's way.
The captain immediately went ashore and had a doctor attend to the dressing of the injured man's wound. He also had a warrant issued out of Stipendiary Forbes' court for the arrest of Burton and he was tried before Mr. Forbes, sentenced to thirty days imprisonment and compelled to pay costs to the amount of $12.

Aviator Was Attacked.

Madrid, May 25.—Misfortune met all of the three aviators on the flight to the Spanish capital from San Sebastian, which is the most difficult stage of the Paris-Madrid race. All, however, are reported this afternoon to be heroically trying to continue the flight toward this city. Gilbert, who left San Sebastian at 6.28 o'clock his morning, passed over Tolsa, and then over Vitoria, but when about 18 miles from Vitoria it is reported that he was attacked by an eagle and was forced to defend himself by shooting at the bird with his revolver. Gilbert landed abruptly at Olazagutia, about 40 miles from San Sebastian, but was not hurt. He awaited at that town for the arrival of his mechanics to repair the aeroplane.

Ved'm, who started at San Sebastian at 7.17 o'clock, after passing Tribesca, 100 miles from San Sebastian, landed at Quintana Palla, in the province of Burgos, and about 140 miles from North of Madrid. On landing Vedrine met with a slight accident and hurried to Burgos, three miles from Quintana Palla, to seek help in repairing his machine.

Garros was not so fortunate as his comrades. When seven miles outside of San Sebastian, which city he left at twelve minutes past seven this morning, his motor failed and he was forced to descend in a field at Utracillo. On landing Garros narrowly missed a collision with an electric cable of 50,000 volts. Garros returned to San Sebastian, intending to mount another machine and resume his flight. On being informed that he would be disqualified if he used a new machine, the aviator returned to Utracillo by automobile at a terrific rate of speed and will make a determined effort to repair the damaged motor.

Road of Leather.

Little Wear After a Year's Use.
After nearly a year a road made of leather waste treated with tar at Handsworth, Birmingham, shows practically no signs of wear. Heavy wheels make no impression on it, and it is a comfortable material for horses to tread on.
Waste leather which was shredded until it virtually became a pulp, was treated with bitumen and tar. It is stated that hitherto no real use has been found for leather waste. The experimenters say that, by the combination of leather with such substances a material is produced which gives considerable wear, creates little or no dust, and is resilient and silent.
