LONDON, July 30. The judgment of the British Board of Trade Court of Inquiry into the Ti tanic disaster, was pronounced to-day The Court finds that the collision the Titanic with the iceberg was du to the excessive speed at which the ship was navigated: that a prope watch was not kept: that the ship's boats were properly lowered, but the arrangements for manning them were insufficient; that the Levland liner. Californian, might have reached th Titanic if she had attempted to do s that the track followed was reason ably safe with proper vigilance, an that there was no discrimination against third class passengers in th saving of life. The Court also exo erates Bruce Ismay and Sir Cosn Duff Gordon from any charges proper conduct. The judgment r comemnds more watertight compar ments in sea-going ships, provision of life-hoats for all on hoard and mou efficient drill of crew as well as the keeping of better lookout. The judg ment does not consider binoculars as necessary as a rule; searchlights however, might be excessive. The speed of twenty-two knots is regarded by the Court as excessive.
