GERMAN TRENCHES RAIDED. LONDON, Jan. 7. The report from the British Headquarters in France, last night, reads: North of Beaumont Hamel we seized two hostile posts last night. A subsequent counter-attack was beaten off and our new positions consolidated. This afternoon we successfully raided the enemy's positions southeast of Arras under cover of heavy bombardment. Our troops entered the enemy's trench system over a wide front and penetrated his third line. Enemy dugouts were bombed and destroyed, and much damage was done to the enemy's defences. There has been increased artillery activity in the neighborhood of Hebuterne. Elsewhere the usual artillery activity continued. In minor engagements, raids and patrol actions since Christmas, we have taken over 240 German prisoners. Thursday night and again yesterday, our aeroplanes bombed a number of places of military importance behind the enemy's lines and obtained good results. Much successful work was carried out during the day.

THE CAMPAIGN IN EAST AFRICA. LONDON, Jan. 7. A British official on the campaign in German East Africa issued to-night, says: Our columns, pursuing the enemy in the Rufiji Valley, occupied German camps on the Tshogofali River, and reached Ribambawe, on the north bank of the Rufiji on the night of Jan. 5th. BRIDGE WRECKED. LONDON, Jan. 7. One span over the railway bridge over the Maritza River at Kuleli Burgas, south of Adrianople, is reported wrecked by British naval aeroplanes, an official statement issued to-night, says.

CONFERENCE. PARIS, Jan. 7. The conference of Entente statesmen, including Premier Lloyd George, Briand and Besseli, was in almost continuous session to-day, according to a Havas despatch from Rome. Premier Besseli presided at the meeting, which was the first of a number in which the general situation will be discussed by representatives of Britain, France, Italy and Russia. In honor of the event, the Italian Government declared the day a holiday.

BERLIN REPORT ON BRITISH RAID. BERLIN, Jan. 7. British troops, after preparing the way by strong artillery fire, says an official issued to-day from the German army headquarters, launched an attack yesterday against the Teutonic positions south of Arras, in France, which were defended by the forces under Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria. The statement says the attack was repulsed with heavy losses.

GERMAN ATTACKS REPULSED. PARIS, Jan. 7. German attacks against the French lines on the right bank of the River Meuse in the Verdun sector, near Vaux les Palenieux, and in the Vosges mountains, were repulsed last night, according to an official issued this afternoon by the War Department. RIOTOUS SCENES AT PIRAEUS. LONDON, Jan. 7. Telegraphing from Athens, under date of Friday, Jan. 5, Reuters's correspondent says: Riotous scenes at Piraeus yesterday evening, resulted in the withdrawal of the French naval detachment stationed near the Town Hall there. This is regarded in Athens as an ill-omen of future developments.

U.S.A. GOLD. NEW YORK, Jan. 7. Gold to the amount of $25,000,000, one of the largest shipments received in a single day since the present movement from abroad began, arrived here to-day from Halifax, N.S., and was deposited in the sub-treasury. Unusual secrecy was observed. It was said regarding the route of the gold that it came on heavily guarded express cars through Canada.

JAPAN TO ARM STEAMERS. TOKIO, Jan. 7. Owing to the activity of submarines, it is said the Navy will arm Japanese merchant ships bound for the Atlantic and Mediterranean with 6-inch guns. The arming of merchantmen begins with the Suwa Maru, which sails for London on June 20th. Steamers bound for the Atlantic by way of the Panama Canal will also carry guns.

GREEK ARMY AWAITING ORDERS. PARIS, Jan. 7. The Greek Royal Army is only awaiting orders from Germany to attack the Allies, said M. Diomede, former Greek Minister of Finance to the Temps to-day. M. Diomede is now in Paris on a special mission for the Greek Government. The Greek General Staff, added M. Diomede, was, at the outset of the war, constantly directed by Major von Falkenhayn, military attache to the German Legation. It is his orders the Royal Army has been carrying out since he himself was expelled from LONDON, Jan. 7. Lord Buckmaster, formerly High Chancellor, speaking at Kebley on Saturday, said that all peace proposals ought to be published at the earliest possible moment and none should be summarily rejected, but each should receive full and carefully-considered answers. Neither for glory nor for vengeance should this war be prolonged a single hour, and every fair means whereby a lasting and honourable peace could be obtained should be welcomed. But, he added, no peace could be lasting or honourable unless the terms proposed a repetition and provided for reparation for the past. G. H. Barnes, Minister of Pensions, in a speech in London to-day, said that President Wilson's suggestion that the belligerents state their terms for peace, was entitled to all possible respect. The American people, the Minister said, on the whole wanted to be on friendly terms with England; therefore he tried to cultivate that friendship. President Barnes said all should be assured that this country is not out to smash Germany, or anybody or anything, except her military power and pride.

STILL SINKING. LONDON, Jan. 7. Lloyd's Agency announces that the British steamer Alle, 1,244 tons, and the Danish steamers Ebro, 1,027 tons, and Viking, have been sunk.

ALLIED DELEGATES IN SESSION. ROME, Jan. 8. The Giornal d'Italia publishes the following note: The third meeting of the Allied delegates was held this morning. Yesterday the political and military missions met first in general session then separately. To-day the session was reversed, the missions first held separate meetings, then toward noon the political and military delegates had a general meeting. We are able to affirm that already the results have been very important.

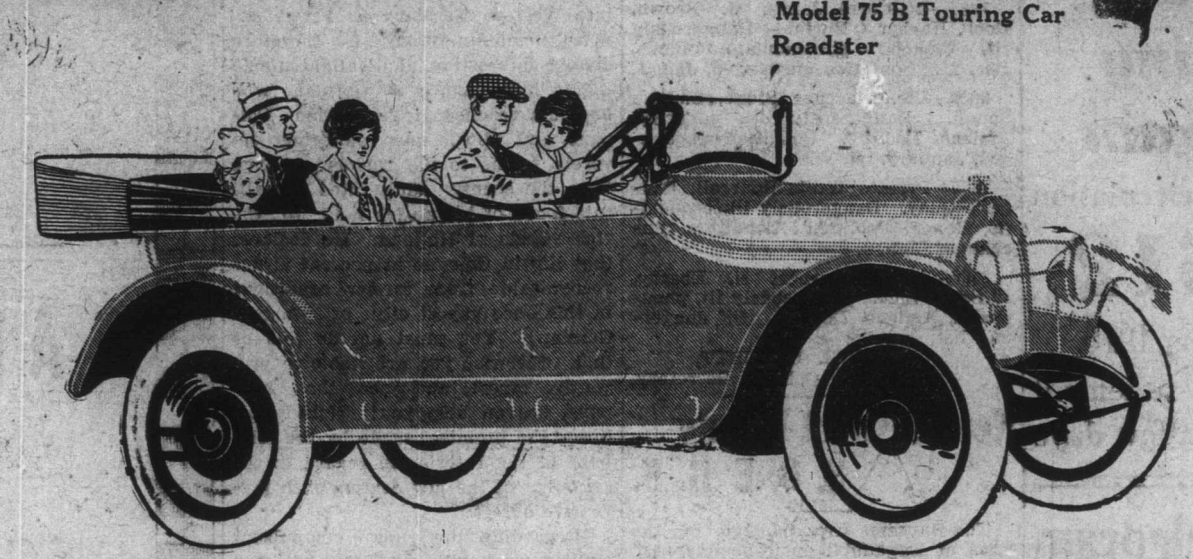

THE LATEST. NOLDON, Jan. 7. An Amsterdam special to the Times says German submarines are now even sending out S.O.S. wireless signals to lure British vessels to destruction. The Telegraph learns from an officer of a large steamer of an important Dutch line that on his journey from the Dutch East Indies he received while in the Bay of Biscay an S.O.S. message. He immediately rushed to the place indicated and found a German submarine which was not in distress. The captain of the submarine expressed the regret that it was a Dutch and not a British vessel, and said, "We don't want you to save our souls, we want British to save our souls."

NAVAL LOSSES OF 1916. LONDON, Jan. 7. The Times Naval correspondent writing on the naval losses of 1916, says: During 1916 the British have lost nine battleships and cruisers, apart from light cruisers, compared with eight in 1915 and seven in 1914, but six of these were sunk in the Jutland battle. The other three were the battleships King Edward VII and Russell, and the cruiser Hampshire, all mined. Of the losses in 1915 five battleships were sacrificed in the Dardanelles. No British battleship or armoured cruiser, except under the special circumstances which prevailed in the Dardanelles, have been sunk by direct action of an enemy submarine for two years. On the other hand, the submarines laid some mines which caused the destruction of certain vessels. The Allied fleets were also comparatively free from losses during 1916, so that the relative strength of the British fleet is greater than a year ago, owing to the addition of new vessels.

NEW PHASE OF WAR. NEW YORK, Jan. 7. The New York Times despatch from Rome says the strictest secrecy is maintained about the discussions and decisions of the meeting of the Allies' Premiers and Ministers, which is now in session here, but all agree that their object in coming to Rome is to co-ordinate their effort for more decisive action, aiming to bring the war to a speedy and successful termination. The present exchange of views in person was rendered necessary by the many changes which lately have occurred in the different cabinets of the Allies. An Italian statesman remarked that from to-day a new phase of the war begins. At the same time it is felt that the meeting in Rome contributes to give the greatest importance to the answer of the Allies to President Wilson's note.

THE HIGH SHOE. The High Shoe is a neat device which prevents woman from catching cold in the shin bone. It is a sensible and useful article and does not cost any more than a sewing machine, but are opposed to it and prefer the low, rakish oxford at $1.95 per pair. This teaches us that a husband who is willing that his wife should go around all winter with the pains of quinsy shooting through both insteps is the lowest order of insect in the vegetable kingdom. The High Shoe is worn in order to impart a modest and humane look to the short skirt. It is also intended to discourage rule men from gazing surreptitiously at the feminine ankle, and in this respect is a complete and triumphant success. The sight of a pair of high yellow shoes which fit around the ankle like a bath robe on a convalescent has a very discouraging effect upon people who respect the human foot and regret to see it made light of. The High Shoe comes in pairs and is worn from the knee-cap down. Every pair comes equipped with a shoe-face the length of a clothes line, and they can be put on and laced up in less time than it takes to do up the

The best paid teachers now are getting about $450 a year and in addition teachers of the A. A. Class receive $150 from the Government as a bonus after three years work. It is now contemplated to increase this bonus by $50 after five years work, also to reward proportionately first, second and third grade teachers. At present second grade teachers receive an annual bonus of $90.
