THE GRAND CIRCUIT.

Columbus, O., Aug. 1.-The Grand Circuit races were tame yesterday, but there was a large attendance and considerable speculation. The feature of the afternoon's racing was the 2:07 pace. In the overnight pooling Riley pace. In the overnight pooling Riley B. was a hot favorite, selling at $50 to $25 for a field of six. Just before the race he was taken sick and was fawn. C. F. W. was also drawn, leaving only four to start. Fanny Dillard was made the favorite in the new books at $25 to $20. The mare won the first heat with ease in 2:05%, lowerthe first heat with ease in 2:05¼, lowering her record a full second. In the second heat she broke badly in the first turn and barely beat the flag. the heat going to Major Muscovite in 2:0814. Before the third heat there was a very heavy play on the field to beat Fanny Dillard, who brought $15 to $25. The judges decided to take Snow down from behind the mare and substitute McHenry. The latter could not be found, however, and Scott Hudson refused to drive the hobbled pacer. After much deliberation Snow was allowed to drive the mare home a win-ner by a neck over The Bishop, who made a try for the heat after Major Muscovite had died away. The day's upset came in the 2:13 pace for which Casonda was a heavy favorite. She was never a contender, and Twinkle won in straight heats, Silviaone and Prince Direct receiving second and third money. The Roman, as expected, outclassed his field of 2:17 class trotters; and none of the three horses that were sent after him in the three heats had so much as a look in. The unfinished 2:19 trot was won by Ella Lee, a Columbus mare, strongly backed by local talent. The 2:16 pace had only three starters, all of poor class. Tom Keene looked good enough to win, but he abstained from taking a heat, and the judges were satisfied with the race.

The Run of Crusader.

Fraser, author of "Mooswa," is in signing bringing it close to the latter print with a serial story entitled "Thoroughbreds." The first chapter 1902 contains the following poem which will stir the blood of every lover of horses:

Then down the back stretch, o'er hedge and o'er bank, we three were racing together, Full weight they had given the gallant big black—a hundred and sixty he carried, Till at the next rail the bay jostled the And the run for the "Hunt Cup" was brown, and, riderless, crashed through the timber.
