A Big Banquet and Entertainment Held in Masonic Temple

SCOTIA'S LIFE AND MEN

A Long and Interesting Toast List Carried Out-Dr. Ross, Dr. Littie, T. H. Purdom and Others Spoke.

St. Andrew's Day was fittingly cel-St. Andrew's Day was fittingly celebrated Friday evening by St. Andrew's Society with a banquet and a dance at the Masonic Temple. One hundred and fifty Scotchmen and their wives were present, ond enjoyed one of the most pleasant evenings in the history of the society. The affair was decidedly informal, but it was none the less enjoyable on that account.

At 8 o'clock the Scots began to assemble, and promptly at 8:30, President Alex. Fraser led the party to the banquet hall, preceded by Sergt. Macdonald and his pipers.

The excellent dinner was taken care of, and then the president introduced the toast list. He read greetings from the St. Andrew's Societies of New Beattle, M. P.

In his opening remarks, President Fraser welcomed the ladies. It was an innovation to have them present, but no doubt this would not be the last time St. Andrew's banquets would be graced with their presence.

After the health of the King had been drunk, 'President Fraser asked Mr. J. W. Jones, who has been for many years treasurer of the society, to explain the objects of the organization. The latter, in a brief speech, told of the many good things they had done during the many years of their organization. Over $1.000 had been distributed in charity, and in other ways. Poor Scotchmen had been assisted to better things.

I do not vantage of the human race. R. A. Little responded in a clever address. He spoke of the great love the Scotchman has for his old home. No matter where he may be he is always thinking of his ancestral hills. The hard climate bred strong, self-reliant men.

Dr. Little declared that two great movements tended to weld the Scotch where all good Scotchmen should come."

What is Canada

That required great care to answer. That question, put in another way, was "Will Confederation Last?" The Eastern Provinces are a little kingdom by themselves, with a life distinct from the others. Quebec was a self-contained nation, and Ontario was yet contained nation, and Ontario was yet contained nation, and Ontario was yet contained nation, and Ontario was yet was developing its own life, a life not to be compared with the others. There was a wide gulf not only between the east and west, but between the provinces that must be bridged, if Confederation was going to leve. It is difficult to get a common sentiment between the new west and the old east.

"I suffered from an irritable, weak throat for three years. I had a severe cough, pain over the eyes, constant bad taste in my mouth, and noises in my ears. It was chronic catarrh. Nothing gave permanent relief till I used Catarrhozone, in one hour it relieved, and in a few weeks drove all trace of catarrh from my system.
