Chinese Superstition.

Although they have been notified to leave at once, the Chinese occupants of the land on which the public market is to stand, will not abandon their present homes until after the celebration of the festival of the New Year. It is part of their religion that to do so would be to court had luck. In order to eblige them the owners of the property will not intertere with them until the last tire sracker has duly cracked.

Broke the Window,

Barly yesterday morning some person or persons unknown deliberately smashed the plate glass window of Mr. Henry Short's blishment, on Douglas street, and pos-ed himself or themselves of four revolvers, of assorted makes, and a handful of police calls. The value of the stolen articles is about $50, and the window was worth about the same, and uninsured. The culprits are supposed to be juvenile offenders.

Dr. Reid, to His Lordship the Bishop of New Westminster. The collection between the was reseased around and $50 was on plate was passed around, and $50 was atributed to the missionary fund.

Armed With Documents.

Dr. J. C. Davie, who is now on his way to Europe, is determined to bring back with him a sample of Koch's much talked about lymph. As the new cure for consumption is hard to obtain at any price, the doctor has taken the precaution to arm himself with the most formidable credentials to be had. He first procured a letter from the Premier, Hon. John Robson, to Lord Stanley of Preston, and the Governor-General supplied him with a letter to the British Ambassador at Berlin, and a request that high official use his influence in Dr. Davie's behalf.

Nothing very interesting took place in this court, yesterday morning. Only two small cases were disposed of, the first being a drunk by the name of John Roberts, who pleaded guilty and was fined $5. The next was John Hanning, charged with being a vagrant. He, too, pleaded guilty, but as he was a newcomer to the city, His Honor dismissed the case, after being heartily thanked by the prisoner. A summons was issued for the arrest of John Ching, a Chinaman, who is charged with selling lottery tickets, but did not appear on account of the first summons being handed to the wrong Chinaman.

Surprise Party.

Over one hundred merry pleasure seekers f Saanich district, gathered at the resi-tence of Mr. Henry Brooks on the evening of Tuesday, last, to spend a few hours in social intercourse. The young people, with whom this district is very generously supplied, seemed thoroughly to enjoy them selves, while those of more advanced year manifested equal enjoyment in witnessing the frolics of their juniors. The table under the excellent management of Mes-dames Thomson, Brooks, Mitchel, Bryan-and Bichardson, was sufficient to satisfy the most fastidious. The music, consisting of three pieces, was furnished by locatalent, the inspiriting strains rendering lively motion quite a necessity.

An Awkward Position

Jacob A. Windsor and Miss Charlotte A Jacob A. Windsor and Miss Charlotte A.
Rouse were united in holy matrimony, by
Rev. Percival Jenns, on Wednesday night.
Their union was, however, not without a little awkward feature, which was fortunately quickly overcome by the bridegroom.
He had neglected to provide himself with the necessary license, but the fact was not discovered until the bridal party made heir appearance before the clergyn and ther appearance before the ciergy man, at the ceremony was about to proceed. Then a brief postponement became necessary, and the groom in prospective started on a bur-ried hunt for the sheriff. That official was not at home, but was finally traced to the Salvation Army barracks. The situation was explained, and he lost no time in supplying the necessary documents, by which two hearts were made happy and two names were merged into one.

The Wellington Strike

The correspondence brought down to the House, yesterday, by Hon. Mr. Robson, in se to a motion for all orders-in-cou cil, correspondence, etc., relating to the sending of a militia force to Wellington, last summer, consists of A protest from Messrs. Keith, Forster and McKenzie, dated August 14th, against the sending of that force, and against the appearance, as counsel in the case before the stipendiary magistrate of the president of the counsel, or any mem-ber of the Government, and pledging them-selves to hold the Government to a strict accountability in the premises.

The reply of the Hon. John Robson, dated Aug. 15, setting forth that "the Government have no control over the miltita; neither have they over the professional engagements of Mr. Pooley, president of the council. The Government are at all times responsible for their actions, and a threat to hold them to a strict ac-countability is, therefore, superfluous."

Hon. Mr. Davie moved the second reading of the bill to amend the Jurors' act, which he explained in the meantime for particular reasons specially applied to New Westminster in certain details In explaining the bill he stated that the fees to jurors in civil cases were governed by rules of court, and these, it was inended, to have increased by spec jurors. In regard to criminal cases the Jurors act applied to them and the Government would move to place on the same footing as jurors in civil cases. The case of grand jurors would also be considered, but he did not think it would sidered, but he did not think it would be deemed necessary to increase their fees, as it was under contemplation to abolish grand juries altogether. He (Mr. Davie) had, he might say, been one of the first to speak of the abolition of such jurors, and he now noticed that the Dominion Government had the subject under consideration.

There is some talk of a new route ng established between Tacoma and Victoria, and one steamer put on, making the round trip every twenty-four hours. Mr. Baldwin, agent of the Union Pacific line, on Wednesday, told a Post-Intelligencer reporter that he thought such a route would be a very good paying one, from the fact that a fast steam could leave Tacoma, take in Seattle, Port Townsend, Anacortes and Bellingham Bay, and stop long enough at Victoria to mable passengers to transact considerable ousiness and return within the twenty four hours, and it would immediately secure a large pa ronage, as most people do not like to lose more than one day or the round trip.
