Miss Conger, for the English Scientific Course, to Miss Winifred Thomson, for the Modern Language Course, and to Miss Jennie Cutler, for the Music Course.

The prizes were awarded amid great applause, every one having been the object of steady and faithful work, and of no little friendly rivalry during the year. The honors of the Senior Class were carried off by Miss Calvin, who received the prize of $25 bestowed by Miss The Alumnæ prize, for the Third Year, of $10 in books, Dicklow. was awarded to Miss Edith Davis. Mrs. A. R. McMaster's prize of $10 in cash, established for the Second Year, was awarded to Miss Belle Harrison; and for the highest standing in History and English in the First Year, a set of George Eliot, the gift of Mr. D. E. Thomson, fell to the lot of Miss Lena Burke. Two prizes in music presented by Mr. Suckling, completed the list, the first, for instrumental work, being awarded to Miss Cutler, and the second, for vocal, to Miss Lena The Chancellor expressed the hope that another year a prize Burke. would be established in the Preparatory Department, which was without any such incentive to work. Later in the evening, the friends who gathered at the College after the exercises, were much pleased to hear that Hon. Mr. Harty, M.P.P., had offered a prize of $5 to be awarded this year to the pupil in the Preparatory Department who had done the Amid great appiauce, the Chancellor announced that it best work. would fall to the lot of Miss Mary Craig.

The following pupils received honorable mention for their excellent work and high standing during the year: In the Fourth Year, Olive Mae Clemens; in the Second, Nora Alice Shenston; in the First, Margaret Stenhouse and Emma Fox.

WOODSTOCK COLLEGE.

S. R. TARR, B.A., F. H. PHIPPS, EDITORS.

The closing exercises of Woodstock College were held on Wednesday, June 2nd. The seating capacity of the chapel, beautifully decorated for the occasion, was taxed to its utmost. After invocation by Rev. R. R. McKay, B.A., the following programme was rendered: --Music, College Quartette; competition in public speaking; clarionet solo, Lester Riggs; reading of prize essay, W. E. Bowyer; presentation of medals, scholarships and prizes; valedictory, F. H. Phipps; music, selected; presentation of diplomas, by Chancellor Wallace; Principal's address to the graduating class.

The competition in oratory formed a most interesting feature of the programme. Mr. Alexander's address on moral courage was a forceful and inspiring one. Mr. Gazley, the winner, spoke pleasingly and pract.cally upon "The Way to Success." Mr. Bowyer's essay on music showed very considerable literary ability, as well as an appreciative grasp of the significance and purpose of his favorite art. The
