

Two Organs. Regulate first the stomach, second the liver; especially the first, so as to perform their functions perfectly, and you will remove at least nineteen-twentieths of all the ills that mankind is heir to, in this or any other climate. Hop Bitters is the only thing that will give perfectly healthy natural action to these two organs.—Maine Farmer.

USEFUL AND INTERESTING INFORMATION.

FOR THE LADIES: Deep collars, of linen cambric trimmed with Irish point two inches wide, are considered very stylish.

If there is any one form of jewelry more in vogue than another, just now, it is that which is representative of a flower, a knot, and above all, flies, bees and insects.

Some of the most expensive street costumes carry the fashion of uniformity to an extreme, the bonnet, muff and supplementary wrap being of the material which forms the larger portion of the costume.

Velvet suits are more worn now than they have been for many winters. Ruby, sapphire, brown and bottle green are the colors in vogue. They are either trimmed with satin or fur or elegant passementeries. Self-trimmings in platings, paunlers and panels are often used.

Next season black will be universally worn again, and foulards and twilled sarahs will be the fashionable fabrics. It is predicted that black gros grain silk will be restored to the favor it lost when lustrous satins became the fashion. Gathered ruffles will doubtless be the fashionable trimming.

The richest materials are but little ornamented this season, supplementaries of expensive lace and jeweled buttons representing that degree of elegance which were trimming never equals. For the middle range of costumes, however, much depends on trimming.

Flat garnitures are almost a rule at present, except so far as dress shirts are concerned, while the trimmings which are employed as projecting borderings are nearly limited to lace and fringe. Embroideries are the first and foremost favorites among new trimmings. It is usually the open Madeira work done on the dress goods and used as panels, borders, or as scantily gathered flounces.

One of the handsomest supplementaries to the street dress is a fichu, with a wide bordering of fur looped on or just below the belt. This is seen in plush and in velvet, and is of the size most becoming to the wearer. Sometimes it becomes a shoulder cape as to proportions, but the ends are always sufficiently long to reach to the middle of the figure, making the effect of a looped bow.

The sleeves of many handsome dresses made to wear under fur-lined circulars, which are to be laid aside in a heated room, or hall are made to fit the arm exactly, and over them long moquestraine gloves are worn. These gloves often reach to the elbows, and should wrinkle as little as possible. Black lace and frills of black lisse for the neck and wrists, are much worn, also double ruffs of black Spanish lace laid in four platings, two of which are turned each way. A cluster of knotted loops of narrow moire or satin ribbon is the most stylish fastening at the throat for such ruffs.

THE NATIONAL COLOR OF IRELAND.

It is a totally unfounded though very common belief that green is the national color of Ireland. Green was never heard of as a national or party color till 1798, when the United Irishmen adopted it for the following reason. The ancient flag of Ireland was a golden harp on a dark blue ground, as now depicted or emblazoned in the Irish quarter, the third, of the Royal Standard; and the revolutionary leaders, being anxious to unite together all classes of Irishmen and to join the Orangemen to the rest of their fellow-countrymen, adopted green as their distinguishing color, which is of course produced by mixing orange and blue.—London Family Herald, Dec. 14, 1881.

A VERY COMMON SORT OF CRAZINESS.

Paul Morphy, once the greatest chess player of this country, is said to be insane at New Orleans. His insanity is of a harmless nature. He is well off financially, but is harassed by the idea that he will be financially ruined unless he can borrow $200. He goes about borrowing two hundred dollars, day after day. His friends always let him have the money, which seems to relieve his mind for a time. This hallucination is very common. We know men that have a hallucination that if they cannot borrow fifty cents or a dollar they will be out of money, and can't buy any whiskey. They do nothing but try to borrow money. Occasionally they go down stairs head first, with their coat tails filled with boots, but on the average they get enough to live on during the free lunch season.

LONGEVITY AMONG THE RICH AND POOR.

Baron Kolb, of Germany, has recently given some interesting statistics concerning the comparative vitality of children under various methods of feeding. Of 100 children nursed by their mothers only 18.2 died during the first year of those nursed by wet nurses, 39.33; of those brought up in institutions, 50 died to the 100. Taking 1,000 well-to-do persons and 1,000 poor persons there remained of the prosperous after five years 943, while of the poor but 655 remained alive. After five years there remained of the prosperous 557 and of the poor only 283. At 70 years of age there remained 235 of the prosperous, while the number of the poor yet living was but 65. The average length of life among the well-to-do was found to be 50 years, and of the poor 32 years.

These figures are greatly at variance with received opinions upon the subject. It has long been supposed that the children of the poor are as a rule longer lived than those of the wealthy. Baron Kolb's facts show that the reverse is true. The author gives some reasons for this marked difference in point of vitality between the two classes. The chief of these is among the poor "the proper sanitary conditions and of such food and clothing as are needed to sustain the body properly wears upon the system and not only lays it open to the attacks of disease but makes it less capable of resistance to its incursions."

THE CARE OF MATCHES IN THE HOUSEHOLD.

(American Agriculturist)

In nothing about the household does the injunction to have "a place for everything" require more strict enforcement than in the case of matches. What are known as "parlor matches" light more readily, and are as much more dangerous than the common matches as they are more convenient.

The general stock should be kept in a tin box, which is not to be opened or taken from, except by the master or mistress of the house. From each room where matches are used there should be a metal match-safe of some kind, and the matches are to be kept in that and nowhere else. It should be regarded as a serious offence for a match to be anywhere or for ever so short a time found "lying around loose."

In the kitchen and the bed room, or where ever else matches are in frequent use, it is better to have the match safe fixed and always in the same place so that it can be found, if need be, in the dark. In taking matches from the larger box to replenish the safes, let that always be done by one person, and it will pay for that person to look over the matches at the time, throwing away all broken ones, and where, as is often the case, two or more are stuck together by the explosive mixture, these should be carefully broken apart, and unless two good matches are the result, rather than put into the safe, one with too little and the other with a very

Also throw into the fire those matches that have two or three times as much of the mixture on the ends as they should have. These, in lighting, often explode, and scatter burning particles in a dangerous manner. If, in lighting a match, day or night, it breaks, or the explosive end comes off without lighting, do nothing else until that end is found, and put it into the fire where it can do no harm. In fact, treat matches, every match—as if it were—as it is, a fire-bomb, capable of dangerous mischief to person and property. Teach the children to carefully observe the same caution.

HERE, IN OUR OWN TERRITORY.

It can almost be asserted that St. Jacobs Oil works wonders. Shortly before the New Year, when I visited my family in Mitchell, I found my son Edward, a lad little more than ten years old, very sick. He suffered with rheumatism, and so terribly, that he was perfectly stiff in his limbs, could not possibly walk and had to be carried from place to place. At once I sent for some St. Jacobs Oil, used it according to directions, and in a few days could see evidence of considerable improvement. On the tenth of this month I again visited my family and was astonished to find him well and hearty. He once more has fresh color in his face and can go to school again. Whenever the old trouble threatens to return relief is immediately secured by the use of the celebrated St. Jacobs Oil. From sheer joy over this result I cannot withhold recommending St. Jacobs Oil to suffering humanity as a true benefactor. CHARLES MERTZ, office of the Volkfreund, German paper of Stratford, Ont.

Donnelly, so well known in connection with the introduction of grape growing in Lower Canada.

A WEDDING AT CAUGHNAWAGA.

JACOB-JAMISON.—At Caughnawaga, on the 23rd instant, by the Rev. Father Burlington Louis Jacobs, to Julia Ann Jamison, third daughter of James Jamison, of Oneida Point.

It has of late years been much the custom for writers in describing a wedding like that which took place at Caughnawaga on Monday morning, to treat their readers to copious extracts from Tennyson's "Maud," and to speak of the "garden of girls" that bloomed on the occasion. I do not intend to follow this example, neither do I mean to discourse in rapturous terms about the glories of Mrs. Jacobs's wedding dress or the marvellous beauties of her bridesmaids' costumes. How is it possible, indeed, that anyone should do so. Those who participate in a battle are utterly unable to describe events, save those which occurred in their own immediate neighborhood, and so last night, amid the glittering throng which filled White Eagle's house, where no doubt, many a hapless wight was conquered and enslaved by the invincible power of aboriginal beauty, it was different for any scholar, even for a schoolmaster, who is generally supposed to be able to do all kinds of impossible things, to particularize. To those who had the pleasure of mingling in that assembly and witnessing the good behaviour of the Iroquois, cannot help but admire their character. The parties who had the matter in charge seem to have gone to work with the determination to eclipse all previous Indian weddings, and if the general verdict of those present be accepted as correct, they may, with justice, claim a success. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Macdonald, Mr. and Mrs. Jacks, Jr. and Mrs. Jacks, Sr., Grand Chief T. Jacks, Thomas Patton and Miss Louise Jacks, Mr. Louis Jackson and Miss Martin, Miss Rebecca Macdonald, of Montreal, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jacobs, Mr. and Mrs. Murray, Mr. and Mrs. Laurandie, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence. Upwards of three hundred persons sat down to dinner at this wedding, the brides cake was four stories high and of the very best material that could be obtained for the occasion. The dinner consisted of turkey, chickens, round of beef, etc., etc. Dunaagan's band from Montreal was engaged for the occasion and to whose measures the weddingers stepped the waltz, quadrille, Scotch, Irish and American dances.

Everybody had enjoyed themselves to their heart's content. The writer cannot help but acknowledge that this magnificent wedding surpasses anything of the kind since his arrival among the aboriginal children of the soil.

SCIENCE IN PROGRESS.

Thousands died of Bronchitis, Asthma and Lung disease by Dr. M. Souville's Spirometer, an instrument which conveys the Spirometer's properties direct to the parts affected. These wonderful instruments are used in all first-class hospitals, and are prescribed by leading physicians. Full directions for treatment sent by letter, and instruments expressed to any address. It is only since Dr. Souville's invention that lung diseases are no longer feared except in their very last stage. Write for particulars to Dr. M. Souville, ex-Aide Surgeon of the French Army, 13 Phillip's Square, Montreal. Read the following notice:— (From the Montreal Gazette, December 24th, 1880.)

We are pleased to notice that a great many of our best citizens have bought Dr. M. Souville's Spirometer, which is used for the cure of those terrible diseases known by the name of Nasal Catarrh, Bronchitis and Asthma, and it is so highly spoken of as if those instruments and preparations were infallible in the cure of such complaints, and to satisfy our curiosity, we visited Dr. M. Souville at his office, 13 Phillip's Square, Montreal, and gave a thorough examination of his invention, so that we can speak with our own authority of it. We think that such a method, which conveys medicinal properties direct to the organs affected by those distressing diseases, cannot fail to be a benefit to humanity, instead of pouring drugs into the stomach and deranging digestion. These wonderful instruments, with their contents, were invented by Dr. M. Souville after long and careful experiments in chemical analysis, and used in hundreds of cases treated by him in the hospitals of Europe. We find the Doctor a well learned gentleman, and he invites physicians and sufferers to try his instrument free of charge.

Common Sense in Medicine.

(Montreal Star, January 5, 1881.) Dr. M. Souville, the Parisian physician and inventor of the Spirometer for the scientific treatment of diseases of the lungs and air passages, who recently took up his residence among us, is meeting with excellent success. Already the doctor has had hundreds of patients, who have given his system a trial, and so far as we have learned, with both satisfaction and benefit. Dr. Souville makes a departure from the usual methods of treating diseases of the air passages. He contends that the proper mode of treating them is by inhalation and absorption, not by pouring drugs into the stomach and thus upsetting and deranging one part of the system in the hope of benefiting another. This argument certainly has the advantage of being common sense, which is always the best kind of sense. The doctor certainly has the courage of his opinions and confidence in his system, for he gives a standing invitation to physicians and sufferers to visit him and test his instruments free of charge. His office is at 13 Phillip's Square, Montreal.

For many years—in fact from the time of the peerless Parpa Rosa, Nilsson, Patti, Abouli, and hundreds of others—Weber has thus been singled out by them all. THE MOST SUCCESSFUL REMEDY EVER discovered. It is certain in its effects and does not blister. Also excellent for human flesh. Read proof below. From COL. L. T. FOSTER, Youngstown, Ohio, May 10th, 1880. Dr. B. J. Kendall's Spavin Cure is a very valuable Hambletonian colt which I prized very highly, he had a large spavin on one joint and a small one on the other which made him very lame. I had him under the charge of two veterinary surgeons which failed to cure him. I was one day reading the advertisement of Kendall's Spavin Cure in the Christian Express, I determined at once to try it, and got our druggist here to send for it, they ordered three bottles; I took them all and thought I would give it a thorough trial, used it according to directions and the fourth day the colt ceased to be lame, and the lumps have disappeared. I used but one bottle and the colt limps are as free from lumps as ever. I used it on my horse in the state. He is entirely cured. The cure was so remarkable that I let two of my neighbors have the remainder, and they, who are now using it. Very Respectfully, L. T. FOSTER.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE. B. J. KENDALL'S Spavin Cure. I had a horse of which per-urged me to try Kendall's Spavin Cure on the hind leg of one of my horses, which was very swollen and could not be reduced by any other remedy. I got two bottles of Kendall's Spavin Cure of Prestou & Landry, Druggists of Westport, which completely cured my horse. About two years ago I had a three year old colt sweated very bad. I used your remedy as given in your book with the following result:—I used it on your colt, that the colt is entirely cured, which is a surprise not only to myself, but also to my neighbors. You sent me the book for the "Tribune" of 25 cents, and I could not get another like it. I would not take twenty-five dollars for it. Yours, truly, GEO. MATTHEWS.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE. ON HUMAN FLESH. PATTER'S MILLS, Washington Co., N. Y., Feb. 21st, 1878.—DEAR SIR.—The particular case on which I used your Kendall's Spavin Cure was a man named a-kie sprain of sixteen months standing. I had tried many things, but in vain. Your Spavin Cure put the foot to the ground again, and for the first time since hurt, in a natural position. For a family liniment it exceeds everything we ever used. Yours truly, REV. M. P. BELL.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE. I was in the office and in the section, as it does not blister, yet it is penetrating and powerful to reach every deep seated pain or to remove any bony growth or other enlargements, such as sprains, tumors, curbs, galls, swellings and any lameness and all enlargements of the joints or limbs, or for rheumatism in man and for any purpose for which a liniment is used for man or beast. It is now known to be the best liniment for man ever used, acting mild and yet certain in its effects. Send address for illustrated circular, which we think gives positive proof of its virtues. Price $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. All Druggists have it or can get it for you, or it will be sent to any address, on receipt of the amount. It is used for man or beast.
