

"THE STORY OF THE FARALLONES!"

Text by Chester Barlow. Arranged and Published by H. R. Taylor.

A dainty brochure full of interesting descriptive matter and lavish in half-tone illustrations of the great bird rookeries on the famous Islands; 32 pages on enamel paper besides a handsome cover in translucent board. It is a booklet wonderfully fascinating to the Oologist and a rich addition to any Library. The photographs are unique; there are in all three hundred and seventy square inches of costly half-tone illustrations, showing the varied bird life in its picturesque surroundings, the great sea lions, the eggers, etc. The remaining edition will be sold by mail, prepaid, for

Only 30 Cents Per Copy

Or Two to One Address, 50 Cents.

Dr. Elliott Coues Says of the Work:

"It is very handsomely gotten up, a credit to all concerned, either in the text or illustrations, and gives a great deal of information in an entertaining manner. For my part, I have a clearer idea of the Ornithology of the Islands than I ever derived from any previous publication on the subject. The appearance of the Brochure is also timely, now that the eggng has just been made the subject of legislation."

Hundreds of other press notices and letters of commendation have been received.
