When we first talked of SEMI-READY TAILORING the question of rapidity and time-saving was featured. That is important still, for "hnished in an hour" means much. But what means most to gentlemen is the fact which stands forth boldly :-

> Semi-ready Tailoring is better, finer and more cultured than any ordinary custom tailor can attain to.

The prices, $15.00, $20.00 and $25.00, are a guarantee of value and quality -and the guarantee in the pocket of a real Semi-ready garment is a cheque on our Bank of Satisfaction

Toronto 3, Providence 1.

Toronto made it three straight yesterday, winning the third game by 5—1, Providence scoring in the ninth. McCafferty and Hardy were the opposing pitchers, and both pitched good ball, althe Hardy began to weaken towards the last. The features of the game were Thoney's home run in the fifth, White's three-bagger in the eighth, and Tamsett's catch, which was labeled a hit. A peculiar incident happened in Toronto's half of the seventh. White and Tamsett were on second and first, respectively, when Long pop-filed to pitcher. Instead of catching the fly Hardy let the ball drop and threw to third, catching White. Kreiger threw to Rock, catching Tamsett, but the double-play wasn't allowed, as it was an infield out, and the players were not tonched with the ball. The game was delayed about ten minutets listening to the Providence players kick.

Providence scored their only fun in the ninth. Dunn hit over shot and reached second on a passed ball. Brodle fiew out Thoney got a two-bagger in the first, but died at second, as the next three men flew out. There was nothing doing until the fifth, when Thoney hit a low ball for a homer, the ball going between left and centre gardens, hitting the fence.

Toronto scored two in the seventh. White was given four balls. Tamsett was hit by pitcher, and both were safe on Long's infield out, the Providence players not touching the runners. McGovern reached first, both White and Tainsett scoring. McCafferty filed out to Rock.

In the eighth Thoney opened with a single, going to second on McFarland's slow return, but was out at the plate on Frick's fielder's choice.
