Canby & Co. to J. G. Beaty: In our judgment, the future position of wheat hinges on two factors export demand and crop outlook. We must have a better export demand or serious crop damage to warrant or maintain higher prices. There is a liberal amount of old wheat in the country, which will certainly be for sale in competition with present stocks, 11 the crop outlook is good in April, The recent action of the market has been extremely disappointing to the bulls.
