Political and Administrative Officials Suspended and Placed on Half Pay.

EMPEROR WILLIAM GETTING BACK AT SOME OF THE PARTIES WHO CAUSED THE DEFEAT OF HIS CANAL BILLS IN THE DIET.

Berlin, Sept. 1.—The Berliner Correspondent says that the Prussian Government has temporarily suspended and placed on half-pay a number of political and administrative officials.

The Government's intention in question is to adequately meet the high requirements demanded by the interest in public service.

The officials suspended are two provincial secretaries, Von Colmar and Von Jago, and several other officials.

The Government has the power to dismiss officials without assigning any reason.

The Conservative press is equally angry, and warns the Government that it has made a grievous mistake.

The Store Panorama.

Next week will be Exhibition week in all the stocks and in the new addition. The whole store is sparkling with newness, and the magnitude of the displays, the novelty and beauty of the styles, the astonishing variety and unusual values easily discount everything in the past.

In stylish Dress Goods, Mantles, and Millinery our leadership is admitted, and you can't imagine a worthy style or quality that we haven't got. The new stocks are full of abounding interest to shoppers.

No such care was ever taken before to make a store perfect, and nothing that we can say will tell nearly as much as a half hour spent among these streets of busy trade.

You ought to come and see, if only to see. But few people are satisfied to go away without buying something.

Our aim is to make the store so pleasant that you'll want to come every day. Every convenience is provided for shoppers, and people who don't wish to trade are equally welcome with those who do.

Business is solicited only upon the basis of absolute satisfaction, and any purchase made, if it is not to the interest of the buyer, may be cancelled by returning the goods.
