HOW CANADA PROFITS.

London, June 18.—A question submitted to the Chancellor of the Exchequer yesterday brought a response

Everyone Have Own Cup.

Another delegate was inclined to think that the proposed change would not stop in the use of more than one cup; the logical issue was that individuals would be taking their own cups to church. Ladies ran ten times more danger of contracting disease by sweeping the sidewalks with their skirts than by joining in drinking from the one cup.

Prof. McVicar, Montreal, thought that any proposed change from the present mode would form a bone of contention in the Church because, in his opinion, they were going about the matter in an unconstitutional way. Everyone Have Own Cup.
