"SOVEREIGN BRAND"

This cut may give you the exact information you want about our new grade of clothes for men.

No matter how good the outside of a suit is if the "insides" are not good you know the inevitable result.

There's the soft canvas, the kind the very best tailors use, and this canvas is thoroughly shrunk in our own shrinking rooms before used.

Then the haircloth—not an imitation—but the real thing, the product of the largest makers in England.

Then there's the padding, which, together with the haircloth and canvas, is needle molded into proper shape and placed in each garment by tailors who do absolutely nothing else but the hand work around the shoulders and the collar.

The result is a beautifully tailored concave shoulder that no tailor can improve on at any cost.

These are a few of the strong points that distinguish our new grade of men's clothes from the regular make, and make it equal to the highest priced custom tailor's productions.

Prices for men's Suits $14.00 to $22.00.
Trousers $3,50 to $6.00.

RIOT AT THE JUNCTION.

him. Crews may be charged with attempting to steal. The police claim that he was following drunken men about and pretending to be drunk himself, so that he could be in their company and go thru their pockets. The police watched him pretty closely, and say that he tried to steal. Smith and Crews will be tried on Monday, but the six men let out will not come up for trial until Tuesday. Only one man out of the eight was from Toronto Junction, altho the town topers were out in pretty strong force.

John Farrell, bartender at the Subway House, is minus a ticket for Winnipeg and his coat. He hung it up in the hotel, and some sneak thief ran off with it. A man at the Avenue Hotel is said to have lost his watch in the crowd, but he hasn't given his name to the police.

Hotels Closed Early.

It is reported that the license inspector was pretty vigilant, and that one hotelkeeper may be charged with selling after hours.

Considering the amount of drinking done, it is surprising that more helpless men were not seen on the streets. The crowd was a pretty orderly one, but in back lanes and out-of-the-way places the orgies of the half-drunken youths were something awful. Scenes the most revolting were witnessed, and those participating in them seemed to take delight in making the last of liquor in Toronto Junction vivid with degradation and beastliness.

The hotels were closed fully half an hour before the time required by law. The outer door of the Occidental was closed at 6 o'clock, but the bar and the house was full. The Peacock Hotel closed up about the same time, partly because Frank Watts ran out of glasses, about 250 having been broken in the afternoon scramble or taken away as "souvenirs."

The police were called in to all the hotels except the Avenue, before 7 o'clock, and the barrooms rid of their maudlin crowd.

After the hotels were closed and the supply of liquor cut off, the pugnacity of the revelers began to ease off. As night came on, too, the cars began to take away loads of drunken passengers. Many hundreds still remained, however, to congregate on the corners and in front of the closed bars, where they proceeded to make night hideous with their boisterous shouting, singing coarse songs and using vile language.

Mayor Chisholm's house was serenaded, and a group of young fellows outside treated him to the chorus "How Dry I Am!"

The police estimate that there were nearly 10,000 people on the streets and in the bars.

The scenes witnessed, revolting as they were, show that there is an element desirous of drinking to excess merely for the sake of drinking, and with the avowed object of hurting the sensibilities of those persons who voted that no liquor should be sold in the town. This same element will try more to get liquor when the bars are closed than they ever did before. Men got drunk on Saturday who seldom tasted intoxicants. There was infatuation in the fact that after Saturday night they must not again pay for a drink over a bar, and the fond desire to say farewell to the bar and the barkeeper made many a man dizzy over Sunday.

Sunday was a quiet day. It was the lull after the storm. The barroom window blinds were up as usual, which is not necessary, now that the licenses are cut off. The streets had less people on them than usual, and as the day was very bright, many people spent the afternoon in the parks and ravines about town.

DEFENDS TORONTO GIRLS.

(Canadian Associated Press Cable.)

London, May 2.—T. Duckett of Ramsgate has written The Morning Leader a spirited defence of the Toronto shop girls. He says he lived in Toronto for some years, and found them ladies in the fullest sense. He denies the statement that the Toronto evening papers are many years behind the London papers in enterprise and attractiveness, and says The Telegram is equal to any London half-penny paper.

FOR A SPECIAL FORM.

London, May 2.—The agricultural committee on tariff reform is issuing a special form, inquiring of farmers the best method of harmonizing the conflicting interests of the manufacturer and the agriculturist. The statistics have been prepared, showing the price of wheat and bread in Britain, France and Germany, and the Canadian wheat resources.

RICHARDSON BADLY BEATEN EXPLAINS THE REASON WHY

People Ready to Defeat Anyone Whose Name is Connected With the Investigation, He Says.

The big majority poled by John Shaw over F. H. Richardson in Saturday's by-election for the vacant controllership was hardly more surprising than the inability of the ex-controller to secure a surplus in his own ward. It was conceded by the wisest of the wise ones, accustomed to sizing up election certainties, that Mr. Richardson would find his home constituents loyal. As it was, he polled only 689 votes, as against 3488 in January, when the cumulative system aided largely, and Mr. Shaw got the same number, the four months ago he registered only 445. In every other ward Shad led the way handily, the final result showing Richardson 2506, Shaw 7498, or a majority of 4992.

The returns came in to the city hall in quick fashion and the result was known by 7.45, City Clerk Littlejohn having counselled the returning officers to be prompt and accurate. The votes were cast slowly and with little evident interest in all parts of the city. There were 155 D.R.O.'s in the six wards, each of whom received $4 for his day's work. The poll clerks received $4, the constables $2 and the rental paid for the booths is $6, making a total of $20 for each polling sub-division.

Result by Wards.

Ward.	Richardson. Jan.	April.	Shaw. Jan.	April.

Blames Liberal Influence.

As soon as ex-Controller Richardson heard the returns from a dozen or so subdivisions, enough to satisfy him of his opponent's election, he went home and, without waiting for the full count, drove with his father to the homestead in Scarboro, where he spent Sunday. He returned to the city late Sunday night and was questioned by The World as to the causes which contributed to his defeat. He said he was not surprised, as he got a pretty good idea of how things were going from visiting a few polling booths in the first ward. There he found that a large percentage of those who had voted were Liberals.

"The vote against me," he observed, "was largely drawn out by The Globe, The Star and The Telegram. I am satisfied that 90 per cent. of the Liberal vote was against me. On the other hand I had no organization. I saw as many of my friends as I could, but being a by-election there was a great deal of apathy except among those who were anxious to defeat me, and who have been making a dead set against me ever since the investigation into the election of January.

Result Should Affect Others.

"The newspapers that were so anxious for my defeat, altho not saying so or even hinting that I had any knowledge of the few bogus votes that I received, asked the people to vote against me as a protest against the irregularities at the polls on New Year's Day. Now we will see whether these newspapers can expect the people of Toronto to be content that Alderman Woods should hold his seat, in view of the evidence as to his connection with the padding of the voters' lists. Undoubtedly Woods should get down and out and the assessment commissioner should also retire from his office. These papers that have been attacking me should call on Alderman Woods and Mr. Fleming to resign. The evidence directly connected them with the padding of the lists, while tehre was not a particle of evidence that I had any knowledge of any wrong doing on my behalf.

"As for the other members of the council who are in the same position as I was and still hold their seats, I have nothing to say."

Sees a Public Determination.

Tho he intimated that he was quite content to abide by the decision of the electors there was a slight tinge of regret in his words. He appeared to be somewhat "sore" on the Conservatives who had deserted him, tho he would not go so far as to lay the blame on his political friends. "I certainly expected," he remarked, "that I would not be held responsible for the frauds committed at the polls, in which I was a beneficiary along with several others who have not shown any haste in resigning, but it seems someone had to suffer and I am that one. It looks as if the people were ready to defeat anyone whose name has been connected with the affair."

Has Nothing to Relate.

The ex-controller was asked if he know of any deals to cut off the investigation, and he said he did not. "I have not been subpoenaed to give evidenceat the investigation and I don't know whether I will be or not, but I have nothing that will throw any light on the enquiry. I have said before that I had no knowledge of any wrong-doing."

Asked if he expected, when he resigned his seat, that he would be opposed by a Conservative, he said, "No," but that there was no "understanding." It was open to anyone to run, and he quite looked for a contest, but not with a member of his own political party.

Woods Will Sit Tight.

Ald. Frank Woods does not propose to make any move in the way of resigning his seat as a result of the expression of public opinion in the controllership election. He said yesterday:

"Richardson is a poor, simple, misguided youth. I don't want any advice as to what moves I shall make. My own intelligence has carried me thru safely up to this point in life. I will trust it for the future. I do not consider Richardson's condemnation as affecting my case in the slightest."

AGAINST JOSEPH.

(Canadian Associated Press Cable.)

London, May 1.—The Marquess of Bristol, lord lieutenant of Suffolk, has resigned the presidency of the Bury St. Edmunds Constitutional Club, which he has held for sixteen years, on the ground that he does not think Mr. Chamberlain's fiscal policy is for the good of the country. He is still a supporter of the government on all other points.

RUSS SIDE.

Official Account of Five Days' Fighting Across the Yalu.

St. Petersburg, May 1.—The general staff has issued the following account of the actions on the Yalu River, April 29 and 30:

"From Gen. Kuropatkin's telegrams it appears that the Japanese, having crossed to the right bank of the Yalu, near the village of Sindiagu, occupied the villages of Khussan and Litzaven. Gen. Zassalitch, with a view of reoccupying Litzaven and the heights near Khussan, ordered on April a thoro reconnaissance of the positions which the Japanese occupied, and then sent a detachment commanded by Staff Lieut.-Col. Lind to attack the enemy.

"The positions near Litzaven and Khussan were defended by a Japanese force consisting of two battalions of the Fourth Regiment of the guard, with mountain guns, and a small force of cavalry of the guard. With the assistance of our artillery from Potiernisky, our troops dislodged the Japanese from their position, losing two sharpshooters killed and thirteen wounded. The Japanese left on the position they vacated ten dead and twenty-six wounded. They also carried away a number of their wounded, and others scrambled down the cliffs to the Yalu. The enemy succeeded in removing their mountain guns.

"After occupying the heights near Sindiagu, where our troops came under a heavy fire, from a Japanese battery posted north of Wiju, two of our guns shelled a pontoon bridge and compelled the Japanese to dismantle it.

"The Japanese troops at Litzaven and Khussan retreated partly to the Yalu and partly northward.

"Up to the present ten carbines and many cartridges and maps have been found on the Japanese positions.

"Conspicuous gallantry was displayed by the light infantry of the 10th and 12th Regiments, under Lieut. Yantchisis.

"At 10 o'clock on the morning of April 29 a Japanese force of 1,500 infantry, with twelve guns, began to cross the river at Ambikhe and Schogapoudzy. Near Ambikhe there was a small Russian detachment, under Lieut.-Col. Goussev, which was compelled to retire under the sustained fire o ftwo Japanese batteries of six guns each. Four men were wounded, and Lieut.-Col. Goussev was bruised on the head and left arm. Our mountain guns were unable to return the enemy's fire on account of the excessive range, and reinforcements were sent to the detachment, with orders to drive the Japanese beyond the Yalu.

"Gen. Mistchenko reports that Japanese warships at the mouth of the Yalu, on April 29, opened fire on our troops, the cannonade lasting twenty minutes. No damage was done.

"All is quiet at Yinkow.

"On April 30, from 10 o'clock in the morning until 5 in the afternoon, the Japanese shelled our position at Turenchen from their batteries on the left bank, where they had posted twenty-four field guns and 1120-millimetre siege guns, which were cleverly mounted in masked earthworks. They fired a minimum of 2000 projectiles. Our troops stuck stubbornly to the pontoons at Turenchen.

"On the morning of April 30 the Japanese recrossed the Yalu at Sindiagu, attacking our troops on the heigats near the village of Khussan, and turning our left flank. Owing to the great superiority of the Japanese forces, we retreated to a position near the village of Pitielinsky.

"Our losses at the Turenchen pontoon were Lieut. Pakhaloff killed and Lieut.-Col. Mahler, commanding a battery of the Sixth Artillery brigade, seriously wounded in the head; Col. and Mester, Capt. Vorobieff, Capt. Saponjnikoff, Lieut. Philadelphoff and Capt. Atroschenko wounded. Lieut. Rutrepoff of the 22nd Regiment, was seriously wounded in the head on the pontoon near Khussan.

"Our losses in men have not yet been definitely ascertained, but up to the present it is only known that three were killed and nineteen wounded."

Washington Receives Telegram From Tokio of Week's Fight.

Washington, May 1.—The following telegram, dated May 1, has been received at the Japanese legation, from Tokio: "Gen. Kuroki, commanding the First Army, reports that on April 26 preparations were made for laying bridges across the Yalu River. On the same day detachements of the Imperial Guard and of the second division attacked and dispersed the enemy on islands in the river and occupied the islands. In these engagements, sixteen of the Imperial Guard were seriously and nine slightly wounded, while there were no casualties in the second division. The enemy retreated, carrying many dead and wounded toward Chiutenchang. A Russian cavalryman taken prisoner said that the 22nd, 23rd and 27th Infantry regiments of the Eastern Siberian Sharpshooters formed the van of the Russian forces. Lieut. Senyoloff, commanding the Mountain Scouts of the 22nd Regiment, was found dead and was buried at Wiju.

"Ninety-five dead horses were found. From noon of the 26th until the 27th the enemy fired intermittently upon Wiju, but no reply was made. On the 26th two gunboats, two torpedo boats and two steamers, detached from the squadron of Admiral Hosoya, ascended the Yalu and exchanged shots with the enemy in Antsushan and silenced him. The detachments suffered no damage. On April 28 two infantry companies of the Imperial Guard reconnoitered Hushan and a part of the company was detached to Sitzuyuen, from which place the enemy fled, leaving five dead. The enemy fired at long range from the neighborhood of Chrutienchang upon Wiju without much effect upon our works. On April 29 the 12th division commenced bridging the river at Sukichin, and completed the work on the morning of the 30th, and the army crossed. From 10.40 a.m. to 1.30 p.m. there was severe firing on all sides, but the enemy was soon silenced. Our losses were five officers slightly wounded and of non-commissioned officers and men two killed and twenty-two wounded.

"At 8 p.m. of the same day the bridge over the main stream was completed and the army, crossing, advanced upon Hushan. On the same day the detachment from Admiral Hosoya's squadron advanced below Antunsesien and fought at close range with 400 of the enemy's infantry and cavalry. The enemy's artillery also directed a heavy fire against the detachment, but retreated after about an hour's firing. There were no casualties on our side. On May 1, at daybreak, our forces commenced cannonading and silenced the enemy's artillery on the hill northwest of Yushukou, AND AT 7.30 ALL DIVISIONS ADVANCED TO THE ATTACK AND BY 9 A.M. TOOK POSSESSION OF THE HEIGHTS EXTENDING FROM CHIUTIENCHANG TO THE NORTH OF MAKOU AND YUSHUKOU."

UNION STATION NEWS.

The freight wreck on the T. H. & B. line between Hamilton and Welland Junction had its local effect in the late arrival of both the C. P. R's morning and evening train from Buffalo, the former due at 10.50 a.m., not getting in until 2 p.m., and the latter arriving at 11.45 p.m., instead of 9.05, as per schedule, it being found necessary to take a roundabout course.

The local C. P. R. despatcher's office received no intimation by wire of the accident, there being no connection with that district.

Grand Trunk General Manager McGuigan left here yesterday for Detroit, where he has gone, it is understood, to further discuss plans for the projected river bridge.

Baccalaureate Sermons Addressed to Victoria College and Deaconess' Training Home Graduates.

PLEA FOR ST. ALBAN'S.

Annual Parade of I.O.O.F. to Metropolitan—Broadway S.S. Anniversary.

The theological students who are graduating from Victoria University this year received their last lecture, if it might be termed such, from Chancellor Burwash in Trinity Methodist Church, yesterday morning. The baccalaureate sermon consisted of an earnest appeal to the men and women of the graduating class for a pure and upright individuality, devotion to duty and a loyalty to Christ. The chancellor was assisted in the service by Professors Reynar and Wallace.

In his sermon he proceeds to show that when the Apostle Paul commenced to preach he made no attack on the evils, political, commercial or philosophical. He and simply pleaded for purity amongst the lower classes. And despite the wickedness that militated against his efforts his work was the only product of the age that escaped the terrible avalanche when Goth and Hun and Vandal swept over the Roman Empire.

The lesson to-day was that the destiny of the world lay in the hands of those who, now, when the great forces of Christianity and of heathendom were commencing to fuse, went out in the name of Christ to work for the elevation of mankind.

The time was at hand when Canada would be the highway between the old world and the far east. To make use of the opportunity the workers had to be consecrated to the cause of purity. The final test for all would not be the quality nor quantity of the work, but the ideal that each one had held.

AN APPEAL FOR ST. ALBAN'S.

Special Services Celebrated Anniversary of Bishop of Toronto.

Special services at the Cathedral of St. Alban the Martyr marked the twenty-fifth anniversary of the elevation of Arthur Toronto to the bishopric of the diocese. The bishop officiated at the morning service and the choir rendered special music under the direction of Mrs. David Kemp.

At the close of the sermon in the evening a congratulatory address was presented to the bishop by F. A. Hall, chairman of the sidesmen, on behalf of the clergy and laity of the diocese. It announced that a portrait of the bishop would be presented to the cathedral by the sidesmen and a short reply of thanks was made by him.

The evening services were conducted by Canon Macnab, assisted by Rev. T. C. S. Macklem, provost of Trinity College, who read the lessons. Canon Macnab took his text from Zechariah 4: 9, "The hands of Zerubbabel have laid the foundations of this house; his hands shall also finish it," and applied these words to the condition of the cathedral. He dwelt on the necessity of prayer, saying that if the clergy of the diocese had been more persistent, it might have made more progress. If the bishop had received proper support, the cathedral would now have been completed. This failure in the work would be looked upon with reproach by future generations, for it would seem that they had little faith and little trust.

The parish church of St. James had been utilized as a cathedral, but was found unsatisfactory in many respects. Two rulers in one house could not be successful and in a cathedral the bishop must be supreme. It was accordingly found necessary to erect the present building, copied after the cathedral in Truro, Cornwall, England. The corner stone had been laid on St. Alban's Day, 1887, and the work had cost $85,000. A mortgage of $50,000 still remained.

The rector closed with an appeal for funds and an exhortation against depending upon their own efforts.

DEACONESS' HOME GRADUATES.

Annual Ceremonies To-Morrow—The Baccalaureate Service.

The graduating exercises of the Deaconesses' Home will be held in Carlton-street Methodist Church to-morrow evening. Rev. Dr. Sparling will preside, and the presentation of diplomas will be made by Rev. Dr. Chown. Addresses, readings and selections by the Sherlock Quartet will make up the program. In Carlton-street Methodist Church the service yesterday morning was of a special character, Rev. J. V. Smith preaching a baccalaureate sermon, that contained words of encouragement and helpful advice to the graduates, who this year number 18.

They are: C. Electa Cartwright, Smithville, Ont.; Ada M. Conray, Princeton, Ont.; Mary L. Cunningham, Nicolston, Ont.; Henrietta Elizabeth De Wolfe, Halifax, N.S.; Lena M. Dumfield, Winnipeg, Man.; Retta Edmonds, Burlington, Ont.; Ida Eleanor Elliott, Arnprior, Ont.; Annie J. Gawley, Purple Grove, Ont.; Laura H. Hambly, Ragian, Ont.; Priscilla Henderson, Montreal, Que.; Margaret Kirkland, Davenport, Ont.; Frances Isabella Main, Upper Cape, N.B.; Jessie B. G. Z. Porter, Banda, Ont.; Mary Evangeline Porter, Banda, Ont.; Violet May Porter, Banda, Ont.; Sarah Catharine Slaughter, Forest, Ont.; Ketha Winnifred Service, Seeley's Bay, Ont.; Matilda M. Unruh, Toronto.

At the last meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the above class, Miss De Wolfe was allotted to mission work in Japan, and the Misses Dunfield and Hambly to the Chinese field.

The Deaconess' Aid Society will hold its tenth annual meeting at 4 p.m. to-morrow, following the usual yearly custom of having the two events on the same day for the convenience of attendants from outside the city. Reports will be read and an address made by Miss Horton of Chicago.

THEIR 31ST ANNIVERSANY.

Children of Broadway Tabernacle S.S. Enjoy Special Services.

Broadway Tabernacle was crowded to the doors at morning, afternoon and evening services yesterday on the occasion of the 31st anniversary of the Sunday School. A temporary platform was erected around the pulpit, and was occupied by the children of the school, who, assisted by the orchestra, contributed special music. Rev. T. W. Neal conducted service in the morning, Rev. Dr. Henderson in the afternoon, and Rev. Sol. Cleaver in the evening.

Taking as his subject the feeding of the multitude, Dr. Cleaver paralleled the manner in which the school had grown, and the way in which all Christian work assumed large proportions.

An anniversary concert will be given in the lecture hall of the church this evening.

ODDFELLOWS' ANNUAL SERVICE.

Over 1000 Members, With Hamilton Brethren, March to Metropolitan.

Toronto District No. 19, Independent Order of Oddfellows, celebrated the 85th anniversary of the lodge's founding by the holding of a service in Metropolitan Church yesterday afternoon. At 2 p.m. members to the number of about 1000 forgathered at Oddfellows' Hall at Yonge and College-streets, when short addresses were delivered by J. B. Turner of Hamilton, grand master of Ontario, and J. A. Gregory, D.D.G.M., of the Toronto Encampment. At the head of the parade, which was marshaled by Bro. J. Atkinson, marched the contingent representative of the Hamilton Canton, consisting of about twenty men, under command of Major Faulkner. Col. Cutter held sway over the seventeen lodges represented, and the Triple Link Club, an affiliated organization.

Among the many prominent Oddfellows noticed were J. B. King, grand secretary; W. J. McCormick, grand treasurer; P. D. M.'s Jos. Oliver, John Donough and J. T. Hornibrook; district secretary, A. N. Sheppard; P.D.D.G.M.'s A. C. Morrison, G. T. Pendreth, Woodley, T. Colby, Johnson, Bond, and Alf. Coyell, D. D. G. P., and J. H. Harding.

The church was well filled, a number of ladies including some fifty from the incorporated lodge of Daughters of Rebecca. Rev. E. C. Laker delivered a powerful sermon, which demonstrated the analogy tween the principles of the order and those of the universal brotherhood of man.

The annual event was in every way a greater success than any heretofore in Toronto, in the opinion of District Deputy Grand Master Gregory. The collection totalled $150, to go to the support of the Oddfellows' Home.

BEMOANS A LACK.

London, May 2.—Arnold Forster, responding to "The Army" at the Royal Academy banquet, regretted the absence of accepted professional opinion on the great military problems of empire. Like Rayleigh and Dewar, in the sphere of science, the army council was doing fine work to increase the intellectual equipment of the forces. Nothing would help the council more than a generous measure of public confidence, patience and criticism. He hoped the navy would always prove equal to the task of carrying soldiers over the sea, for he believed the future effective work of the army more and more would be done across the sea, and the fortunes of the empire would be imperiled thousands of miles from Britain, not of our own choice but because of the geography of the empire.

Ontario Man Dies.

Buffalo, May 1.—Curtis Sherks of Sherkston, Ont., who was removed from a private hospital to the Emergency Hospital, suffering from what appeared to be poisoning, died to-day. Sherks came here several days ago for medical treatment. Saturday afternoon he was found in an unconscious condition. He was removed to the Emergency Hospital for treatment, but never regained consciousness. An inquest will be held. Sherks' father arrived here before the son died.

To Meet Modern Conditions.

St. Petersburg, May 2.—The regulations prescribing the acts for which the decorations of the Order of St. George shall be conferred shall be amended so as to meet the conditions of modern warfare. The present regulations were framed in the era of wooden ships, and are hardly possible in this day of steel vessels. Under the new amendments the entire crew of a torpedo or submarine vessel sinking an enemy's ship will be entitled to the ribbon of the order.

Use Lever's Dry Soap (a powder) to wash woolens and flannels,—you'll like it. 32

A very pleasing and much appreciated compliment was paid Mr. Henry Winnett at the Queen's Hotel on Saturday by his excellency the governor-general and Major Maude and Captain Bell, A.D.C., who called and expressed great pleasure at the escape of the Queen's from destruction during the great fire.

Catarrh is Inflammation
BUT QUICKLY BECOMES CHRONIC
A Remedy to Soothe and Heal is Required.

Generally speaking Catarrh is worse in some parts than others, but the condition of inflammation extends over the whole breathing apparatus.

No matter how good an ointment or a wash might be, it could only reach a limited portion of the affected surfaces. Only air can enter the lungs and the tendency of Catarrh is to spread downwards. This is why Catarrhozone has proved the most wonderful remedy ever discovered for the treatment of the throat, lungs and nasal passages.

Catarrhozone is split up into little drops by the air and is carried wherever air goes. You see it must reach every part of the lung cavity. Instead of treating a little bit of the catarrhal affection, as other remedies do, you treat all of it at the same time. When you are cured it is a complete cure. Other remedies at best give only relief.

When you breathe Catarrhozone you will experience at once a pleasant sensation of warmth, then the feeling of tightness disappears. Instead of the secretions being in excess, or deficient, by the remarkable action of Catarrhozone upon the inflamed surfaces, they are rendered as they ought to be, perfectly natural.

This is just the same thing as telling you that you are cured, because that is really what is bound to result if you use soothing, healing Catarrhozone, the pleasantest of all remedies, and can be used at any time and always cures.

Every sufferer from throat, lung or nasal troubles should employ the only remedy that can possibly give them immediate relief and quick cure. You can get it from any druggist or medicine dealer in the land, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.
