The ability of the British army to gain ground amid the furious shellstorms testifies in a high degree to its efficiency. If our troops gain the crest, and the Australians have already won a part of this precious high ground, the result is likely to bring grave discouragement to the German higher command, for this is the first real test of the Briton and the Ger-man. Hitherto British forces, in big engagements, have been gravely handicapped by lack of numbers and more especially by lack of equipment. These grave defects have been remedied, and where the Britons held their own, despite their mechanical inferiority, thy ought now to be more than a match for the best troops of Germany. This is the first real test of the new British and the veteran German war machines and a demonstration of decided superiority by the British army might well cause a grave de- Case Opens Today on Dismissal terioration in the German morale.

A German battery was captured by the French in a minor operation south of the Somme yesterday. In this region they have taken above 60 machine guns from the enemy since July 20. Before Verdun the French offensive is coming up to the region of the Thiaumont work again. In a spirited engagement they captured a redoubt immediately west of this work, taking five machine guns and 40 prisoners.

When the smoke cleared away from the battle field near the northeastern border of Galicia it disclosed the Russians in full possession of a considerable stretch of the Styr and the Lipa Rivers. They have crossed these streams at many fords and have been adding several villages on the Lipa to their captures. The present moment apparently marks the conclusion of one stage of these operations and guns are being moved up and troops shifted for another stage. The reason for the apparent slowness of the operations in this theatre of the war is that the Russians do not merely desire to force the Germans to retreat for moral effect, but they desire to secure, if possible, something in the nature of a military decision, to bleed Austria-Hungary to death before they proceed with the more political work of invasion and occupation.

He came down from Fergus this morning and stated that the investigation which he had demanded at the time of his removal was to be granted him and that it would open here tomorrow.

It is well known that Lieut.-Col. Craig has been to military headquarters at Ottawa, and that he has been working quietly on the case for some time and no doubt is prepared for the fullest inquiry into his conduct while in command of the battation. It is expected that Gen. Smith of Ottawa, the judge advocate general, will arrive in the city tomorrow morning and that the investigation will be held under his direction. Whether it will be in public or private is not yet known. But there is always the possibility that the the Russians are mainly fighting the Austrians at the present stage of the campaign, their real immediate knockout blows will be launched against the Germans. Two or three months further fighting ought to decide the outcome of this campaign, whether the Austrians will be decisively beaten, or whether the finishing off strokes will be deferred till the spring. It is generally recognized that Germany furnishes a tougher problem to solve, and slow and sure appears to be the main design of the allied operations against her. But a decisive victory over German; on either front should about end her.

The Turks appear to be mainly trusting to fate and not on their own strong arm to save them in the Caucasus and eastern Asia Minor, for while the Russians are pressing on by Black Sea coastal route, the Turks are apparently unable to relieve the Russian pressure by their exertions against the Russian left flank, for their efforts beyond Rivandouza fro mthe direction of Mosul appear to have been undertaken with a view to relieving the pressure against Bagdad. That city, indeed, appears to have been used by the allies as a decoy, while their real objects were military at the present stage of the campaign and aimed at the downfall of Turkish military Sower. The Russian centre has been making great strides towards Asia Minor and is reported to be within 15 miles of Erzingan. Heroic Action of Pte. Bert Ellis, Who is Reported Wounded.

TWO IMPORTANT MATTERS

The York Township Council are holding a special meeting on Wednesday afternoon, two important matters-coming up for discussion. One of these is the water supply, the other the final settlement of the new munition factory on the 4th concession of West York at Downsview. The agreement between the township and the city, relative to the supply of water, has been practically all settled, but the scheme is a big one, and the council are anxious to hurry along all the preliminary arrangements and get down to actual construction work. There is said to be the greatest urgency in the matter, people in the suburban districts being insistent that council start in at once. Water in the outlying districts is scarce, and Frank Barber, engineer, will rush the plans to completion. Another big question demanding close attention is the lighting supply in the township.

Ald, Ball Has Taken Matter Up With Commissioner Wilson.

President Geo. R. Ellis of the Newfoundland Society has received information of the wounding in the trenches of his nephew. Pte. Bert Ellis, Royal Newfoundland Regiment, Canadian Overseas contingent, on Dominion Day (July 1). The following are interesting extracts from a letter just received:

"Bert was wounded twice in the engagement on Dominion Day, in which the Newfoundlanders took part. He was shot in the leg and tumbled into a trench. Seeing another man, a comrade, badly wounded, he placed him on his back and struggled along with his burden to the base. About half-way a shell burst, taking off his companion's two legs and giving him his second wound. He is now in hospital in England. Of the 900 men in the regiment on that day, less than 100 remain."

Pte. Ellis is 22 years of age, and has been in the trenches since the outbreak of the war.

With Commissioner Wilson.

Ald. Ball stated to The World yesterday that he had never seen the dust on the side streets in North Tononto as bad as it is this year. The alderman also believed that the condition is exceedingly detrimental to the health of those who have to suffer. He discussed the question with Street Commissioner Wilson. and asked if it would not be possible to give a coating of oil to some of the streets most used by vehicles. The commissioner said his appropriation did not permit of much latitude, but he might arrange to oil a few of the most important streets. The difficulty was to make the selection.
