FOLKSTONE HAS MADE MONEY FROM SOLDIERS

London, Dec. 7.—In discussing the inability of the mayor of Folkstone to discover instances where Canadian soldiers were overcharged by local tradesmen, the Passing Show, a weekly, suggests that as Folkstone has done so well in trade throughout the year, owing to the proximity of the camps, it might impose a special tax on its citizens to raise money to supplement the relief being extended to the ruined hotel and lodging keepers and other impoverished citizens of the east coast resorts, where the usual summer season was a total failure owing to war conditions and the danger of Zeppelin and naval raids.

There is already being applied for relief purposes in these resorts the money from the sale, to the American Relief

Committee for Belgium, of a quantity of Canadian gift flour not needed for food in England.

Hazel Dawn and James Kirkwood in "Carissa"—The Goddess—East Lynne Tomorrow

The story Carissa which is the attraction at the Imperial again today, creates a great deal of curious comment during the showing of it and afterwards yesterday. Nothing just like it that has yet been produced in film and as such subjects are rare things in pictures nowadays, this story rather outrides itself upon the public mind.

The fiction commences with the rather startling fact of a seventy-year-old employer marrying his stepdaughter of nineteen. The old man, a lawyer, upon her return from college resents the invasion of the home by this strapping stepmother. Later they become reconciled to one another, but on a certain day when the stepmother is saved from drowning by a handsome young lawyer, circumstances develop which place the lawyer and wife in the role of sweethearts. It is then the stepdaughter, to save a scandal from the man's daughter, who is herself although he is most distasteful to her. The story proceeds from this point with continual surprises and rising to great dramatic heights. Beautiful Hazel Dawn and popular James Kirkwood assume the leading roles and the picture shown at the Imperial for a long time seemed to have given better satisfaction.

The great Goddess serial is ended and Celestia and Tommy Barclay as man and wife are left to enjoy the many millions of the misguiding old millionaire in his last moments, sacrifices his life in an attempt to save the striking miner, Gundorf from a watery grave. The Vilagraph feature sends most who have followed it from the beginning to note how the stoutheaded characters in the play have been finally disposed of by the author. The Goddess will linger in the memory of those who saw a very charming story and in its book form it has already sold out several editions.

Gertrude LeRoy opened her final week with her pretty little song, Norway, which has such a vogue in the United States at the present time, and her singing is more appreciated than ever and the Keiths brings few performers to the city. The Inter is a welcome note from the smiling lady from Boston.

A double bill of features will mark the Imperial commencing tomorrow. For the first time in a long while the excellent Biograph Company of star metropolitan pictures will be seen in other than Mrs. Humphrey Ward's immortal novel, East Lynne. This play is time-honored and showpeople look upon it as a regular "Uncle Tom's" or the public never tire of it. As an emotional drama it has no equal. Edna Mayo as Gertrude LeRoy and the splendid Essay masterpiece The Greater Courage.

Overcoming all difficulties, he learns that his idol is an actress whose association with Army life was apparently solely for the purpose of attaining atmosphere for a new play in which she was about to be starred. This again sends Fordyce on the primrose path and in a half drunk condition he very dramatically confronts the former Army lassie at the house of the man who has been through the death of the male lead in the new play, Fordyce who is recognized by the theatrical manager, is induced to become his substitute and once more is reinstated in the profession.

Artillery and Love is a comedy of real worth and absolutely devoid of the so-called slapstick, while the vaudeville contribution, the Juggling Austin, presents a very delightful form. The efforts of their manipulation of plates, tambourines, etc., etc., is almost unbelievable. The New Adventures of Rufus Wallingford are announced to begin next Thursday evening, and naturally these stories which have been read by millions during the last few years, will create very great interest.

NEPTUNE'S DAUGHTER; OPERA HOUSE SCREEN

Wonderful Fairy Picture With Annette Kellerman in Stellar Role

A thoroughly enjoyable picture presentation was that given to large gatherings in the opera house last night when the famous Annette Kellerman, acknowledged by many artists to be the most beautiful of modern actresses, played the part of Neptune's Daughter. The story is filled with character, but of a strong dramatic and dramatic interest that hold the attention throughout, and its value is enhanced through the wealth of beauty in the natural scenery in which the play was filmed.

Of outstanding interest of course were the beauty of Miss Kellerman and her wonderful feats of diving and swimming. With the aid of clever work on the part of the camera-men the famous "stunt" was caught in many attractive swimming scenes, and her grace and ability were greatly admired. As the pretty mermaid, daughter of Neptune, living the free and easy life of the seamympia, Miss Kellerman charmed those who saw her with a magic transformation in which her mermaid's "costume" was abandoned, and she appeared as a mortal on earth, she still was captivating.

The story of her resolve to avenge the death of her mermaid sister, married a fisherman, was cleverly made the foundation for a display of marvellous swimming and diving feats, and Miss Kellerman's action in many of her remarkable agility, her skill in swimming, and the ease with which she moved rapidly through the surging waters. The sea scenes were especially fascinating.

"Neptune's Daughter" is superior to many so called "master pieces" and was received by large gatherings at the Opera House yesterday with hearty favor. There was not the slightest tinge of vulgarity in any scene, but all were clean, attractive, and such as to inspire admiration for the cleverness of the famous lady swimmer, and wonderment at the development of the art of photography permitting the presentation of her aquatic accomplishments with such realism upon the screen. Matinee performances are to be given each day this week, with two shows each evening.

AROUND THE NECK OF A CHINESE IDOL

The Star Theatre Has Exciting Chapter of "A Diamond From The Sky"

Tonight the eighth chapter of "The Diamond From The Sky" will receive its final presentation in Star Theatre, Union Hall, North End. Of all the serial stories put on in this busy little Portland house this series of thrill and mysteries seems the most baffling. In this chapter the precious heirloom diamond from his pocket and in a spirit of worship hangs it on the neck of his idol. As the chapter is closing a mysterious hand slips through the draperies of the little altar and clutches the diamond, but swish—down comes a keen Chinese sword. Then the next chapter, Monday, the 18th.

Besides this spellbinding story the Star has two other good pictures this change. One is an imaginary yarn entitled "Nipped," being a supposed attack of the Japs on United States through the Mexican trouble. The other is a comic number, "Brave and Bold," or the man who got a good scare during a burglar epidemic. On the whole it is a splendid bill and well worth seeing.

Tomorrow the Star is going to continue its enterprising programmes. The two-reef chief feature will be a Kay-Lee story entitled "The Crook's Sweetheart," showing New York life in the underworld; the Gaumont Graphic and a corking comedy.

GOOD OPENER FOR WEEK AT LYRIC

Excellent Vaudeville Act, Feature Picture and Comedy

The Lyric last evening presented one of its new vaudeville acts, the American Film Company, entitled The Idol, and it certainly reflects nothing but credit upon its producers, the American Film Company. Cecil Fordyce plays the name part with telling effect and proved equal to even the strongest scenes. The picture in brief represents the downfall through drink of an eminently successful young actor, who after five years of self-drunkenness is headed for better ideals by a young Salvation Army lassie. Just as the feeling for the girl was ripening into love and associated with it an inspiration apparently capable of Efforts of two old friends to have the niece of one and the son of the other marry, but these young people have never met and of course strenuously object, so the old men have to resort to more vigorous measures to bring about their wishes. They both are suddenly drowned within a short time of each other and leave will strangely similar, setting Phyllis and Billie of the wealth to be found in an old manse where they immediately go.

The inevitable happens and they fall in love, but in the meantime they are searching for the hidden treasure, and after many disappointments they discover behind a panel in the wall two masked figures which they discover to be the plotters who of course are overcome with joy at the outcome of their plan.

The Universal Animated Weekly is full of a number of interesting subjects, a few of which are, the women life-savers of Ocean Park (Cal.); the working of a torpedo, showing the loading and launching of this terrible weapon of modern warfare, and some scenes of the famous airman, Glynn Martin, with his airplane, besides many others very entertaining.

In A-One-Cylinder Courtship, Nestor comedy, we see again the old story re-told of the hare and the tortoise. The latter, in this story, is represented by a little cat bought by a country youth, and his sweetheart who contracted city habits while on a short visit, and the hare is a six-cylinder machine owned by her city admirer, who persuades her to elope with him, but while he is searching for a minister the other lover confides on the scene and carries her away in his little supposed joke car, showing so much speed at the right time that his lady's heart is won.

AN APPRECIATION AND A SUGGESTION

Editor Times—
Sir,—On last Friday evening I had the pleasure of witnessing the production of "The House Next Door," under the auspices of the Loyalist Dramatic Club, who are to be congratulated on the capable and masterly manner in which they portrayed the same. The artistic arrangement of stage settings, and great credit on the director and committee in charge of same, also the specialties were very commendable. We will indeed look forward to the musical treat on next Monday.

It is too bad some of the audience do not appreciate as they should the great efforts of the amateur talent of the city in producing plays which are a credit to themselves and city by remaining quiet after the curtain is lowered on the last act and the national anthem is played, thereby honoring the king besides showing in a small way a mark of courtesy and appreciation where it is due.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your valuable space, I remain
