LONDON, Jan. 26.—The departure of Sir Alfred Mond from the Liberal ranks and his entry into the Conservative Party has moved Lloyd George to comment this morning as follows: "My land policy is only an excuse. The reference is to the apostles' choosing a successor to Judas Iscariot, who fell by transgression that he might go to his own place.

The man or woman with normal eyes will notice this at middle life.

Able to see as well as ever at a distance, but in reading a half hour or so the type blurs, runs together and sometimes gets spotty. If sewing any length of time the stitches mix up—this, however, is less seen by folks whose needles are almost automatic.
