

A PARADE OF "ANGELS"

In a recent pageant at Preston, England, some Biblical scenes were presented. Here are some of the "angels" passing through a street near the park where the pageant was held.

RETIRE AFTER
51 YEARS AT SEA

Capt. J. W. Christie Leaves
Montreal as Passenger to Settle Down in England.

Montreal, Sept. 26.—After sailing the seas for fifty-one years, during which he climbed from the position of apprentice on a sailing ship to that of master of a transatlantic liner, Capt. J. W. Christie, formerly commander of the White Star Dominion liner Canada, has sailed in his old ship, as a passenger, bound for England, where he will spend the rest of his days in retirement at Weston-Super-Mare, on the Bristol Channel.

Captain Christie first went to sea when ten years old and during the next half century participated in many interesting experiences. In 1877, while still an apprentice, he served on the old sailor Seaforth when the vessel was employed to carry the famous Hudson's Horse from India to the Dardanelles at the time of the Russo-Turkish war. When the fleet of transports reached their destination, after landing native troops to occupy Cyprus, they found the Turks entrenched close to the beach and were forced to commence disembarkation under fire. The youthful apprentice was given charge of a spirited horse and, mounted on its back, swam his steed towards the beach and the Turks. The animal, according to the captain's account of the affair, reached shore well ahead of all competitors and then, despite the earnest efforts of its rider, dashed headlong towards the Turkish lines. Pull as he might nothing would check the beast's order, until one of many bullets from the entrenched enemy struck it in the flank and turned it again toward the sea. The apprentice regained his ship in safety, none the worse for his unusual experience, but with a strong and lasting distaste for international complications. At various times during the great war, Captain Christie was master of the steamers Manxman, Irishman, Canada and Dominion, in which latter vessel he acted as commander of a convoy of low-powered ships sailing out of New York. "I never had an accident, never suffered any damage, was never turned back and never quarantined," said Captain Christie, when telling of his experiences on Saturday. "I was always in command of a good and well-found ship."

PRIMARIES IN NEW JERSEY

Women Expected to be Deciding Factor — Spirited Fight for Senator.

Newark, N. J., Sept. 26.—Women are expected to be the deciding factor in the Republican primary in which the people of New Jersey are today electing candidates for the November election.

Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, a close political and personal friend of President Harding, running in the race primarily for re-nomination, is faced with a bitter enemy and a strong opponent in George L. Record, Jersey City lawyer. Leaders in the Republican party predict that a big vote by the women, polled early, will go a long distance towards determining the result.

Democrats, under the leadership of Mayor Hague, of Jersey City, face no real contests. Governor Edward I. Edwards, who favors a modification of the present prohibition laws, is unopposed for the senatorial nomination.

Judge George S. Silver is a candidate for nomination for governor, and he, too, is unopposed. Joseph E. Stricker, prosecutor of Middlesex county, in which New Brunswick is the county seat, is campaign manager for Silver, and Democrats fear that Middlesex may see in the Hall-Mills murder mystery a repetition of the Ward case in Westchester county, New York, where a political machine was badly wrecked because county authorities could not solve the mystery. For this reason and the lack of real contests a light Democratic vote is anticipated.

The Republicans will name State Senator Wm. N. Runlon, the party's candidate for governor.

Both sides expect a fairly heavy vote in Newark and Jersey City, which are hotbeds of state politics, but the leaders everywhere say that the heaviest vote will be Republican and that it will be mostly confined to the senatorial scrap.

Several contests in the congressional field in both parties are expected to add to the general bitterness at the polls.

IN THREE ACCIDENTS,
MAN STILL SURVIVES

James Inzerillo Hit by Taxicab And Trolley, Then Automobile Strikes Ambulance.

New York, Sept. 26.—James Inzerillo of 159 Scholes street, Brooklyn, was hurled under a Summer avenue trolley car by a passing taxicab as he was crossing Broadway, Brooklyn. Only quick work on the part of the motor-man prevented his death. Responding to a hurry call, an ambulance from Kings County Hospital arrived at the scene of the accident picked Inzerillo up, and made back towards the hospital with all speed. At the corner of Atlantic and Kings-ton avenues the ambulance collided with an automobile driven by Miss Mary Simon of 14 Shepard avenue, Brooklyn. The ambulance was not damaged, although Inzerillo and the doctor in attendance received a severe shaking up, and after a short delay proceeded to the hospital. The automobile was badly damaged, and Miss Simon received a summons when it was found that she had been driving without a license.

A West End lady of London was in the habit of buying flowers from a young woman whose wares were better than her character. She had, indeed, been several times in prison. "I shall want an extra good lot next week," said the lady, on one occasion, "as my daughter is coming out." "All right, lady, I'll see to it," was the reply. "What's she been in for?"

Big Distillery Deal Involving Nearly $15,000,000.

Edinburgh, Sept. 26.—The big deal by which the Distillers Company, Ltd., Edinburgh, acquires an extensive Irish distillery and yeast producing interests at a total cost of three millions sterling has now been finally completed.

The Distillers Company offered to purchase the whole of the ordinary shares of the Distillers Finance Corporation, Ltd., Belfast, provided the holders of seventy-six per cent. of the shares accepted. The holders of over ninety-nine per cent. of the shares have accepted.

Of the purchase price of nearly £3,000,000 over one million has been satisfied by the issue of ordinary shares of the Distillers Company at a price of £20, the balance of two millions has been paid in cash, but the amount to be financed temporarily is only about £700,000.

Interests taken over include the United Distillers, Limited, an important yeast, industrial spirit, and Irish whiskey producer, the Ferintosh Distillery Company of Dingwall, and some half dozen well-known Scotch and Irish whiskey distributing houses.

IRELAND PLANS
TRADE REVIVAL

Trade Commissioner Says
Conditions Improve Overseas—Scotland is Active.

Toronto, Sept. 27.—The message that the tide of trade has definitely turned in Scotland and Ireland, as well as in the rest of Great Britain, is brought by Major G. B. Johnston, Canadian government trade commissioner at Glasgow, who is now in the city, and who points out that there are opportunities in Ireland for Canadian exports. He feels, further, that the Irish government will shortly become firmly seated in power and that the country, becoming gradually peaceful, will open up a new field for Canadian trade. Major Johnston, whose territory covers Scotland and Ireland, is making a tour through Canada with the aim of pointing out to Canadian firms the new openings which are occurring in Great Britain and, being in touch with the reliable importers in Scotland and Ireland, he believes he is in a position to give proper information to Canadian business men.

His message to Canadians planning business with Great Britain is that they should realize that in the case of Ireland it is a matter of getting machinery set up and ready for importation, and he declares that the moment fighting ceases there will be large orders to be placed in Canada. "Strange as it may seem," he adds, "the years 1916 to 1920 were probably the most prosperous in Irish history. There has been a rapid increase in the cash balances in Irish banks, until in 1921, the figure was about 200 per cent. higher than in 1913. During the same period British government stock held in Ireland increased from £48,000,000 to £102,000,000, or about 135 per cent. Ireland is one of the few countries in the world with a favorable trade balance, and about the only country with an extremely small debt. The destruction of property within the past year or two, and other obligations arising from political turmoil, have no doubt materially reduced this favorable position, but it would appear that recovery will be rapid when the country is at last permitted to get down to business."

As to Scotland, there are also many signs of improvement. Although progress is slower, the revival has, beyond doubt, started, as most of the engineering and inquiries are increasing. Export coal trade is also in a healthy condition. Mr. Johnston points out that trade revival in Great Britain has been stimulated by the recent reduction of the bank rate to three per cent., the lowest since before the war. This, if followed by an easing of shipping rates, should add much to the general condition of prosperity. The thing that prevents a more rapid development in Great Britain is the chaotic state of the Balkans and Central Europe, which is one of the principal markets for British goods; but the reason is that British goods instead of waiting any longer for the opening-up of European trade, are looking for other parts of the empire.

THREW AWAY $2,000 IN NOTES.

Gang Foreman Who Found Them Thought They Were Worthless.

Springfield, Mass., Sept. 26.—Finding that he had thrown away unsigned national bank notes amounting to $2,000, believing them to be worthless, William B. Soucia, foreman of a bridge construction gang, admitted that the joke was on him when he was informed that the notes were negotiable.

The bills were found tucked away in a bridge pier that was being raised and were part of a lot of $100,000 believed to have been stolen while en route from Washington banks in Western Massachusetts. Soucia and his other workmen, noting that the bills were unsigned, amused themselves for several days by throwing them in the street and watching persons scramble for them. They were in denominations from $5 to $20.

It's Baker's
Cocoa

THE problem in making cocoa is to preserve the natural flavor, aroma and color of good cocoa beans; to eliminate the excess of fat, so that the cocoa may be easily digested by the most delicate stomach, yet not to take out too much and materially impair its nutritive quality.

By the exercise of great care in the selection and blending of beans, and by the employment of the most highly developed machinery and processes of manufacture we believe that we have solved this problem and produced a

WHAT A PAINTER SEES.
(Arts and Decoration)

In one of his letters to a friend, Corot, the French landscape painter, has described his impressions of the scene of the village church. These are the scenes which are recognizable solely as the product of his dreaming brain. Here is one of his letters, which is at once a biography and a psychological document.

"A landscape painter's day is delightful. He gets up before sunrise; he goes to sit under a tree and watches and waits. There is not much to be seen at first. Nature is like a white veil, upon which some masses are vaguely sketched in profile. Everything smells sweet, everything trembles under the freshening breeze of the dawn. Bing! The sun gets clearer; he has not yet torn the veil of gauze behind which hide the meadow, the valley, the hills on the horizon. The nocturnal vapors still hang like silvery tufts upon the cold green grass. Bing! The first ray of the sun—another ray sees nothing; everything is there. The landscape lies entirely behind the transparent gauze of the ascending sun, gradually sucked up by the sun and permits us to see, as it sends, the silver-streaked river, the meadows, the cottages, the far-receding distance.

At last you can see what you imagined at first. Bing! The sun has risen. Everything sparkles, shines; everything is in full light, soft and caressing as yet. The backgrounds with their simple contour and harmonious tones are lost in the infinite sky through an atmosphere of azure and mist. The flowers lift up their heads; the birds fly here and there. Bing! A rustic, mounted on a white horse, disappears in the narrowing path. The rounding willows seem to turn like wheels on the river edge. And the artist paints away... paints away! Ah! the beautiful bay cow, chest-deep in the wet grasses; I will paint her! Bing! There she is! Famous! Capital! What a likeness she is! Bing! The sun scorches the earth. All becoming heavy and grave. The flowers hang their heads, the birds are silent, the noises of the village reach us. These are the heavy works; the blacksmith, whose hammer sounds on the anvil. Bing! Let us go back. All is visible, there is no longer anything. Let us get some breakfast at the farm. A good slice of home-made bread, with butter and ham! Bing! Work away my friends; I rest myself. I enstasia, and dream about my landscape. I dream my picture. I shall paint my dream."
