GIRL FREED, BECOMES BRIDE oom's Plea Wins Her Release From a Branch of Reformatory.

White Plains, N. Y., Feb. 15—"Yes, I will marry the girl right away. I have the ring in my pocket and a new bridal gown right here in the court room," said Nicholas Sherry to Supreme Court Justice Young when called as a witness for Elizabeth Shellnoos, who sought her release from Leitchworth Village, a branch of Dedford Reformatory for Girls who are mental defectives. Dr. H. T. Kelly of White Plains testified that the girl was not a mental defective.

Justice Young, after questioning Sherry, who said he was a greens keeper at a Rye glof club, and had known the girl before she was committed to Bed-ord in 1918, released her.

Immediately after court adjourned, the couple were married and started for
