Sprague is Champion. On the local golf links yesterday the final the St. John Club championship was played off between Clarence Sprague and H. N. Stetson. The first half of the match was very closely contested, Mr. Sprague being only 2 up at the end of eighteen holes. He then, however, won six holes in holes. He then, however, won six holes in succession and halved another leaving him eight up with eleven to play. Mr. Stetson made a fine rally and took the next four holes. Mr. Sprague then won "Hill-top" with a grand three, halved the next hole and won "Half-way," thus gaining the match by six up and four to play. Mr. Stetson made a very plucky fight, his long game being particularly good. Mr. Sprague's long game was erratic, but his approaching and putting were very sound. The final tie in the Weldon cup, postponed unavoidably on several occasions, was also played. In this through steady golf Andrew Jack defeated J. M. Magee.

A very unique comedy, Loue in a Tepee, is guaranteed to be a corking good comedy. A Battle of Wills is a most interesting love story, and The Two Shepherds, by Gaumont, is particularly worthy of mention as an ideal problem play. Last, but by no means least interesting, is a Solar comedy, The Double Elopement, and the management say that if you don't laugh at this, you must have been hit pretty hard by the election.

THE GEM.

The week end programme of the Gem Theatre promises to be interesting and attractive. Its chief pictorial feature is a strong drama of the western plains dealing with Redskin life, and the conflicting influence of the whites on the early inhabitants of this continent. It is a story chacted in drama by the Selig Co., with splendid effect, and entitled "The Regeneration of the Apache Kid." The Edison Co. furnished the comedy part of the programme in "The Adventures of Baby," a farcical account of the dilemma of a bachelor "who hates babies," when one happers to be left under his charge in a Nights Commencing bachelor "who hates babies," when one happers to be left under his charge in a railroad station. The situations are declared extremely funny. A strong Russian drama is portrayed by the Vitagraph Co. in "The Relief of Justig," a story of intrigue and romance, of an appealing nature. Jack Morrissey sings with orchestra accompaniment "Some of Those Days."
