ST. JOHN STAR.

ST. JOHN, N. B., SEPTEMBER 5, 1902.

CHANCE FOR ST. JOHN.

The statement that two large pork packing concerns in Ontario are looking for a place to locate, and that St. John will be considered by them, is worthy of more than a passing interest. This city has had the novel experience of a visit from members of the council of another town which seeks to secure for itself one of our leading industries. If there is a possibility of securing for St. John a new industry it is worth while for the board of trade and city council to look into the matter. This question of a pork packing establishment is not a new one, for it was pretty fully gone into some years ago without any action being taken. Mr. Hodson, dominion commissioner of live stock, says that Ontario, which in 1891 exported $600,000 worth of inferior bacon, sent away in 1901 $12,000,000 worth of high class pork product. Mr. Hodson declares there is a big field in the maritime provinces for such an industry, and we already know that P. E. Island has done well in this direction. Indeed that province is likely soon to see a large development of the business. There seems nothing to prevent New Brunswick farmers from raising hogs, and as there would be no long haul haul the chances for a packing house at St. John should be altogether favorable.

ROOSEVELT'S ATTITUDE.

The speeches made by Pres. Roosevelt on the subject of the trusts have aroused world-wide interest and a good deal of criticism. In view of some of these criticisms he re-stated his position in an address at Fitchburg, Mass., this week. He said in part:

"If some of those who have seen cause for wonder in what I have said this fall on the subject of the great corporations, which are popularly, although with technical inaccuracy, known as trusts, would take the trouble to read my messages when I was governor, what I said on the stump two years ago, and what I put into my first message to congress, I think they would have been less astonished."

"I said nothing on the stump that I did not think I could make good, and I shall not hesitate now to take the position which I then advocated. I am not more anxious that you who hear what I say should think of it than that you should applaud it. I am not going to define with technical accuracy what ought to be meant when we speak of a trust. But if by trust we mean merely a big corporation, then I would not ponder the utter folly of the man who either in a spirit of rancor or in a spirit of folly says 'destroy the trusts' without giving you an idea of what he really means to do."

"I will go with him if he says destroy the evil in the trusts, gladly. I am not at all in favor of the trusts as they are. I will seek to apply remedies, which I have already outlined in other speeches. But if his policy from whatever motive, whether hatred, fear, panic or just sheer ignorance, is to destroy all our prosperity—no. Those men who advocate the trusts, and the disease which would be worse than the disease are doing all in their power to perpetuate the evils against which they nominally war, because if we are brought face to face with the naked issue of either keeping or totally destroying a prosperity in which the majority share, but in which some share improperly, why as sensible men we must decide that it is a great deal better that some people should prosper too much than that no one should prosper enough. So that the man who advocates destroying the trusts by measures which would paralyze the industries of the country, is at best a quack and at worst an enemy to the republic."

Referring to the conditions which existed in 1893, the president said: "There was no trouble about anybody making too much money then. The trusts were down, but the trouble was that we were all of us down."

"Now, what I am saying ought to be treated as simple, elementary truths. The only reason it is necessary to say them at all, is that apparently some people forget them. I believe something can be done by national legislation. When I state that I ask you to note my words, I say I believe. It is not in my power to say I know. When I talk to you of my own executive duties I can tell you definitely what will and what will not be done. When I speak of the actions of any one else I can only say that I believe something more can be done by national legislation. I believe it will be done."

"I think we can get laws which will measurably increase the power of the federal government over corporations; but, gentlemen, I believe firmly that in the end there will have to be an amendment to the constitution of the nation conferring additional power upon the federal government to deal with corporations. To get that will be a matter of difficulty and a matter of time."

"I want you to think of what I have said because it represents all of the sincerity and earnestness that I have, and I say to you here from this platform nothing that I have not already stated and nothing that I would not say at a private table with any of the biggest corporation managers of the land."

The city council should deal promptly with the petition relative to an abattoir. If the firm who wish to erect one are to have either site approved the thing should be done as soon as possible, so that there may be an end to the present slaughter house system, which the inspector declares to be disgraceful.

ISN'T IT DREADFUL?

Referring to a meeting of a number of opponents of the provincial government in one of the rooms of the York Theatre last evening the Telegraph says:

"A Telegraph representative called and was informed that the meeting was not open to the press. Considering that representatives of another paper were present this was rather rich."

The Telegraph does well to call attention to this matter. It is a scandalous condition of affairs which permits anything being done without the presence of a representative of the Telegraph. The public have grown so familiar with the announcement that distinguished companies were made up of so-and-so, and so-and-so, and "a representative of the Telegraph"—that when the latter is omitted from the record a shock is experienced.

And yet, there is a feeling that if the Telegraph had registered its protest when two representatives of one paper were admitted to the Deaf and Dumb Institution enquiry and all others turned away, that journal would have earned a larger share of public approbation.

M. McDade has given, in his letter to Wednesday's Globe, several excellent reasons why liberals as such are under no obligation to support the present provincial government. The same applies to conservatives. The thing to do with this government is to put it out of business, and liberals and conservatives should unite to bring about that very desirable result.

Mr. Sifton is afraid Mr. Tarte talks too much. Therefore Mr. Sifton talks himself. The people, however, would rather hear the other man.

A GOLF VICTORY FOR ST. JOHN PLAYERS.

HALIFAX, Sept. 4.—In spite of the unfavorable weather, turning into rain as the evening approached, the match on the golf links between the St. John team and Halifax took place today, the ladies foursomes being played in the morning and men's singles in the afternoon. Halifax has to record a defeat all through, although nine holes in the men's singles are still to be played.

In the ladies' foursomes St. John won by 10 holes up, the score being as follows:

St. John—Miss Thomson and Miss Skinner 1 up; Halifax—Miss Ritchie and Miss Wallace, 0.

St. John—Miss Smith and Miss C. Thomson, 2 up; Halifax—Miss Graveley and Mrs. Sharples, 0.

St. John—Miss Barker and Miss Robertson, 7 up; Halifax—Miss Chipman and Miss Creighton.

In the men's singles St. John won by 10 up for 27 holes as follows:

St. John—E. F. Jones, 3 up; Halifax—E. S. Martin.

St. John—Rev. G. D. Ireland; Halifax—W. H. Brookfield, 3.

St. John—D. J. Fraser; Halifax—Chas. Archibald, 1 up.

St. John—Paul Longley, 8 up; Halifax—Geo. Campbell.

St. John—A. N. Stetson, tie; Halifax—Capt. C. E. Smith, tie.

St. John—G. H. Williams, 3 up; Halifax—John Ritchie.

QUEBEC EXTRADITION CASE.

MONTREAL, Sept. 4.—An interesting decision regarding extradition was rendered here today in the case of Louis Cohen of New York, wanted in that city for stealing diamonds. Cohen's attorney applied for a writ of habeas corpus on the ground that extradition had been made illegally, no warrant being in existence at the time. Cohen was arrested August 27th and the warrant issued next day, on which he has since been held. Judge Mathieu held that even if the arrest was illegal the interests of justice required that it should be made when it was, and that the absence of a warrant was not of sufficient importance to justify the prisoner's release in view of the gravity of the crime with which he is charged. If the extradition commission granted the writ, Cohen's counsel could apply for a writ of habeas corpus, and the question could be decided on its merits. The decision is directly opposite to that of Judge Caron's at Quebec in the Gaynor-Greene case.

COAL AND STEEL BARONS.

MONTREAL, Sept. 4.—The directors of the Dominion Iron and Steel Co. met today and completed final arrangements for taking over the property of the Dominion Coal Co., capital $2,000,000. A check for $1,200,000, being the rental for the past nine months on this basis, was handed over to the coal company. The directors of the steel company declared a dividend of 3 1/2 per cent. on the company's preferred stock for the half year. The directors of the coal company also met and declared a dividend of four per cent. for the half year. H. M. Whitney of Boston, until a short time ago president and managing director of both companies, attended both meetings.

LIKE FATHER, LIKE SON.

"I'm determined to call the dear little fellow Marion," said Mrs. Henpeck. "But think, my dear," protested Mr. Henpeck, "if he should grow up, like me, to marry a—strong woman and push a baby coach himself and wash dishes, how easy it would be for people to change Marion to Mary Ann."—Philadelphia Press.

CHILDREN IN THE SCHOOLS.

Should Be Examined as to Health in the Primary Grades.

"In the training of our children in the schools we must realize we are training not only the parents and citizens of the future, but the possible teacher as well, and there should be the greatest care in securing, as far as possible, good material in the different grades and also in maintaining, so far as we can, the physical health of both the boys and girls," writes Dr. Julia Holmes Smith, in The Pilgrim. Continuing she says: "And just here I would urge most strongly the physical examination of the children who are admitted to our primary grades. They come from homes many times where the relations of the eye and condition of the ear are not considered in any fashion; the obtuseness of the child being set down to stupidity or inattention, and instead of having a doctor come and see what is the matter with the little one, who falls to find the pair of spectacles which he was sent to search for, or who sits indifferent to the tinkle of the door bell which he had been told to answer, the small person has a box on the ear, which may intensify the progressive deafness, or he may be sent into a dark closet to cry and make his eyes very much worse when the light is restored. It seems to me that at the entrance to the primary school a physician well versed in child study should go over carefully our future citizen, find out the nerve force by his grip, examine eyes and ears, make measure of the height, weight and lung expansion, and then send to the parents suggestions as to the diet, exercise and general environments."

MORE MEN TEACHERS NEEDED.

So That the Boys May Have Some One to Emulate.

"One point I wish to make, which is that we have more male teachers in our schools," writes Dr. Julia Holmes Smith in The Pilgrim in the course of an article on the "Hygiene of the School Room." "There should be some encouragement given to young men to become instructors in our public schools. There are comparatively few, and the children need the influence of their daring, earnestness and high ideals. The men chosen for teachers should not be neurotic specimens in whom the feminine element predominates, but virile, large minded fellows, fond of athletics, even addicted to races and who should be adapted to baseball, tennis, wrestling and even masters of the fells."

"So the boys and girls, while admiring the intellect of their teacher, will strive to grow like him in strength. Such an object lesson in every school house and the possibility of pupils in different classes coming in contact with such robust culture must necessarily be a benefit to the race."

MR. HATHWAY'S POSITION.

Accepts the Nomination of the St. John Trades and Labor Council.

In reply to a Sun reporter last evening, W. Frank Hathway said:

Yes, I have been officially notified that the Trades and Labor Council has nominated me as their candidate, and I am pleased at this expression of their confidence. If the opposition convention which will meet in September or October, decide to put my name on their ticket I will be glad, if elected, to do all I can to advance the trade interests of the city and province, to guard against granting unwarranted concessions, and I will also try to secure legislation in aid of the labor interests of the city and county."

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.

An interesting service was held at St. John's church on Wednesday afternoon, when a set of prayer books for the desk and communion table were presented to the rector by the churchwardens for the use of the parish.

After the first portion of the service had been read from the old volume, a short address was delivered by Rev. J. de Soyres, in which he dwelt upon the fact that change was inseparable from human things, and that even in the venerable book of Common Prayer the accession of a new Sovereign involved alteration. The churchwardens then presented the new volumes to the rector and received back the old ones from his hands. The service was concluded by the General Thanksgiving and collect of St. Chrysostom read from the newly presented book. The books came from the famous University Press of Cambridge and are of smaller size than was formerly the custom. The typography represents the very highest achievement of the printer's art.

The rector of St. John's church has received leave of absence from the vestry to attend the annual Congress of the Church of England, held this year in the city of Northampton, and commencing the 7th of October. He will also represent the diocese of Fredericton at the Conference of the Society of Sacred Studies, which meets at the Church House in London. His place will be occupied during his absence by the Rev. James Roy, D. D., of Niagara Falls.

A PRELIMINARY MEETING.

About forty opponents of the local government met last evening at the York Theatre to take some preliminary steps in the approaching provincial campaign. C. B. Lockhart was called to the chair, and J. A. Sinclair was secretary. There was a free and informal expression of opinion, after which it was resolved that Mr. Hazen be authorized to summon at an early date a meeting or convention of opponents of the Tweedie government for the nomination of candidates.

Among those who addressed the meeting were J. D. Hazen, M. P. F., Mr. Lockhart, W. F. Hathway, George V. McInerney, ex-Mayor Daniel, Aldermen Macrae, Baxter and Maxwell, M. McDade, George A. Blair, Thomas Kitcham, S. D. Scott, M. E. Agar, Colonel Armstrong, John E. Wilson, L. P. D. Tilley, J. E. Cowan and Michael Kelly, secretary of the Ship Laborers' Union.

A question arose whether the convention would be summoned to nominate two candidates to form with Mr. Hathway and Mr. McInerney the full opposition ticket, or whether the four candidates should call for the nomination of four candidates. While it seemed to be the unanimous desire of those present that the labor candidates should form part of the opposition ticket, it was considered that the meeting had no authority to deal with that question, and that the convention should be called to nominate four candidates.

Mr. Hathway and Mr. McInerney expressed their willingness to abide by the action of the full opposition convention, explaining that they had already made it clear to the trades and labor council that they could only run as opponents of the government.

Mr. Kelly explained to the meeting the grounds on which the Ship Laborers' Union and other associations opposed the government, describing the various breaches of faith and acts of injustice which had brought about this want of confidence.

In the course of his remarks Mr. Hazen delivered a message from William Shaw, M. P. F., who was unable to be present, but was ready to go into the contest as an outside supporter of an opposition ticket, which he would prefer to do, or as a candidate if he were urgently needed in that capacity.

The applause of the meeting made it evident that Mr. Shaw was desired as a candidate.

At the close of the meeting a resolution was adopted expressing sympathy with Dr. Stockton and the hope of his restoration to health.

CAMP DUFFERIN.

Yesterday morning the companies of the R. C. G. A. in camp at Fort Dufferin had practice with the aiming tube and galling ammunition from the 6 p. m. guns at the miniature targets. The practice was very interesting. In the afternoon a portion of the competitive practice with the 6 p. m. was carried out. The 12 p. m. will soon be fitted up and the practice with these guns completed. Two detachments from the 3rd Regiment C. A. will march into camp at 10 a. m. on Monday next. These will be from Nos. 3 and 4 companies. On Wednesday next Nos. 1 and 2 companies send in their detachments. During the week the 4th Regiment, P. E. I. send in four detachments, making the average camp for next week about 200 men.
