LOCAL NEWS

Ten per cent. saved if you order your fall suit or overcoat in August at Pidgeon's, corner Bridge and Main Sts.

Miss Justina Roderick arrived home on the steamer Calvin Austin this morning after an extended visit to New York and Boston and other American cities.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward White, 105 British street, will have the funeral of many friends in the death of their little daughter, which occurred on Wednesday. The funeral was held yesterday, burial being in the Methodist ground. Rev. Mr. Hagan officiated.

The steamer Calvin Austin reached port and docked at 2 1/2 o'clock this morning. The boat carried two hundred and seventy-five passengers. The trip was not marked by any special incidents. Already hundreds of state-rooms have been booked for the return trip of the Austin. She leaves for Boston tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock, and will carry away a record number of passengers. Aboard the Austin this morning there was a large freight.

The Natural History Society will hold its last fall meeting of the season tomorrow afternoon at Mr. W. F. Burdett's residence, Crouchville. These meetings are open to members of the society and their visiting friends. Those who intend to be present will kindly notify the curator, (phone 2314), or Mr. Burdett as early as possible so that conveyance may be provided for the required number. Bookboards will leave the museum at 2 p. m.

When C. Bruce McDougall was last before the court a local newspaper in reporting the case stated that Geo. Meahan of Moncton had called on Meahan in his store on Union street on business connected with Free Speech. Mr. Meahan who was very indignant that his name should be mentioned in the matter and it is reported, has retained Geo. W. Fowler of St. John with the intention of taking steps to clean up the matter. According to the counsel for Mr. McDougall Meahan was not the party referred to and his name was published entirely in error.

It has been the custom heretofore that the city turned over $4,000 on October first to the society to defray the expense of maintaining the park. However, when the estimates for 1909 were made up, the grant was divided in half, only $2,000 being given to the association. Improvements were necessarily discontinued and the society was forced to proceed economically with all branches of the work. The salaries of the attendants with the cost of the gates, roads and the animals can readily be imagined. The park, however, is in a fairly good condition. A few new walks have recently been opened and visitors will find a charming spot to spend a few hours.

Until the Street Railway extends its line to the park, the beauties of Rockwood will hardly be fully appreciated. The Railway Company in consultation with members of the Horticultural Society, decided that upon the completion of the Navy Island bridge, the line should be extended to the park. When the bridge is completed, it is claimed, the company will be better able to attend to the Rockwood Park route. The society feels that it will be some time yet before the electric cars will run to the park.

General matters relative to the prevention and cure of tuberculosis were discussed last evening at a meeting of the commission in the Barrow House at Fredericton.

The commissioners expressed their views upon the methods which would help to stamp out the disease from New Brunswick. Further meetings will be held in a report will be drafted for the Government.

Dr. McIntosh of this city, presided at the meeting and there were also present: Drs. Botford, Moncton; Inspector J. McLaughlin; Mr. J. H. Robertson, Keswick; Rankine, Woodstock, and Burke, Oromocto.

The matter of the distribution of literature on the subject of tuberculosis was also talked of. Definite action will be taken until the report to the Government has been made.

Dr. McIntosh informed the Star today that the commission would investigate fully the best methods to cope with the disease. There will be several sessions.

STILL ANOTHER OF THE GOVENEY FAMILY

Getrode is in Jail Now on the Charge of Stealing—One Drunk Fined

James Boyd, who only regained his liberty yesterday morning, was again in the toils last night, and faced the magistrate this morning on charges of drunkenness and resisting the police.

Boyd pleaded not guilty, and William Crawford, who made the arrest, was sworn. He stated that last night he saw prisoner fighting with his wife on Brunelles street, both being very drunk. He tried to quiet them but without avail and arrested both.

While bringing them to the lockup Boyd kicked and fought so hard that witness had to let the woman go.

Boyd was fined $5 or thirty days for being drunk and $16 or two months for resisting the police.

Getrode Covey, another of the family who has figured prominently in police circles lately, was brought up on a charge of stealing $5 from George Whitteck on the 26th inst.

This youthful offender is only ten years old, and after being clobbered with the magistrate for several minutes she was taken to the guard room until witnesses arrive.

PRINTER IDENTIFIES BRUCE MACDOUGALL

As Man for Whom He Published Free Speech.

Magistrate Would Admit Evidence in Lay Foundation for Suits in Every County—Another Issue Yesterday.

The evidence of his printer and publisher was introduced today in the preliminary hearing of Bruce McDougall charged with libel, for the purpose of showing the connection of the latter with the paper, Free Speech.

All the available space in the police court was filled with a curious throng of men and boys this morning, when the hearing was resumed. Aid. J. B. M. Baxter appeared for the prosecution and A. J. B. Mellish of Charlottetown, E. E. L. and J. C. Sherrin of Moncton appeared for the defence.

The prisoner was well groomed and appeared quite at ease. When he entered the courtroom he remarked to his lawyers: "I don't know whether you would call this fame or notoriety."

Wm. J. McNeill, the manager of the Newcastle Advocate, was on the stand nearly all morning, being called by the prosecution for the purpose of proving the connection of C. Bruce McDougall with Free Speech. He identified the prisoner as the man with whom he had made arrangements regarding the publication and said that all the papers printed were sent to him. Considerable time was spent describing the methods by which he received the copy. He could only give part of the names of one correspondent—Herbert Rice, Ross or Rowe of Campbellton.

Chas. M. Lingley was called to identify an envelope as one of 2,000 addressed to McDougall which he had printed for Meahan's use.

Chief of Police Geo. H. Rideout of Moncton was in the court, assisting the lawyers for the prosecution.

NO DECISION ON THE SANATORIUM SITE

Doctors Had Lengthy Session Last Evening

Will Visit the Locations Proposed—Various Matters of Importance Were Discussed.

Doctors of the commission consisting of Doctors D'Amor, Rankine and McAvaney, entered a report in the commission in the matter of a site for the erection of a sanatorium. It told of visits to several proposed sites, and the advantages of each place.

Walton, Keswick Ridge and places between Wolfville and Fredericton Junction were spoken of, but the commissioners did not reach a decision.

The suggestion that the commission should inspect the proposed sites in a body was adopted.

The matter of the distribution of literature on the subject of tuberculosis was also talked of. Definite action will be taken until the report to the Government has been made.

Dr. McIntosh informed the Star today that the commission would investigate fully the best methods to cope with the disease. There will be several sessions.

DOING THEIR BEST WITH LIMITED FINANCES

Horticultural Society and the Work at Rockwood—No Car Line Until Navy Island Bridge is Built

In order that St. John's beauty spot—Rockwood Park—might be maintained, the Horticultural Society has received advance notice from the city of $2,000 grant from the Common Council.

The funds are being appropriated to repair the walks and roads, as well as to keep the lake and gardens in order. The society is having a hard time, with limited funds, to keep the park in good shape.

It has been the custom heretofore that the city turned over $4,000 on October first to the society to defray the expense of maintaining the park. However, when the estimates for 1909 were made up, the grant was divided in half, only $2,000 being given to the association.

Improvements were necessarily discontinued and the society was forced to proceed economically with all branches of the work. The salaries of the attendants with the cost of the gates, roads and the animals can readily be imagined. The park, however, is in a fairly good condition.

A few new walks have recently been opened and visitors will find a charming spot to spend a few hours.

Until the Street Railway extends its line to the park, the beauties of Rockwood will hardly be fully appreciated. The Railway Company in consultation with members of the Horticultural Society, decided that upon the completion of the Navy Island bridge, the line should be extended to the park.

When the bridge is completed, it is claimed, the company will be better able to attend to the Rockwood Park route. The society feels that it will be some time yet before the electric cars will run to the park.
