NATURE'S SPRING MEDICINES. Many of Them Prove Very Pleasant to Take. That it is necessary to take a little medto which we are attached, without questioning ourselves much as to the reason why. The precise kind of medicine taken depends largely upon family tradition; some place their reliance on one remedy, some on another. Nature, whose remedies are not given perfunctorily, brings out her materia medica in due course, and ad-ministers her doses, disguising them in a pleasant fashion.

One of the first and best of her remedies, presumably given to cure rashes and all ills that arise from impurity of the blood, is watercress. When we find the bronzed variety we know that her dose of sulphur and iron, not to mention the phosphates, anter way can we have of taking these than as a crisp relish to bread and butter, as a sandwich, a salad or as a sauce to roast mutton?. And if anyone knows not watercress some they have a still the salar of boiled custard, nicely flavored. Boil vet to discover.

Mustard and cress, spring onions and over it the hot custard and serve. nettle tops-soidisant spinach-or a dande-lion salad. Yet in these we should get taraxacum, for the cure of dyspepsia and for the correction of appetite and taste, as well as the remedy for that troublesome eruption called the nettlerash-the cure indicated in the name. Spring cabbage never fails to receive a cordial welcome from all, and though there is hardly any other vegetable which in its growth impoverishes the soil of the garden, there are few others from which ification of the blood. Onions are one of the finest nerve tonics we have, and if spring onions are chopped and spread between slices of bread and butter they form a sandwich that if eaten-at supper time will do a great deal to-ward insuring a good night's sleep. Plenty of onions should be found in a spring salad, even though eating them isolates salad, even though eating them isolates

Miss Ellen Terry's one superstition is said to be a fear of the figure three. She will not enter a hotel room numbered 3, nor a car nor a berth in a sleeping car. She will not sit three at table and declines to go on the stage by the third entrance. Once when an enthusiastic Englishman proposed three cheers for her, she put her hands to her face and ran away before the third cheer could be given. A new singer has just joined the ranks of the revivalists. A niece of the secretary of the U. S. navy has decided to use her voice, which is wonderfully rich, in con-nection with evangelical work.
