TRIAL PROVES ITS EXCELLENCE.
The best testimonial one can have of the virtue of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil in the treatment of bodily pains, coughs, colds and affections of the respiratory organs, is a trial of it. It not only cures the ailment, but it is reputed to be, then it may be rejected as useless and all that has been said in its praise denounced as untrueful.

CRINAN.

Mrs. Mary Johnson, wife of the late Hugh Johnson, and her son Neil are visiting friends here. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson and family went West several years ago, where they made a success of farming. Mr. Johnson, who was one of Crinan's most highly respected pioneer settlers, died in the West several years ago. His sons, Neil, Hugh and Arthur, are all highly respected and successful citizens of Alberta.

Have you tried Holloway's Corn Cure? It has no equal for removing these troublesome excrescences, as many have testified who have tried it.

Newbury

Mrs. J. W. Webster, of Melville, Sask., very kindly sang in Knox church on Sunday. Her voice has lost none of its old time sweetness and delighted the people. Mrs. Webster and children are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Fletcher.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. McVicar, of Regina, spent a few days at "Ingleside" this week. Mrs. McVicar is not at all well, suffering with throat affection for which she will take treatment in London.

The death occurred on January fifth of his late residence in Newbury of Reuben Scott. He was eighty-five years of age and was born in Benbrook county. The funeral was held on Friday from the Methodist church in Newbury to Johnston cemetery. The services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Hamment. In politics he was a staunch Liberal.—Com.

The new council met on Monday and transacted considerable business. Following are the officers for 1916: Clerk, C. Tucker; treasurer, D. Stalker; assessor, C. A. Blain; auditor, A. Pennell, jr., and E. Connelly; medical health officer, Dr. A. P. Owens; board of health, D. McVicar; janitor, truant officer, black knot inspector, nuisance inspector, J. D. Woods; pound keeper, W. H. Jeffery. The council has not been appointed as yet.

Worms, by the irritation that they cause in the stomach and intestines, deprive infants of the nourishment that they should derive from food, and mal-nutrition is the result. Miller's Worm Powders destroy worms and correct the morbid conditions in the stomach and bowels that are favorable to worms, so that the full nutriment of the child is assured and development in every way encouraged.

BETHEL.

Harry Galbraith spent a day in London last week.

We are all pleased to see Cyrus Henry feeling better and around again.

A very pleasant evening was spent at the home of T. B. Irwin when a number of friends and neighbors assembled to pay their respects to his son Ernest before his leaving for London to take up further training. The evening was spent in games, Wm. Down, who ably filled the chair, was called upon. Patriotic addresses were given by Ed. McAlpine and others; songs were rendered by Miss Rosetta Lotan, of London, and a chorus by a few young people of Mackville was enjoyed very much, after which Pte. Ernest Irwin was called upon to come forward, and a complimentary address was read and the presentation made to him of a ring and pin. Lunch was then served by the ladies, and after the National Anthem was sung all went home feeling that they had spent a very pleasant evening.

SIGNALS OF DANGER.—Have you lost your appetite? Have you a coated tongue? Have you an unpleasant taste in your mouth? Does your head ache and have you a dizziness? If so, your stomach is out of order and you need medicine. But you do not like medicine. He that prefers sickness to medicine must suffer, but under the circumstances the wise man would procure a box of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills and speedily get himself in health, and strive to keep so.

RAISING RAZORS.

Canada Has Contributed 1,500 Razors for Soldiers.

Kitchener wants a million razors. Canada so far has contributed 1,500.

Kitchener requested the master cutter of Sheffield to find him a million razors for the use and comfort of the boys in Flanders. The master cutter sent on a request to Mr. Thomas B. Lee, a Toronto wholesale hardware merchant, to collect all the unused razors in Canada. The campaign has only been on for a few days, but already in the offices of Mr. Lee 1,500 razors are piled, which have come from Westville, Nova Scotia, and from Grand Forks, British Columbia, and one, a wonderful old razor made by hand out of a steel file and fitted with a handle of maple, came from a trapper's cabin in the far north!

All in a week's campaign! But this week, Mr. Lee expects to double or treble the number. And when he has 5,000 he is going to pack them out and ship them to the master cutter of Sheffield.

"Say," says Mr. Lee, "razors are like pipes. A man is forever seeing a new razor he likes the look of, and he buys it, and never throws the old one away. So that in the bureau drawers of Canada there are thousands of razors just waiting to get to the trenches in Flanders."

Send your razors to Mr. Lee, 30 Front street east, Toronto. A bit of brown paper and parcels post does the trick.

A shave, like a smoke, greatly relieves and comforts the man in the trench. Every man knows how a good clean shave perks him up and makes him feel fit. The effect is the same on the man in the trench, and we can count one German for every shave.

Now, the city of Sheffield, Eng., where razors are made, is denuded of men. In battalions the men of Sheffield now deal with softer but deadlier metals than steel. But the old men still keep the factories going, and it is to these men that the unused and discarded razors will go to be sharpened and touched up as good as new to be distributed to the fighters in Flanders.

Hardly a city in Canada but has sent its offering to Mr. Lee. Winnipeg sends word that 600 razors are on the way. A splendid patriot of Seattle, C. W. sends his regrets that he cannot fight on account of his age, "but enclosed please find three and three-quarters dozen razors from my shelves."

A Vancouver firm has collected scores of razors. One lady of a Western Ontario city sent two dozen brand new razors, still in their original packing, which must have cost between $35 and $50. The big factories, offices, and stores are depuiling one of their staff to collect all the discarded razors in the establishment.

Safety razors are not wanted, for the reason that the old-style razor can be stropped by the soldier on his belt and so kept in good condition.

Among the razors sent in are some wonderful old pieces. There is that home-made one, ground out of a file, spoken of before. There is one very old one with a bone handle, and a thin, narrow blade, made in the time of Queen Anne, and which has shaven many a ruffled and bewigged dandy of olden days. There is one with a genuine tortoise-shell handle, with which came a card finely inscribed in an old-fashioned script—"Used by a soldier in the Crimea."

That ought to bring luck to its future wielder. There is another one, a Chinese razor, bearing Chinese lettering stamped on the blade.

All razors are welcome. The old men of Sheffield will put them right and the comfort they will be to the boys in France cannot be estimated.

Hallam the Amateur.

Douglas Hallam, wounded in action against the Turks a few days ago, is remembered her almost as much for his amateur interest in the stage as for any of his other random, restless exploits. Hallam took part in one of the Press Club productions some years ago, wrote parts of the performance, had usually up his sleeve some scenario for a new play of an unconventional sort, and was usually looking round for some chance to show his peculiar ability. When he was a reporter on a Toronto newspaper, which he became just for the experience, he always had some novel way of wanting to do an assignment. When he took up with camera work he blew one of his hands nearly to smithereens with flashlight powder. At the University he was always seething with some protest. When he went into business he always seemed to hate it. When he took up with flying it was because he was weary of routine and wanted a new sensation. His enlistment in the Navy was as a flying-man. Before he gets through with the war Lt. Hallam will have accumulated enough new experiences to last him a while, and may settle down in Toronto to do something that won't leave him eternally dissatisfied.

Gold in Saskatchewan.

A promising and alluring gold strike in the Canadian North-West is reported to the south-east of Lake Athabasca. The excitement dates back to a year ago, when a good deal was heard about the Beaver Lake deposits of rich, free gold. Beaver Lake is something over a hundred miles beyond Le Pas, from which point it is reached by steamer and portage. For a time men went in at the rate of a hundred a week, but the excitement wore down, partly because of the difficulty in getting the ore out to where it could be mailed. Assays of the Beaver Lake ore ran high, however, and there seems to be little doubt that in that district there is as genuine golden wealth as there is silver wealth around Lake Athabasca. Development is going on this summer on some of the claims staked out last year.
