

WATERLOO NEWS RECORD

The Evangelical Church was crowded on both occasions yesterday when special services were held in commemoration of Mothers Day and the dedication of their new pastor Rev. S.E. Schreder. Mothers Day has always been the occasion for special efforts to bring the mothers, especially the older ones out and also the little children and on this day autos are provided to bring them to church and to take them home. The weather was unfavorable yesterday morning the autos were the means of greatly swelling the attendance the sacred edifice being crowded in the morning.

The exercises which were in charge of the Sunday School scholars were held in the Church proper and were indeed fitting to the occasion. Particularly notable was the graduating exercise, the little tots of 3 years of age, the Credo Roll being made members of the beginners class the same taking place on a platform suitably decorated.

The program apart from a few remarks by the new pastor consisted of two recitations, "I love you Mother" by Miss Moody Both and "Do it Now" by Violet Wignall, and a beautiful Anthem by the choir entitled "My Sainted Mothers Songs" the solo part being taken by Miss Harlett Bruhaver.

Prizes were also distributed for most faithful attendance during the past year four attaining first for attending every service and eight for only being absent on one occasion.

At the Evening Service the pastor preached his inaugural sermon the church being crowded to the doors.

Next Friday a reception will be tendered Rev. and Mrs. Schreder in the Library Hall.

FIREMEN HAD RUN
The firemen were called out last night about 10:30 o'clock in answer to a call from Box 42. A lighted oil stove in one of the rooms in the Alexander House in some way was upset and a hurried call was sent to the Department.

The brigade made a quick response and the flames were extinguished by the use of chemicals. The damage was slight.

OBITUARY

MR. JACOB BRANDT

Another of Waterloo's well known citizens was called to join the silent majority yesterday morning about 5 o'clock when Mr. Jacob Brandt passed away at his home Foundry Street at the age of 51 years 7 months and 28 days.

Last fall the deceased suffered an attack of influenza and while he was able to be up and around and partly attend to his duties he never fully recovered and the past few weeks he has been confined to the house and while his death was not unexpected it will come as a great shock to his many friends.

The deceased was born in Waterloo being a son of the late Joseph Brandt and as his whole life was spent here he was well and favorably known. For a number of years he conducted a hardware shop of his own and the last few years he had charge of the shop of Mr. C.E. Fecho. In all lines of work he took a great interest and his kind and jolly disposition made him friends with all whom he came in contact.

To mourn his sad demise there are left the surviving widow and one son and one daughter and to them goes out her sympathy of the community in their hour of sorrow.

There also survive one brother Henry of Hamilton and three sisters viz: Mrs. Herb McManus Hamilton, Mrs. Fred White, Galt, and Mrs. Adam Hugelsh, Kitchener.

The funeral will leave his late residence on Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock to St. Louis R.C. Church and thence to the R.C. Cemetery for interment.

MRS. PETER DEERING DIED THIS MORNING

Another of Waterloo's highly esteemed and respected residents died this morning about 5 o'clock, after an illness extending over a period of several months, of Pauline Schendelmeyer, beloved wife of Mr. Peter Deering at the age of 64 years and 2 months.

The deceased was born in Wootch with township and was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Schendelmeyer.

For many years she has been a resident of Waterloo and her kind and loving disposition and true Christian character endeared her to a host of friends who will regret to learn of her passing away.

To mourn her loss there are left tried successfully at the front since 1914. One which had given a good service under the Union Jack as well as under the Stars and Stripes, 3,000 being used by the former and 8,000 by the United States government.

"I agree heartily with what the Judge has said, when he referred to the expression of humanity in this war. That expression was stimulated by your boys and our boys, who went over there to fight for me, for you and all. Now that they are coming back it is up to us to do something for them," he remarked.

Local Directing.
Regarding the new industry that is to be started here Mr. Olen said: "It comes here on the basis which allows it to be handled and directed by local men. There will thus be that opportunity for home boys and men to grow up with it and advance, which is so desirable. The development then depends upon the efforts that your men will put in. With this granted success was assured. In conclusion Mr. Olen said that it was fitting the trucks also be made on the city on the sandhills and in the country of His Majesty the King."

Other Speakers.
Others who were called on to speak on behalf of the company were Mr. Charles Folkmann, the vice president of the company, and proprietor of the Folkmann Departmental Store in Clintonville; D. J. Rohrer, treasurer of the company, residing in Clintonville; Frank Gause, secretary of the Company Senator A. Kuchuk of Shawano, who remarked: "We would surely have to be devoid of all sense of appreciation if we did not appreciate this welcome here tonight. Reference has been made here of the entwining of the flags. I really feel that Canada and the United States are like one, and they should always be entwined."

Mr. W. A. Holt, head of the Holt Lumber Company of Oconto remarked that the company's Board of Directors consisted of men of various callings, manufacturers, merchants, lawyers, lumbermen and priests he added. He said that one of the latter was present, A. W. Priest. The latter, when called on thanked the chairman for the request. Mr. Charles Hagen, manager of the Eagle Manufacturing Company, Appleton, manufacturers of farm tractors, when producers, was impressed with the city. "Although I think it is just a little behind Appleton," he added.

The Local Managing Director.
Mr. Joseph D. Cotton who will be the managing director of the local company and who will make periodical visits here stated that it was on last January the twenty-eighth that the shareholders voted to build a Canadian plant. A committee was appointed to look over various cities and towns. Twenty or more cities were visited and here Mr. Cotton was particularly impressed with the city. He was absolutely sure of his ground and argument because he knew that his report would be followed up by the Board. "I hope to see you often in the future," he concluded.

Mr. Henry Nyberg who will direct the local operations was called upon. He said the pleasure on this occasion was all his. It was a particular gratification to him after his personal negotiations to see the company locate here. As to the future it was now up to him to sell the commodity of the company and therefore to get busy.

Mr. J. J. Cass was called upon. He was well impressed with the company and their plant which was featured by good business methods and accuracy in manufacture. When they were there twelve hundred men were employed. One feature which was noticed was the similarity between the people of Clintonville and this city.

Mr. S. J. Williams spoke briefly. He referred to the fact that his company was one of those which had come to this city from the other side and had been successful. After hearing Mr. Olen it was evident that a great responsibility had been put on this city. A regards the development of the industry they had bet on the moral risk rather than on the financial side. It was therefore up to the city to help them and cooperate with them.

Mr. A. R. Caspary, manager of the Canadian Blower and Forge Company, stated that they had never regretted the movement from Montreal to this city. The removal from there was on account of a better labor situation here. They had been here five years. And they were glad they had come.

Mr. W. F. Bass was sorry the directors could not stay here to live in the city. The real sentiment of the people could not be learned unless one lived here he remarked. He most important feature in the industrial life of this city was the cooperation between the men and employers. Many a man who once worked at the trade had been able to get started for himself through this co-operation and had made a success; he himself being one of those who had the good luck to get started. In conclusion he again emphasized the fact that one had to reside here in order to learn something about the people.

Mr. W. D. Euler, M.P., and Mr. C. H. Mills, M.P.P. were called on but both had already left the hour being late.

Mr. E. O. Weber of the collegiate Institute Board and the Advisory Industrial Committee referring to industrial education said the city was not overlooking industrial education but was planning for a technical school and a new collegiate institute, which would be created in the near future. Facilities were thus assured for proper industrial education in the city.

Mr. J. H. Baetz and Mr. L. McBrine, who were called on, said that this city was one of the best for the manufacture of nine different products in the country. "The coming of the F.W.D. truck will be the beginning of making it the centre for the truck manufacturing industry," he remarked amidst applause.

The singing of the national anthem concluded the program.

ANNUAL MEETING HELD YESTERDAY

A SUCCESSFUL TWELFTH MONTH CLOSING BY CONGREGATION

The service in the First English Lutheran Church were well attended notwithstanding the unfavorable weather. The pastor occupied the pulpit as both services. In the morning he spoke on The First Gift from 1 Cor. 8:3. The evening discourse was from Prov. 30:18: subject Four Hard Questions Viz: (1) How can a man profess to believe in God and yet never pray. (2) How can a man profess to believe in God and yet reject the Gospel of Christ. (3) How can a man profess to believe in God and yet reject the Scriptures. (4) How can a man profess to believe in God and yet hold himself aloof from the church.

Despite inclement weather Mothers Day in Churches Well Attended.
Mothers Day was generally observed in the City yesterday and in spite of the unfavorable weather the churches of the different denominations held large congregations.

Services suitable to the occasion were delivered in the auspicious occasion.

Trinity Methodist
At Trinity Methodist Church the pulpit was occupied by Rev. J. W.

COOLEY OF STONEY CREEK

who delivered a fitting and appropriate discourse both morning and evening. At the morning service he took as his text, Blessed are the poor in spirit for they shall see God and in the evening he spoke on the Church and Social Reforms. Large congregations attended both services.

At all the other churches in the city large congregations joined in the commemorating of Mothers Day. From all the pulpits the message went out to honor and respect the dearest friend on earth. And many of the discourses were sympathetic and full of love.

The little white flower emblematic of the occasion could be seen on all sides. It was one of the most widely observed day since its conception.

"Letters to the Editor"

Almost every day you see something in the papers or have something brought to your attention that is just the very opposite of what you think. Sometimes things are said and done that rile you, fire up your soul in anger and injure your sense of justice and truth.

It is a good thing that there are things to rile you. They set you thinking, they bring out what is in you. Even if you don't express your feelings to others, you get a little refreshment from it; but you SHOULD express your opinions to others, you should come out with your views. The public press is an ideal medium to carry your thoughts, you will find. The London Free Press throws open its columns to its readers for their discussion and views.

Under the caption, "Letters To the Editor," you will find, day by day, discussions that will interest you, discussions that you are invited to take part in, discussions that have a wide following of readers—the better class of readers in Western Ontario. Sometimes it is a letter on religious principles, on daylight saving problems, on soldiers' re-establishment, or on public school and civic questions. Then there are letters from women defending their sex against attacks by unwise gentlemen, who with colossal conceit think they know all about our nation of live wire women.

Get in on these discussions. Don't hide your precious ideas behind a bushel.

Just keep this in mind. Sum up your ideas on what you want to write. If it is a protest against somebody or something, wait until you are quite cool and then put across your argument or your defense sanely. Try to look at the question from the other man's angle. Try to make your letter of general interest. Be sure to say something—and say it in as few words as possible.

There are only two strict rules to follow. First, write on one side of the paper only. Second, and most important, sign your name and give address, not necessarily for publication, but just as an assurance of good faith. Your letter, if it is deemed of interest by the editor, will be published under any penname you desire.
