

flourishing condition, and a fine crop of youngsters will in a short time be ready to offer for sale.

Mr. G. Hindmarsh, of Ailsa Craig, Ont., has about a hundred head of fine Shropshires, comprising a good crop of lambs, among which are a number of early ones of the showing kind. Mr. Hindmarsh will be prepared to fill orders for choice breeding stock of any age.

Mr. F. H. Neil, of Lucan, Ont., reports a flourishing business in Lincoln sheep and Shorthorn cattle. As usual, he intends to make heavy shipments to the Western States this fall, and is prepared either to buy or sell anything choice in the sheep line.

One of the popular horsemen of Middlesex county is Mr. John Courtney, of Lucan, Ont. A horseman of known integrity, judgment and business ability, he has always been to the front in the horse business and has owned some of the best breeding horses in that locality, among others the noted and popular breeding stallion, Joe Anderson, was brought in by him. At the present time he has two good ones at service, Olympus, winner of first prize and reserve championship at the Toronto Spring Show this year, a get of the Baron's Pride stallion Up To Time. He is a big, drafty stallion of fine proportion and quality, and good style and action.

Low Lynn, a fine thick-set black three-year-old, sired by the McGregor horse, Montrose Dauntless, is also a colt of great promise. The pair were purchased from Messrs. Smith & Richardson and are giving the most entire satisfaction.

Mr. J. W. King, of Bluevale, Ont., is one of our western horsemen who can be credited with nerve enough to invest in the right kind of breeding horses. His Baron's Pride stallion mascot, champion at this year's Toronto Stallion Show, is one of the very few horses in that exclusive set which has ever been taken into Western Ontario. He has also another very fine drafty horse in Drumblrie Chief, winner of second place in the large string of 22 two-year-olds at the Industrial last fall. This colt is developing wonderfully and gives every promise of scaling a good deal over a ton before he finishes. Situated in the centre of one of Ontario's best horse breeding centres, these horses cannot fail to be of immense benefit to that interest.

Mr. Will Dryden, of Maple Shade Stock Farm, near Brooklyn, Ont., has just received from England a consignment of Shropshire sheep, consisting of over forty head of fine bucks and ewe lambs, specially selected by his father, the Hon. John Dryden, who is a well known in the old land. They are a splendid aggregation, and their character may be better appreciated from the fact that one of Ontario's leading importers and breeders purchased at a long price, a ram from this selected flock to head his own herd. Mr. Dryden has also on hand a large number of home-bred lambs and yearlings, bred from imported stock, which will be offered for sale. The herd of Shorthorns at Maple Shade is showing up in fine shape, and among the youngsters of this year's crop are again a number of showing beauties. There are also a number of senior bulls and heifers of the same class.
