WILSON REPLIES TO HUNS

Answers Recent Speeches of Von Hertling and Count Czernin

By Courier Leased Wire Washington, Feb. 11.—President Wilson, addressing Congress in joint session at 12.30 o'clock to-day, replied to the recent speeches by German Chancellor, von Hertling, and the Austrian foreign minister, Count Czernin.

Chancellor von Hertling's statement, the President said, was very vague and confusing and leads to practically no conclusion. It was very different in tone from Count Czernin's which, the President said, had a very friendly tone.

"Czernin seems to see the fundamental elements of peace with clear eyes and does not seek to obscure," said the President. "He probably would have gone much farther had it not been for the embarrassment of Austria's alliances and of her dependence on Germany."

Again the President reiterated that the United States was in the war and would put forth its whole strength in the war of emancipation. "The rest of whether it is possible for the belligerents to go on comparing views, the President said, was simple and obvious, and the principles to be applied, he said, were as follows:

1. Each part of the final settlement must be based upon essential justice to bring a permanent peace. 2. Peoples and provinces are not to be bartered about like chattels to establish a balance of power. 3. Territorial settlements must be for the benefit of people concerned and not merely adjustment of rival states' claims. 4. Well defined national aspirations must be conceded all possible satisfaction.

"A general peace upon such foundations can be discussed," said the President. "Until such a peace can be secured we have no choice but to go on."

These general principles, the President said, have been accepted by every one except the military autocrats in Germany. The President said that Chancellor von Hertling, in his reply of January 24th, to the addresses of the British prime minister and the president of the United States, of January 5th and January 8th, respectively, had indicated that after a settlement of round, effected by individual barter and concession, he would have no objection to a league of nations which would undertake to hold the balance of power steady against external disturbance.

"It must be evident," said the president, "to everyone who understands what this war has wrought in the opinion and temper of the world, that no general peace, no peace worth the infinite sacrifices of these years of tragical suffering, can possibly be arrived at in any such fashion. The method the German chancellor proposes is the method of the Congress of Vienna. We cannot and will not return to that. What is at stake now is the peace of the world. What we are striving for is a new international order based upon broad and universal principles of right and justice—no mere peace of shreds and patches. Is it possible that Count von Hertling does not see that, does not grasp it, is in fact living in his thoughts in a world dead and gone? "Is Count von Hertling not aware that he is speaking in the court of mankind that all the awakened nations of the world now sit in judgment on what every public man, of whatever nation, may say on the issues of a conflict which has spread to every region of the world? The Reichstag resolutions of July themselves frankly accepted the decisions of that court. There shall be no annexations, no contributions, no punitive damages. Peoples are not to be handed about from one sovereignty to another by an international conference or an understanding between rivals and antagonists. National aspirations must be respected: peoples must not be dominated or governed only by their own consent. Self-determination is not a mere phrase. It is an imperative principle of action which statesmen must not ignore at their peril. We cannot have general peace for the asking of by the mere arrangements of a peace conference. It cannot be pieced together out of individual understandings between powerful states. All the parties to this war must join in the settlement of every issue anywhere involved in it because what we are seeking is a peace that we can all unite to guarantee and maintain, and every item of it must be submitted to the common judgment whether it be right and fair, an act of justice, rather than a bargain between sovereigns. The United States has no desire to interfere in European affairs—too act as arbiter in European territorial disputes. She would disdain to take advantage of any internal weakness or disorder to impose her own will upon another people. She is quite ready to be shown that the settlements she has suggested are not the best or the most enduring. They are only her own provisional sketch of principles and of the way in which they should be applied. But she entered this war because she was made a partner, whether she would or not, in the sufferings and indignities inflicted by the military masters of Germany against the peace and security of mankind; and the conditions of peace will touch her as nearly as they will touch any other nation to which is entrusted a leadership part in the maintenance of civilization. She cannot see her way to peace until the causes of this war are removed; its renewal rendered, as nearly as may be, impossible.

HE WAS UNABLE TO WORK ALL WINTER

Takes Tanlac and is Now on the Job Again—Troubles Are Overcome

"I'm speaking from experience when I say I believe Tanlac is the finest rheumatism medicine made and I now realize what a mistake I made by not trying it long ago," Otto E. McDonagh, who made this statement, is a valued employee of the Toronto Shipbuilding Company, and lives at 91 Broadview avenue, Toronto.

"I couldn't hit a lick of work all last winter," Mr. McDonagh continued, "and I don't doubt but what I would be in the same fix yet if I hadn't taken Tanlac. The rheumatism started in my right arm, and then a year ago, later my arms and shoulders became affected and I soon became so crippled up I simply couldn't do a thing. My knee joint was so swollen and stiff I could hardly move it and my back was in such a fix that I could just barely raise my hands high enough to button my collar. My knee was swollen out on both sides terribly. I couldn't draw my leg up at all and I happened to strike against anything it would almost paralyze me for a few minutes."

"I had tried most everything, it seems to me, but two bottles of Tanlac have done me more good than all the other medicines combined. I have just started on my third bottle and I have never seen or heard of anything knocking out rheumatism like it has mine. The swelling and stiffness has almost disappeared entirely. I can raise my leg up and down without a bit of trouble and can use my arms any way I please. In fact, I haven't noticed the rheumatism at all since I finished my second bottle of Tanlac. All the men where I work know how it has helped me, for I can work every day now, and I have told them what brought me out. I bought a bottle of Tanlac just the other day for one of the boys who has rheumatism and I believe it will help him, and these are just plain facts and I will be glad to tell anybody who wished to come and see me just what Tanlac has done in my case."

Tanlac is sold in Brantford by Milton H. Robertson and Co., Ltd., in Paris by Apps Ltd., and in Mt. Vernon by A. Yeomans, and in Middleport by William Peddie.

PEACE SIGNED BY FOE WITH UKRAINE

Bolsheviki Expected to Disown Pact Made by the Rada

MAY OPEN FRONTIER

London, Feb. 11.—Joybells were rung in Berlin and there were rejoicings at Vienna over the conclusion of a separate peace with the Kiev Rada, while Trotsky, the Bolshevik Foreign Minister, was still disputing the right of that Rada to represent Ukraine at the Brest-Litovsk negotiations, and while Ukraine is still torn by civil war. Berlin officials report that the agreement was signed Saturday.

Nothing as yet disclosed concerning the terms of peace, though it is arranged, but they are supposed to include the cession of the Ruthenian portion of Galicia to Ukraine in return for some sort of Austrian dictatorship, and it is pretty sure to assume that trade and economic relations will enter largely into the new peace arrangement.

It is also rumored that the Central Powers have made an offer of military assistance to the Kiev Rada in overcoming the Bolshevik invasion. How far that invasion has been successful, or whether the Kiev Rada, representing the moderate Socialists, will be able firmly to establish its authority against the Kharkov Rada, representing the Bolsheviks, is unknown.

There is little news of the progress of the fighting in Ukraine, and so far the reported capture of the town of Mohilev and of Emsin Krylenko, the Bolshevik Commander-in-Chief, rests entirely on German reports; no confirmation is forthcoming from any Russian or independent source.

One of the first results of the new peace has been a German ultimatum aimed at forcing Roumania to take a similar step, and clearly German policy is being devoted to using peace with Ukraine as a lever to bring pressure to bear on Trotsky.

The signing of the peace has been received with greater enthusiasm at Vienna than at Berlin. This is due to the fact that it removes the menace to Austria's frontier and fulfills expectations of relief of the food situation from Ukraine grain reserves. The leaders of the Ukrainian (Bolshevik) representatives in the Austrian Parliament have sent congratulations to Emperor Charles on the signing of peace with the Ukraine, saying Vienna despatch, and expressed confidence that the approaching peace would also bring the Ukrainians of the Austro-Hungarian monarchy full national, political freedom.

NEW PASTOR AT ST. JAMES

Rev. J. H. N. Mills, Was Formerly Inducted Yesterday Morning

A large number of the Anglican Church people of Terrace Hill turned out at the induction of Rev. J. H. N. Mills, the new rector of St. James' Parish. The services were carried out under the direction of Venerable Archdeacon Mackenzie, in the absence of Archbishop Young of London, who was unable to attend on account of illness. After the Psalms 84 and 122 and the Lesson taken from Corinthians IX. 1: 17, had been read, Archdeacon Mackenzie offered the prayer: "Dear God, be pleased to send down upon us the Spirit of Thy grace, as our well-beloved Christ, John Hamilton Nixon Mills, B.A., hath been appointed and inducted into the Cure of Souls in this parish by the Bishop of the Diocese; and forasmuch as it has been the custom of the church where possible and convenient to induct such as have received the Cure of Souls into the incumbency of their parishes openly and in the presence of the people committed to their charge, we are assembled together here this day to induct the said John Hamilton N. Mills to the incumbency of this parish with all the rights and emoluments thereto belonging in and to the said Cure of Immortal Souls, so solemn and weighty a thing, let us join together in hearty prayer to Almighty God, that He would vouchsafe His blessing upon this His servant and the people committed to his charge. Let us pray."

Almighty God, giver of all good things, who by Thy Holy Spirit hast appointed divers Orders of Ministers in the Church; mercifully behold this Thy servant now called to the charge of this parish; and so replenish him with Thy truth and Thy doctrine, and adorn him with holiness of life, that, both by word and good example, he may faithfully serve Thee in this office to the glory of Thy Name, and the edification of Thy Church; through the merits of our Saviour Jesus Christ, who liveth and reigneth with Thee and the Holy Ghost now and for ever. Amen.

After the new rector's license and official certificates had been read the officials proceeded to the door of the church, where one of the church wardens presented Rev. Mr. Mills with the key of the building. At the close of the usual ceremony, Archdeacon Mackenzie gave counsel to the new rector and to the parishioners. He spoke of the great pleasure that he took in being able to carry out the services of induction of the church of which he had been the pastor. In outlining the duties of the rector, the archdeacon stated that the road straight from the Bible should be preached and not sectarianism. "Sectarianism has done to the church what revolution has done to Russia." The duties of the congregation are to cooperate with the minister in all his undertakings that will prove a benefit to the parish.

The attendance was very good and in spite of the fact that there are less than two hundred members in the Anglican Church in the Terrace Hill district, the future spells big things for St. James'.

TO FORMWAR FOOD BOARD

Reorganization of Food Controller's Department Under Consideration

Ottawa, Feb. 11.—As part of the Government's campaign for greater food production the Government has decided to reorganize the Food Board, composed of a Director of Conservation, a Director of Production, and a Director of Agricultural Labor.

It is understood that the office of Food Controller will be abolished, and the position of the minister will be transferred to the Canada Food Board.

The present Food Controller, Mr. M. H. Thomson, becomes chairman of the board and director of conservation.

It is understood that Hon. Charles Dunning, Provincial Treasurer of Saskatchewan, has agreed to accept the position of Director of Production, and that Mr. J. D. McGregor of Brandon, will be appointed Director of Agricultural Labor.

The Board will in effect be under the direction of the Department of Agriculture and under the Ministerial control of Hon. T. A. Crerar.

It is anticipated that there will be a great increase in the development of agriculture this year. Hon. Mr. Crerar has been devoting much attention to this problem ever since he returned to Ottawa after the New Year. The conference with the Ministers of Agriculture for the various Provinces, three weeks ago, was in furtherance of these plans, and it is understood that the conference of Provincial Premiers to be held this week is also for the purpose of furthering this Dominion-wide campaign of greater food production.

Rippling Rhymes

SOME FINE DAY Some fine day a man can travel over Germany and France, and no shotgun, charged with gravel, will go off and wound his pance. Once upon the tourist legions will go snooping down the Rhine, or in lofty Alpine regions pay good coin for rotten wine. We shall tread the pavement Roman road along the Appian Way, and behold no charging foeman, some fine day, some fine day. When they've stopped this beauty-quarrel we can sail the ocean green, nor be sent down to the coral by a cheap tin submarine. We can sit in quiet arbors drinking coffee Viennese, or be snayed by British barbers with their rusty snicker-knives. We can watch the Danube river when the dawn is glowing pink; and eat sausage made of liver in a gashouse on its brink. Unrestricted we can wander when the war is done away; we can travel here and yonder, some fine day, some fine day. Here at home we are remaining, while we just go around; there where kluge and stakes are reigning, we would like to blow our wad. We must stay, for death is tearing, seeking victims on the foam; what a heavy cross we're bearing. If it flowing still in torrents, and the torrents bar our way; but we'll go to Cork and Florence, some fine day, some fine day.
