

CARRYING OF FIRE ARMS.

Grand Jury Condemns the Too Prevalent Practice

And Recommends More Severe Penalty For the Offense.

Criticism of Some of the Police Magistrate's Sentences.

A feature of the grand jury's presentation to Chief Justice Meredith at noon to-day was the recommendation that a more severe penalty be imposed for the carrying of firearms. A number of other matters of interest were touched upon. The presentation was as follows.

"We desire to thank you for the clear and well-defined explanation of our duties in your opening address. From the fact that you impressed us with the importance of our duties, we sincerely believe that we have given our very best attention to your instructions.

We were very much pleased to find but one criminal case on our list, and in which we found a true bill.

Your jurors, in view of the many startling occurrences of late, would recommend a much severer penalty for carrying firearms.

When visiting the jail we found the officials very courteous in giving all information asked for. We found the food to be first class, and everything in the cleanest condition possible.

On questioning many of the prisoners at the treatment received at the hands of the officials, all appeared well satisfied. All told 46 (males 40, females 6); 4 waiting for trial; 2 found, however, waiting medical examination for insanity, old men who should be in a house of refuge instead of a jail.

We are of the opinion that some cases dealt with by the Police Magistrate would stand a little more consideration, for instance, one old man, aged 73, for a very slight offence, was fined eleven dollars or two months in jail. We believe that, in this case a slight sentence had been imposed this man would have left this city long ago and gone to work.

As to your lordship's observations on the confining of lunatics and untried prisoners, we find that owing to the limited accommodation it is impossible to comply with the statutes. We would also recommend the continuation of wire screens on many of the windows together with a much higher and strong wall around the rear of the building.

For the handling of the unfortunate condition of insanity we would recommend that a comfortable place should be erected for their safe-keeping until they are taken to the asylum. A strong feeling prevailed that a ward in connection with the hospital would be a good place.

Your jurors also visited the Asylum for the Insane and were very courteously received by the superintendent. He seems to be very much imbued with the comforts and conveniences of his patients. From patient lavatories to fire-escapes, he has everything in complete condition. In fact, each juror expressed to the doctor that the institution was the institution was not only a credit to himself and medical staff, but an honor to the Province as well.

Your jurors found almost the full number that can be accommodated, but owing to a little strategy on the part of the Superintendent, a few more patients can be accommodated, and just as soon as the two men now in the jail (one confined on the 18th and the other on the 23rd inst.) are reported officially, he will admit them. The jurors took particular pains to hear the patient on my matter, but outside of the fact that the consensus of opinion was that they should not be confined in the institution, all were perfectly satisfied.

As to relieving the congested condition of the Asylum, the Superintendent gave us some very good information, for instance, there are patients who have quite recovered and should not be kept in the Asylum, but should be placed in such institutions as the House of Refuge and Homes for the Aged and Infirm. He also explained that some of the municipalities have been removing the institutions in this way, and that if all the municipalities would remove their recovered patients, a large number of new patients could be accommodated.

Dr. Borrett, of Toronto, the plaintiff in an action against Dr. Guesner to set aside a fruit farm deal, lost his case. Chief Justice Meredith holding that he was unable to find any evidence of false representation on the part of the defendant. The fact that the plaintiff retained possession so long before complaining, his lordship thought, indicated that Dr. Borrett did not think at first that there was any misrepresentation. There was no evidence to show that the defendant had misrepresented the property. An appeal against the decision will be entered.

DRANK BLOOD.

Old Prospector's Donkey Turned on Fallen Master.

San Bernardino, Cal., Sept. 29.—With a vicious burro tearing at a jagged wound in his leg, Jacob George, an old prospector of the Mojave desert, was found unconscious and near death by a party of miners returning from the "furnace" regions. He was brought to Lone Willows Springs, the nearest point at which medical assistance could be secured.

The aged prospector was lost for two days in the state range in Death Valley. In attempting to inflict a flesh wound in his pack animal to secure blood with which to moisten his swollen tongue and throat, he accidentally shot himself through the leg. Falling helpless beneath the burning desert sun he lay unconscious. The burro crazed from lack of water, viciously attacked the fallen man and had torn a big wound in his leg when the rescuers found him.

More coal is mined by machinery in proportion to the total output, in Ohio, than in any other State.

P. C. ROBSON.

Efficient Police Officer Had an Attack Last Night.

When the policemen lined up in No. 3 police station last night at 6.50 o'clock, just prior to going out on their beats, P. C. Robson fell suddenly forward across the table unconscious. Dr. Rennie was summoned, and it was found the officer was suffering from heart trouble. It was at first thought he was in a serious condition, as he was unconscious for three hours. When he came he was taken to his home, 50 Tisdale street north, in the ambulance. This morning he was better, and will be able to resume his duties in two days.

NORTHCLIFFE ON GERMANY.

Previous Great Naval Preparations By the Kaiser

Did Not Mean That the Germans Meant War.

Submarines and Wireless In Preference to Aeroplanes and Gas.

Chicago, Sept. 29.—Lord Northcliffe, managing owner of the London Times, in an interview published in the Tribune, says:

"The Americans are so busy with the affairs of their own gigantic continent that they have not the time to devote to the study of European politics, which are more kaleidoscopic in their changes than are those of the United States. There is an impression in this country that some hostility exists between the people of Great Britain and of united Germany. From childhood I have travelled throughout most of the German States. I have many German family connections, and I venture to say that, outside the usual body of Anglophobes one meets in every country, there is little hostility to the British on the part of the Germans; and, on the other hand, there is, in England, no dislike of Germany. Why, then, if so happy a state of affairs exists between the two nations, should there be a suspicion of people in England to suggest the possibility of war?"

"Turn back to 1869. Was there any friction between France and Prussia? There was no hostility on either side. But there was immense preparation on the part of Germany—a preparation that was kept secret as far as possible, and which also, as far as possible, is being kept secret by Germany to-day.

"As to that which is transpiring in the German ship building yards, we more or less know that by 1912 Germany in ships of the super-Dreadnought class will be equal of England.

"We have to-day a superb navy. We have a line of battle such as ships as the Indomitable or the Inflexible, now in New York, which are as efficient in their sphere as our Mauretians or Lusitanias are to theirs. We are not wasting time on aeroplanes and gas bags, but are developing submarines and wireless.

"Why then worry? Those of our people who think as I do are looking ahead. We have the official figures of the German naval programme up to 1912, which are serious enough, but we know that these figures are just as inaccurate as were the figures made public by Germany prior to the Franco-Prussian war, of 1871.

"We know that the German press, unlike that of the U. S. and Great Britain, is prohibited from telling the truth about these matters. We know that at The Hague peace conference, Germany declined to direct the limitation of armaments: the use of floating mines at sea.

"These are a few of the reasons why many of us think it time that Great Britain should respond effectively to the naval programme of Germany."

FINED $40

For Having Liquor In Transit—Woman In Another Case.

(Special Despatch to the Times.) Smithville, Sept. 29.—There were three cases in court yesterday before Magistrate Martin. One was disposed of and the other two laid over.

Robert Nash got a gallon jug of whiskey somewhere and hid it in the bushes behind the Twenty creek. A well-known citizen saw Robert in the act and hailed a constable. For having liquor in transit the fine was $40 and costs.

Sarah Ann Martindale, living at Cairns Corners, was up on information laid by Inspector Ayrst. This is the fourth charge, and imprisonment is the only alternative, so the case was laid over.

FATAL SHOT.

Young Bank Clerk Accidentally Fired, and Is Dead.

(Special Despatch to the Times.) Woodstock, Ont., Sept. 29.—Jewell McNeill, a young man of 17 years, employed in the Traders Bank at Embro, died yesterday as the result of injuries accidentally sustained last Thursday night. McNeill was going to bed in his room above the bank. He picked up a revolver, and carelessly pointed it towards his body, and in some manner it went off, and the charge lodged in his stomach. He was hurried to Woodstock Hospital, but the bullet was not located, and he steadily sank. He was a young man of great promise, a son of Malcolm McNeill, of this city. No inquest will be held, as death was purely accidental.

AEROPLANES CELEBRATE.

Curtiss and Wright Fly Around Governor's Island

In Connection With the Hudson-Fulton Celebration.

Historical Exercises In the Schools—Boats Up the River.

New York, Sept. 29.—In connection with the Hudson-Fulton celebration the Curtiss aeroplane made its maiden flight at 7 o'clock this morning, successfully describing a semi-circle above the field at Governor's Island.

Wilbur Wright started a flight in his aeroplane at Governor's Island at 8.57 a. m.

Wright remained in the air for about ten minutes, passing over the top of Castle Williams and making a complete circle of the island, a distance of two miles. He returned to the landing point and alighted without accident.

Mr. Wright made another flight during which he crossed the lower bay and passed around the statue of Liberty. He started on his flight at 10.18 o'clock and finished in 6 minutes and 30 seconds. While returning from the statue with the usual speed, he made approximately a speed of 50 miles an hour.

The news that Curtiss and Wright had flown their aeroplanes over Governor's Island caused a rush to the Battery, and a crowd gathered there in expectation of seeing other flights by either of them.

Excepting the possibility of aerial exhibitions, commemorations and dedicatory exercises were the most exciting events the morning had to offer. Historical exercises appropriate to the day were held at all the public schools, and several tablets were dedicated by various patriotic societies at points of historical interest. The afternoon, however, had something unusual to offer.

The best oarsmen of the international fleet anchored in the Hudson off Riverside drive met in a series of races. There were five of these contests, four limited to the crews of the battleships, cruisers and gunboats now in the harbor.

The programme here to-night includes the official banquet to about 2,000 guests at the Hotel Astor. About every important nation will be represented. Vice-President Sherman, Governor Hughes, Mayor McClellan and General (Continued on Page 9.)

MAY SPRING SENSATION.

Taglerino Supposed to be Connected With Black Hand.

When John Taglerino, 396 Sherman avenue, is arraigned to-morrow on a charge of cutting and wounding John Deak, in a row at defendant's store on Saturday night, the 19th, it is possible something sensational will be sprung by the police. Ever since the Black Hand hold-up on Tuesday morning, Sept. 7, the police have been working on every clue. It was known at the time of that affair that Taglerino was related to one of the alleged Black Hand men, and now it is said he is father-in-law to Samuel Wolfe, one of the three now awaiting trial, and who has, it is said, served various terms of imprisonment in the States for serious offences, including dynamite and a brief in Baltimore. Taglerino is a well-known character in the Italian quarters in the east end.

G. M. HERE.

Independent Oddfellows Make Presentation to Jas. Ogilvie.

Senator Derbyshire, of Brockville, Grand Master of the Independent Order of Oddfellows, was the guest of the members of the Order in this city, last evening, at the regular meeting of Victoria Lodge. There was a fine turnout, fully 250 being present to greet him. The G. M. was accompanied by Past Grand Master J. B. Turner, Past District Deputy Grand Masters H. Day, and John Forth, F. R. Martin, and Charles H. Mann, and District Secretary W. H. Kerr, and among other visitors were the present D. D. G. M. James Ogilvie, P. D. D. G. M. Bro. A. Kurtz, of New York, and ex-Mayor Moss, of Dundas.

A feature of the evening was the presentation of a D. D. G. M. badge to James Ogilvie. It was made by the Grand Master, and the District Deputy made a fitting reply.

Grand Master Derbyshire's address was a masterpiece—one of the most effective speeches on Oddfellowship ever heard in this city, and was greatly appreciated by all.

Victoria Lodge officers, with H. Halliday, N. G., in the chair, discussing the initiatory work, and songs and short speeches made the evening pass pleasantly. Canton Hamilton, No. 4, P. M., met the G. M. at the Royal Hotel and escorted him to the hall, before the meeting.

SECTION 8

Wants to be Incorporated Poll Tax Village at Once.

At a meeting of the committee representing the ratepayers in Barton who are interested in the incorporation of school section 8 as a police village, it was decided after fully discussing the matter last night to proceed with the petition now filed with the County Council. This morning the applicants' solicitor, W. M. McClellan, was instructed to take the necessary steps at once.

The Man in Overalls

Another month and it will be Oh, dear! oh, dear!

That Hudson-Fulton celebration is another stone for the international peace structure.

When George Kennedy was playing centre scrimmage for Kingston in 1863—ahem, it's so long since I last heard the story that I cannot recall it.

With the U. S. raising the barrier against Canadian goods and closing the gates against Canadian workmen, "Canadian Federation of Labor" has an attractive sound about it, anyway.

In the matter of water, why should not every one pay for exactly what he gets—no more and no less?

The unanimity with which Tories regret the villainous Tory corruption in West Peterboro is quite affecting.

Looks as if the West Peterboro Tory bunch had sat up nights devising crooked schemes to try to corrupt the electors.

Remember London, Mr. Whitney, and get after some of those Tory bribers in West Peterboro. It's up to you to try to purify politics in your own nest.

Mars and the moon had a great race in the fleecy clouds last night. Mrs. won.

Looks as if our leading Tories "soaked" the hotel men to raise funds to corrupt the electors.

Wonder how much of the Hamilton hotel keepers' money the Tory hoodlums used in West Peterboro?

Some of those flag incidents are so trifling that comment on them should be waived.

GREAT STEEL MERGER NEAR.

A $125,000,000 Concern Will Soon be In Existence.

As intimated in the Times several days ago negotiations are under way for a gigantic Canadian steel merger, which will embrace practically all the big concerns in the country, including the Hamilton Steel & Iron Company. There is little doubt that the proposed merger is the result of the time rapidly approaching when the bounties paid by the Dominion Government will be cut off.

The Montreal Herald, referring to the merger scheme yesterday, said: "If present negotiations are successful Canada will shortly have one of the biggest industrial corporations in the world. This project represents nothing less than a $125,000,000 steel and coal consolidation.

"It is the intention of those financiers who recently have made several successful consolidations of industrial companies to bring some of the leading Canadian steel and coal companies under one strong controlling holding company."

LORENZO GOT THREE YEARS.

Jury Recommended Chief Justice to be Merciful.

Joseph Lorenzo, the young Italian who was convicted yesterday afternoon of shooting at Thomas White, with intent to do grievous bodily harm, was sentenced to three years in Kingston Penitentiary by Chief Justice Meredith this morning.

The jury deliberated for over an hour before returning a verdict of "Guilty, with a recommendation to mercy." His Lordship remarked that the jury should have reached the verdict in shorter time. Before sentence was passed, A. W. Semmens, of Semmens & Eves, spoke of the previous good record of the prisoner.

Lorenzo was given an opportunity to make a statement, but had nothing to say.

In pronouncing sentence, his Lordship said: "The offence is a most serious one. A person convicted of such an offence is liable to a sentence of life. The verdict of the jury is right, that you had no excuse for the shooting, that you shot, not caring whether you injured the man or whether you killed him. In view of the circumstances just mentioned and the recommendation of the jury, I have come to the conclusion that I will impose a lighter sentence than I otherwise would have done. You must spend three years' imprisonment in Kingston Penitentiary as a penalty for your crime."

Lorenzo took his sentence quietly. When he was led from the room a large number of his fellow-countrymen, who had occupied the benches while sentence was being pronounced, left the court room.

JOPLING BOYS COMMITTED.

Peterboro, Ont., Sept. 29.—At the close of the preliminary hearing in the Jopling case this morning, Fred and Harry Jopling, charged with causing the death of Arthur Ballard, were committed for trial.

The trial will take place at the Fall Assizes.

DEATH OF MRS. DUFFIE.

Mrs. Duffie, wife of Mr. Blake M. Duffie, died at her home, 387 Wilson street, at noon to-day at the age of 28 years. She had had heart trouble for some years. Deceased was a member of Barton Street Methodist Church. The funeral will take place to-morrow at 4 o'clock, and the remains will be sent to Ingersoll for interment. Mrs. Duffie leaves no family.

BOARD WILL SPEND $4,000

Fitting Up Art Department In Technical School.

Only Want Debentures to Amount of $36,000 For Parks.

St. Catharines Deputation Inspecting Local Abbatoirs.

The Technical School Committee will meet to-morrow night to arrange for the fitting up of the top floor of the new institution for the arts department. The estimated cost is about $4,000. The room in which the Saturday morning classes are being taught occupies as much space as the old Art School quarters, so that the pupils are not inconvenienced. Chairman Howell has instructed John S. Gordon, the instructor, to prepare for the opening of the classes on October 1st. Already many of the old pupils have registered.

Mayor Campbell and Dr. King, the Medical Health Officer, headed a deputation from St. Catharines which was here to-day, getting pointers in connection with the proposed public abattoir to be established at St. Kitts. They visited the Fowler Canadian Company's plant, which is said to be the most up-to-date in Canada, and got a lot of valuable information. The deputation left for Toronto this afternoon.

Chairman Allan will try and arrange a conference this week between the Street Railway Committee and the officials of the company regarding the reconstruction plan for next year. The company intimates that it would have an answer ready in about two weeks and the time expires to-day.

City Solicitor Waddell and Secretary James of the Fire and Water Committee are confident that as a result of the conference with Provincial Secretary Hanna yesterday about asylum water rates the Government will be willing to pay more than 7 1/2 cent a thousand gallons. The department will make a proposition to the city shortly.

The formal opening of the present session of the Normal School will take place on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Dr. Colquhoun, the Deputy Minister, will be present on the occasion and address the students in the assembly hall of the Normal School. The public are cordially invited to be present, and will be given an opportunity of inspecting the school at the close of the meeting.

The Board of Health last night discussed the question of increasing the salaries of the health inspectors and fixing longer hours for the men. It has been customary during recent years to pay the men for overtime. The members agreed last night that it would be better to increase the salaries to cover everything, but deferred action. Some of the members were rather surprised to hear that the inspectors stopped work at 4 o'clock in the afternoon during July and August.

A sub-committee of the Parks Board had a conference last night with Mayor McLaren and decided to reduce the amount of debentures which they will ask the authority of the Council to issue. The amount originally mentioned was $60,000. This will be cut down to $36,000. They will be cut down to $36,000. This will be cut down to $36,000. They will be cut down to $36,000.

A Marine Corps despatch says: "The schooner Van Straubenzie had not the proper signal lights burning when run down by the steamer City of Erie about 20 miles southwest of this port at 3 o'clock on Monday morning."

When the Van Straubenzie passed out through Port Colborne lock at 7 Sunday evening her signal lights were burning brightly. She lay in the harbor for four hours with these lights burning, awaiting a favorable wind.

A tug watchman on the pier says her lights were burning, and when the tug let go of her outside the breakwater about 11.30 the captain and crew will testify that she had the proper signal lights burning brightly. She was sailing with a fair wind, under foresail and jib, and the crew were making the mainsail.

Capt. Corson was well known here and was considered one of the most competent and careful vessel captains on the lakes, and all regret his loss.

NOT TO BLAME

Lights on Captain Corson's Boat Were Burning.

Efforts so far to recover the bodies of Capt. "Dolph" Corson and the other members of the crew of the Van Straubenzie, who were drowned off Long Point, Lake Erie, in the collision early on Sunday morning, have not been successful.

Deceased, who was widow of the late Mr. Ellis, married Dr. Brandon a few weeks ago. She leaves several sons and daughters to mourn her loss. Her sons are William and Calvert Ellis, of the Ellis Manufacturing Company, of this city; James Ellis, manager of Penman's cotton mills, and Frank Ellis, who is in the west. HAVE PICKED THEIR MEN.

Temperance People Endorse Peregrine, Lees and Cooper.

"Church Against the Bar" Is the Battle Slogan.

Wards to Organize at Once—A Spectacular Campaign.

The temperance people in the Board of Control race next January will be carried by Aldermen Peregrine, Lees and Cooper. The Citizens' Campaign Committee met last night and endorsed the trio. Five names were voted on. Aldermen Morris and Milne were the other candidates. Both will be in the field for aldermen, representing Ward 1.

The temperance people will have no hand in opposing Mayor McLaren. Although the question has not been discussed at any of the meetings, yet it was stated on good authority this morning that the committee would have absolutely nothing to do with the majority question. As Secretary Bower explained to-day, the temperance element that they should concentrate their efforts on electing a majority of the Board of Control and Council, and some of the workers think that if they went dabbling into the majority at this stage it might weaken some of the other candidates.

The committee is quite confident of making a clean sweep in January. A vigorous campaign will be waged from now until election day. Within two weeks ward 5 will be organized and aldermanic candidates picked. Then will follow wards 6 and 4 and later wards 1, 2 and 3. Ward 7 is already well organized. It has nearly two hundred members, and many of these workers have promised to give a hand in the other wards. The treasurer reports that subscriptions are coming in satisfactorily, and the organization will not be stuck for sinews of war.

At last night's meeting Rev. E. B. Lancelotti, of First Methodist Church; Rev. James Bracken, of Ferguson Avenue Baptist; Rev. A. H. Goings, of Zion Tabernacle; Rev. D. Williamson of Emerald Street Methodist, and Rev. D. H. Wing, of Market Street Church, spoke. They promised to do all they could among their congregations to arouse their enthusiasm. Regrets were received from many other ministers who were unable to be present. The campaign will be waged from the pulpit will be a feature of the campaign. A very spectacular fight for license reduction, "The Church Against the Bar," will be the slogan of the temperance workers.

Secretary Bower pointed out this morning that the temperance people came very near controlling the Council last year. About a hundred votes would have turned the trick. In ward 7 Dr. Wickins was just mess out. Ed. Morwick only required about twenty votes in ward 3 and H. A. Martin was only about forty votes behind in ward 6.

The idea in endorsing only three men for the Board of Control was to give people who might desire on personal grounds to cast a vote for some of the other candidates, not on the temperance ticket, a chance to do so.

Complaints are made every year during the race meets about men who carry six people from the track in buggies that are only meant to accommodate two. Inspector John Berlinghoff, of the S. P. C. A., is determined to stop this practice, and he announced to-day that a strict watch will be maintained, and offenders prosecuted.

He wheeled a large sized truck on the elevator, not leaving sufficient room for himself. When the elevator started his leg was jammed and broken. He was removed to his home.

AMOS MUST KEEP PEACE.

Family Troubles of the Blacks Aired In Court.

Drunk and the Races Land Several In Court.

A Wages Case Laid Over For a Few Days.

A coincidence happened this morning at Police Court. Amos Black was charged by his wife, Bertha Black with assault. Both are of the color their names represented. According to Mrs. Black's story, Amos for a long time has thrashed her, called her anything but loving names, broken the dishes and in short has repeatedly tried to wreck their humble home at 388 Charlton avenue west. The same old tale was told as to the cause of all this domestic trouble—the demon drink. While Mrs. Black was telling her story Amos leaned against the rail wearing a large smile of mingled contempt and satire and repeatedly broke out with "How's that maw?"

George C. Thomson for the defence, told the Magistrate the case was not so black as his client's spouse painted it. He put Black into the box where only that head and shoulder were visible. "I never was drunk in my life your worship. I have a few drinks on the market sometimes, but never get drunk," he said.

"Were you drunk yesterday?" "No, sir." He then said he went home yesterday morning at 10 o'clock to get something to eat and asked, "Where is the meat, maw?" He was answered angrily, and he said "Maw," made for him with a broomstick.

"I says, 'Go 'way, maw,' but she made the solitude of the broomstick felt. He explained that his step-children were responsible for the trouble, because they would not mind him, and he had provided a home for them, and was therefore entitled to consideration and obedience.

"What do you want me to do with him?" asked His Worship of Mrs. Black. "I want him to keep the peace."

He was bound over in the sum of $25, with a warning to cut out the whiskey bottle business. "You know whiskey beats the brain," said the Magistrate
