Accident at Redbank
A bad accident happened in Redbank after the Recruiting meeting Sunday afternoon. Daniel Cain, in the press of sleighs, was knocked down by a reckless horse, cut by the horse's hoof in the head, run over by the sleigh and dragged a piece. Dr. Beaton was on the spot and tended the man's wounds.

St. Patrick's Day in Chatham
The young men of St. Michael's R. C. T. A. L. Society, Chatham, presented "Irish Honor Vindicated" on St. Patrick's Day—afternoon and evening—to two bumper audiences. Each member of the caste performed his part in a credible manner.

"Bringing Up Father"
"Bringing Up Father" at the opera house Monday night drew a good house, and the play was bright, witty and full of mirth. John E. Cain, as Jiggs Mahoney, "Father," played a typical role, and in not overdoing his part, but rather giving a fine display of originality and ease, he kept his audience in constant laughter. The choruses, however, were hardly what had been expected.

In New Quarters
E. J. Morris, who for the past two years has been carrying on his pharmacy business in the O'Brien building, has taken over the drug business lately conducted by A. E. Shaw, and has moved into the Shaw store, on the opposite side of the park from the old stand. Mr. Morris has been busy the past few days overhauling the stock, for his intentions are to open some extraordinary bargains on Tuesday next, Dollar Day. The new premises are very much more suitable for his increasing business, having better chances to show off his extensive lines. See his Dollar Day advt. in this issue.

Special Cooking Course
A special meeting of the Women's Institute was held last night. Miss Hazel E. Winter, Supervisor of Women's Institutes, addressed the ladies, and completed arrangements for the short course in cooking to be conducted by Miss Saunders, in St. James' Hall one week beginning April 3rd. Miss Saunders comes highly recommended as an efficient teacher. The course is free to all present members of the local branch. All others may take it, on payment of $1.00 in advance for whole course, or at the rate of 25 cents a day. Classes meet each day at 2 p. m. Besides demonstrating, Miss Saunders will also give lectures on the theory of cooking. Two prizes will be given by the local Institute for the best marks in examinations. All wishing to take the course should communicate with the secretary, Mrs. H. H. Stuart.

Terrible Accident in Bathurst Mill

Clifford Falconer, of Newcastle May Lose Arm as Result of Accident

The unfortunate man was caught in the roller of one of the machines, and both arms badly mangled. His right arm being broken in two places, and his left arm and shoulder were also broken, and one thumb torn off and he was also badly burned about the face. Last evening he was resting comfortably and amputation of the arms will not be necessary unless blood-poisoning sets in. His mother went to Bathurst on Saturday evening.

Many Special Offerings
Readers of The Advocate will see by this issue that our columns are generously used by a large majority of local merchants in announcing their special offerings to the general public for Tuesday next, Newcastle's second annual Dollar Day. It is to be hoped that the 28th will prove a more suitable day than did Dollar Day of last year, which was a very stormy one. With weather like the present, Tuesday next should prove most profitable both to merchants and the public.

The Liquor Trust in Graft
The public have always wanted to know the ins and outs and underhanded methods of many of the trusts and grafting corporations. In the first episode of that remarkable series—serial "Graft" you will see how liquor is allowed to purchase liquor. How young girls are allowed in rum shops and saloons. You will see how even the police are prevented from doing their duty. Take the serial "Graft." It's the greatest uplift drama of the age, intermingled with a beautiful story of love and achievement. See the first episode. See every episode at the Happy Hour, commencing tonight.
