A NARROW ESCAPE
Last Friday morning a young boy named Russell had a very narrow escape from serious if not fatal injuries. He was driving a horse attached to an express wagon, when the horse became frightened, coming down the Post Office hill, and ran away. The young lad did all he possibly could to stop the horse, but was unable to manage it. Near the Post Office, three small children were almost run over by the team but fortunately escaped, by only a small margin. The boy steered the horse around the square, going at a fast rate, until in front of the Miramichi Hotel Sample rooms, the run-away team ran into a sloven laden with trunks, driven by Michael Dunn, an employee of Mr. Chas. Sargeant. The young fellow was thrown off the wagon, up against the Miramichi Hotel sample rooms, and the wagon was piled up over him. With the compact which knocked a wheel off Dunn's sloven, the horse fell and was unable to move. A crowd soon gathered and after unhitching the harness, the horse again got on his feet, showing no signs of any injury. To the surprise of those who saw the collision, the young lad immediately picked himself up from out of the debris, badly frightened but otherwise unhurt.

BASEBALL GAME
The locals played the Bathurst Baseball team here last Wednesday afternoon and evening. The afternoon game resulted in a win for the visitors by a 17-7 score. While the evening game was a tie 4-4. The games were well patronized, considering the cold wind which prevailed. Bun Green refereed both games.

SCHOOL OPENING
Vacation is rapidly drawing to a close. Beginners will be looking eagerly forward to making the start. As we look higher in the grades the eagerness diminishes, and in about the same proportion the size of the classes diminish. Here then, is the law; attendance depends on eagerness, i.e., interest. Parents and children look upon the beginning to go to school as a matter of course. There is no reason why continuing should not be treated as a matter of course. Some parents treat entering High School just as they do the first starting school and their children go through High School. This should be the attitude of all. No Canadian should fall short of a High School education. Those who do not get it are wronged even if willingly.

CONFERENCE ON RUM RUNNING IN SEPTEMBER

Following a meeting of the cabinet council Premier King announced that the conference between Canada and the United States government officials at which measures to curb rum running activities on the border will be discussed, is to be held early in September. A series of friendly notes have been exchanged between the two governments in regard to this matter, the Premier stated, and arrangements for the meeting have been practically completed.

The United States government will be represented at the conference which takes place in Ottawa, by McKenzie Moss, assistant secretary of the treasury department. The Canadian government will be represented by Hon. Jacques Bureau, Minister of Customs and Excise.

Communications which passed from the Canadian to the United States governments, the premier said, assured the American authorities of Canada's desire to cooperate, as far as possible with them in the enforcement of their laws just as Canada expected the American government would cooperate with Canadian authorities where possible in the maintenance of Canadian laws. It was pointed out in the notes addressed to the American government that already Canadian customs officials stationed at border points had instructions to notify American officials of liquor shipments consigned to points in the United States.

Thrilling Sea Picture

Dorothy Dalton and Jack Holt in "On the High Seas"

Appearing in one of the strongest sea pictures ever screened, Dorothy Dalton and Jack Holt, featured players, will be seen in Paramount's "On the High Seas" at the Opera House next Wednesday and Thursday. The action opens on an ocean liner, which is wrecked and the principal players are saved in a leaky boat when almost dead from thirst and exhaustion, run upon a derelict which is deserted save for a black kitten, all on board having died of a plague. On this ship many incidents ensue as the storm arises and beastly passion becomes uppermost in the mind of Polack, the burly stoker, who attacks the girl, a woman of high station and is worsted in a fight, by Jim, the other stoker who at the finish of the story, proves to be a wealthy man who had worked his way back on the liner in search of adventure. Jim and the girl are finally rescued from the derelict as it is about to sink and taken back to port, where they again resume their social positions of lady and stoker, until in the surprise finish, Jim kidnaps the girl and then reveals his true identity.

LET THE PAPER DO IT

The other day several prominent citizens of Yazo were discussing a local situation and thought something should be done. After it was found that it was unpleasant, unprofitable and risk for any direct civic group, it was the consensus of opinion that it was an opportune time for the newspaper to jump in with action to be taken by any individual with both feet and force the desired action.

There isn't anything strange about such proceedings as this, comments the Yazo (Miss) Sentinel. There is hardly a week passes but the mail brings a letter to the editor asking him to "jump on" somebody and nearly always the writer wants his own name kept secret. If the newspaper were to do all that is asked of it by these people, it would be a growing snarling thing—and would do nothing. The newspaper is ever ready to oppose wrongs, or fight for the right to demand practical reforms, to praise the worthy and blame the unworthy. They are unafraid. But the truth is, most of the demands that the paper "jump in with both feet and force action" are selfish propositions and are usually urged by the people who themselves are unwilling to do exactly what they request the newspapers to do.—Publishers Auxiliary.
