From information received by clients, they are of opinion that proposed action of the council to cel the contract may have been in enced by certain trandulent repres tations made by a rival telephone c pany, which company we have advised, cannot legally install telephone system in Edmonton, or deed anywhere in Canada, with in fringing on our clients' patent. You are no doubt aware that ceedings are now pending in the ited States wherein the owners of Strowger exchange infringes on-Lorimer patent. Before the corr tion entertains any proposition f any company proposing to install automatic telephone system, we wo suggest that it seriously consider advisability of contracting for a t phone system which, if installed may have no legal right to use.
