Act Respecting Flags.

Ottawa, Dec. 1.—Mr. Bradbury has introduced in the House of Commons an Act respecting flags which declares: No person shall publicly mutilate, trample upon, deface or treat contemptuously any flag authorized to be used in the British Empire, whether such flag is public or private property. The penalty is a fine of not less than $50 or more than $500, or to imprisonment not exceeding thirty days, or to both fine and imprisonment. No person shall display any such flag, or any representation thereof, on which appears any word, figure, advertisement or design of any nature whatsoever, and no person shall use any such flag for the purpose of giving notice of the sale of any kind of merchandise. The penalty shall be of not less than ten dollars and not more than fifty dollars, or to imprisonment not exceeding thirty days, or to both fine and imprisonment.

Held By a Cobra.

Agony of a Prisoner in a Military Jail in India. In the military cantonments of India the punishment cells, which are about fourteen feet high by twelve feet square, stands separately. There are no windows, but one side is a grille, the iron bars being about five inches apart. On one occasion when a private was confined in one of them a large cobra, one of the most deadly reptiles in India, crawled between the bars and wriggled on the bed to get warmth. It curled upon the prisoner's chest, and he was just about to turn over when, feeling the unusual weight, he saw the snake's glittering eyes staring into his face. He dared not move, so he had to lie in that position for four hours. At 8 o'clock, when the sergeant went his rounds, he saw the position the prisoner was in and went for a long stick. With another soldier he entered the cell, and they drove the snake into a corner, where they killed it. The colonel released the prisoner, as he thought he had suffered enough punishment in the terrible experience he had gone through. The man's hair had turned white with the mental strain which he had endured.—London Standard.

Modernizing The Orient.

Even the structures of the ancient city of Jerusalem have changed. Where once were crumbling walls and ancient temples are now blocks of Government buildings. On the site of the Jaffa gate is a broad and imposing avenue. In the streets are tramways and taxicabs, and the western water cart has supplanted the man on foot with his goatskin of water. In the plains of Shapon and on the tablelands between Jaffa and Jerusalem steam driven threshing machines and self-binding reapers are at work. Water is supplied by means of pumps driven by motors, Abraham's well at Beersheeba being pumped in this fashion. Up to date motorboats now cross the sea of Galilee, and a scheme is under consideration whereby similar boats will ply the river Jordan.

Last Surviving Scout

Of Custer's last charge drops dead in a hotel. Worcester, Mass., Dec. 3.—Harold Willis Powell, or "Montana Harry," as he was better known throughout the country, believed to be last surviving scout who was with Custer at the battle of the Little Big Horn, dropped dead in a hotel here last night, aged 64 years. He was a member of the Legion of Honor and the holder of several gold medals of honor from the Government, bestowed for bravery in the field. On his breast was found a gold medal awarded for bravery at Pine Ridge, January 1, 1891.

The FAIRBANKS is king of them all.—dec3,tf

'Long Live the King.'

Old King Fairbanks is much amused. His serenity is even greater than ever. With his wisdom and experience of years, his knowledge of human requirements, his wealth to cater to the most extravagant demands, his willingness to comply with the changed conditions which modern times require, he pitifully shakes his head at the arrogance of youth. Modern champions lives are short. Their fame dies in a few years, often in a few months, but the Jno. L. Sullivan of olden days is a champion even to-day. Age brings wisdom, security and perfection. Who will dare say that Oxford, Cambridge, and Westminster have depreciated on account of their hoary old age. So it is with KING FAIRBANKS. Years have given him wisdom and experience. He has watched the changes of time, and knows what is required. He is bigger to-day than ever. The success he is meeting with in Newfoundland is usual to him, but success being unfamiliar with rivals, they shout, and when threatened by Fairbanks, they howl. King Fairbanks doesn't grow alarmed. He knows he is bound to get his share of business. Coming here from his last scene of conquest and triumph where he has sold more than all other makes together, he has made his rivals grow concerned for the future. Since Fairbanks began business, rival firms have sprung up and died, and history will repeat itself. "The dogs bark, but the caravan moves on." FAIRBANKS is the simplest, strongest, most reliable, and durable engine in Newfoundland. Look at the specification of any engine on the market, and then look at the specification of FAIRBANKS of equal advertised horse power; you will then see that the FAIRBANKS has them beaten badly. If you have not got the specifications we will supply both the Fairbanks and its rivals, and supply you with comparisons that will make you sit up and take notice. KING FAIRBANKS is for sale at attractive prices and terms, so don't buy until you see KING FAIRBANKS. GEO. M. BARR, Agent, dec7,tf

Great Thrills In Auto Polo.

Latest Game for New Yorkers Wanting Excitement. New York, Dec. 2.—There will be no end of thrills in the auto polo game which will be played in Madison Square Garden. When the cars swoop down rapidly on the ball the mallet men frequently miss it, or it may be that the driver has to perform the difficult feat of turning completely about in a space of a hundred feet or forty while travelling at thirty or forty miles an hour. Often too short a turn is attempted and the two men are hurled from the car which turns over. A capsizing always brings an audience to its feet, another moment of intense excitement is to see the ball in play with both machines after it on the side lines. Each tries to keep the other off and to get the ball toward his own goal without smashing it out of bounds, at the same time trying to avoid running into the side of the arena or into each other, all of which means plenty of thrills.

A Merry Old Widow.

One of the most remarkable instances of long life was that of the Countess of Desmond. This merry widow died in 1694, having survived her husband, the twelfth earl, seventy years. She retained her faculties to the last, could walk ten miles a day until a week of her death, at the age of 140, and according to the inscription on her portrait at Muckross Abbey, Killarney, "in the course of her long pilgrimage renewed her teeth twice." The countess appeared likely to beat all records for longevity when, relates Sir William Temple, "she must needs climb a nut tree to gather nuts; so, falling down, she hurt her thigh, which brought on a fever, and that brought death."

Papke Wins In Paris.

Paris, Dec. 4.—Billy Papke, the American fighter, to-night defeated George Bernard, a French middleweight, for the middleweight championship, a big purse and an ivory belt especially designed for the occasion. Papke was awarded the decision in the seventh round, when the Frenchman was unable to respond to the call of time. Bernard, who was announced as "France's last hope," never had a chance.

In the first five rounds Papke allowed Bernard to do all the work, but the Frenchman was unable to do any appreciable harm. In the sixth Papke began to fight in earnest. The Frenchman went to the floor twice, just managing to struggle to his feet within the ten seconds, but he was in such a state of collapse that when the seventh round was called he could not leave his chair and the referee counted him out.

A Princely Gift.

Perhaps the most magnificent gift ever made by an individual to any nation was the presentation by Lady Wallace to the English nation of her husband's remarkable art collection in 1897. It contains over 600 pictures of every school, including thirteen by Sir Joshua Reynolds, furniture, china and objects of art innumerable, of a value between $15,000,000 and $20,000,000. It was left absolutely to the nation, the only stipulation being that it should be kept distinct from other national collections.

In Wages or Profit

health, sooner or later, shows its value. No man can expect to go very far or very fast toward success—no woman either—who suffers from the headaches, the sour stomach and poor digestion, the unpleasant breath and the good-for-nothing feelings which result from constipation and biliousness. But just learn for yourself what a difference will be made by a few doses of
