The choir of St. George's Church, Thorncliffe, and a few friends spent a very pleasant evening at the residence of Mrs. Steadman on Tuesday evening, on the eve of her departure to the city. Mrs. Steadman and family have many friends and well-wishers in the vicinity who will very much miss them.

Printers' Ink, a weekly journal published in New York, serves as an exponent of the practical suggestion to newspaper advertisers. It also indicates to the experienced advertiser how, when and where to advertise, how to write an advertisement, and how to display one. It contains in each issue interesting matter—original and selected—of interest to advertisers, and discusses advertising topics in an intelligent, impartial and instructive manner. Its subscription price is $2 a year.

Referring to the time-table of the passenger train now running on the C. P. R. between this city and Chatham, the Banner remarks: "This arrangement will suit Chatham admirably, bringing in people from local stations east in the morning, giving them four hours to do business here, and taking them home again in the evening." On the other hand people west of London can come here and stay for a night, returning in the morning, at a loss of a very short space of working time, arriving here at 7 p.m. and leaving again at 7:45 a.m.

As Evening's Amusement. Zera Senon and his numerous presents continue to be a strong attraction at the Opera House. The programme last night was varied to some extent, and proved very acceptable to the audience. The shadow-graphs, bell-ringing and musical variety part of the programme took immensely as usual, Mr. Austin's selections on the sleigh bells being loudly encored. On Saturday there will be a matinee, children only 15 cents, and the house ought to be crowded. The gold and silver watches and turn-of-moment presents were given away as usual last night. Everybody enjoys Senon's performances.

Nellie McHenry. The farce-comedy which appears at the Opera House on Tuesday evening next is spoken of by the New York World as follows: "The Nellie McHenry Company appeared last night in 'Green-Room Fun,' a new three-act play, written for them by Bronson Howard, and made a decided 'hit.' The audience filled the house in every part. The play is very funny, and is received with shouts of laughter as amusing situations followed each other. 'Green Room Fun' shows the ludicrous trials to which a regular manager is subjected when attempting to conduct a rehearsal and performance of amateurs. It is well constructed for its purpose, and will doubtless be very popular. Certainly the players could find no fault with the way it was received last evening.

Died in California. The death occurred on Jan. 11, at Davisville, Yolo county, California, of Mr. Charles Fellow, formerly a well-known resident of this city, who left here nearly four years ago. The following remarks appear in a California paper, written by a correspondent in Davisville: "Charles Fellow, our shoemaker, died last Saturday of pneumonia, at the age of 59. He was a native of England, and came to Davisville some-four years ago, when, taking a fancy to our quiet little town he resolved to make it his home. Charles Fellow was an humble, unambitious artisan. The money earned by his trade was spent in the happy, careless manner of the child—a trip to the city, a night or two at the theater, long walks through the streets, enjoying every sight and sound as only the child or free-of-care man can. Then back to his bench and work again. He leaves no fortune, nor no debts—the last and most inexpressible was paid on Saturday—but he leaves with all who knew him best something more precious than wealth or fame—the reputation of an honest man. No mortal can claim a greater epitaph. I knew him well. I was proud to call him friend, and almost feel that Davisville has lost in this humble artisan one of her best citizens."

Dr. Rice has been appointed jail surgeon of the lock in place of the late Dr. H. M. Mackay.

The death is announced of Mrs. Charles Post, of Alvinston, at the family residence. Deceased had been suffering for many years.

Mr. John Scott, who lives near the Gore of Norwich, fell dead suddenly the other day just as he was leaving the house. Deceased was the father of Rev. E. Scott, of Trinity Church.

Phillipsburg is suffering from a diphtheria epidemic. The attendance at the village schools is so depleted as to bring about the consideration of the advisability of closing them for a time.

Mrs. A. Forster, of Doon, daughter of Judge Lauder, of Waterloo county, died from a relapse of the prevailing epidemic. She leaves a husband and four small children to mourn her demise.

The quarterly meeting of the Covenant of or school Baptists will be held at Duart next Sunday. Amongst those who are expected to take part in the services is Elder Durand, of New York.

Lieut. Annie Woodhall, late of Windsor, was buried there, some of her Windsor comrades attending the funeral.

The Rev. James Webb, of New Durham, has accepted the call unanimously given to him by the Congregational churches at Simpson's Corners and Belwood, and will be installed into his new charge about the 1st of March.

P. Graham, M.P.P., and wife entertained a number of their friends at a supper at their residence, Warwick, on Tuesday evening last. Mr. Graham was heartily welcomed by the guests, who complimented him on his character from the foul charges contained in the recent suit with Cundick. A very pleasant evening was spent.

Operating on a Lioness. Yesterday morning Keeper Havens of the Gress zoo, performed a very delicate operation. The silver lioness, Mollie, chewed up a piece of raw beef, which the butcher had chopped up with a cleaver, leaving some fragments of bone in the flesh. It is not the custom of the keeper to give the animals flesh that contains any bone at all. In this instance a sharp sliver of bone pierced the lioness' gum on the outside of the jaw, next to the cheek, just below the eye. The place swelled up and festered, and the animal suffered a great deal of pain. Her head was swollen, and she was unable to eat. Yesterday morning Keeper Havens went to the cage, and by coaxing the lioness, he got her to lie down, and then he slipped ropes over her fore feet, stretching them to either side of the cage and tying them securely. "Mollie" kicked and struggled until the keeper fondled her awhile. After she was secured he entered the cage all alone, and taking her head in his hands, he cut a small incision in the cheek, took his lance and drew out the sliver, an inch in length. He did the work alone, and no one else was present during the performance of the operation. Yesterday afternoon after she had been released several hours he visited the cage, and she met him with grateful looks, holding her head up to the bars of the cage as if she were glad that he had performed the operation that relieved her, and she appeared as docile and kind as a kitten, although she had been fierce and resentful before.—[Atlanta O.]
