THE It's not surprising THE Old that ladies preferred New Way pair of gloves rather than give them out to be cleaned after the manner of the "old way." Think of the disagreeable odor that clung to them. But the "new way," the method in these works, has removed this marked objection to cleaned gloves. L. MUST STAY IN JAIL.
Bail Refused in the Case of the Alleged Forger, Jones, of New York.
London, Jan. 29.—Latterly Fredley Jones, of New York, the horse breeder and speculator, who was arrested in extradition proceedings at Scarborough, yesterday, was charged with forgery, large amounts being involved, was brought up before Mr. Franklin Lambington, at Bow street police court today.
Mr. Arthur Gill, for the defense, made an application for bail, in so doing, counsel said that the alleged offense Jones had been in the United States, and that for three years past he had been in communication with Mr. Benjamin L. Lambington, the Broadway lawyer, who is said to have advanced Jones for $100,000 to $200,000 on notes bearing forged endorsements. Jones, it appears, became quite prominent in 1885 and 1887 as an active organizer of the Orange county stock farm, the Bell Electric Light Company, and the United States Dredging Company. The warrant upon which Jones was arrested charges him with forgery to the amount of $22,000, and counsel asserted that his client had already paid Mr. Lambington more than one-half of this sum. Mr. Lambington, however, refused bail, and the prisoner was remanded until Feb. 6.

FESTIVITIES AT SPRINGBANK.
Band Tonight and Tomorrow Afternoon and Night—Good Car Service.
Festivities will begin at the Springbank rink this evening (weather permitting), and the band in all its glory will be down there. The ice was never in better condition, and those who have taken advantage of this opportunity to enjoy themselves on such a large expense speak in glowing terms of it, and of the arrangements for the comfort and convenience of patrons. Tomorrow afternoon a band concert will be given, and cars will leave the corner of Dundas and Richmond streets every half-hour. The band will give another concert in the evening, when several large skating parties go down to enjoy themselves under the electric illumination. The ice was cleared of snow this morning, and everything put in good shape.
The heavy ice in the Ohio has caused a total suspension of navigation. All the upper and lower boats have died up in the canal.

BEHIND THE BARS.
Malcolm Cameron, of Parkhill, in the Toils.
Malcolm Cameron, of Parkhill, was brought here by Chief Mains, of that place, and confined in the county jail yesterday afternoon. Cameron, it is alleged, is one of the parties who assisted Edward Ellis in the assault on Samuel Brock, of Parkhill, on Dec. 15, 1894. Since that time Cameron has kept out of the way. He was arrested on his return to Parkhill on Wednesday. An indictment against both these men was found by the grand jury at the June assizes here in 1895. The trial of Ellis was postponed until the December sessions, when he was convicted and sentenced to eleven months in the Central Prison. Cameron will come up at the next sessions, which open on March 15.

THE OIL MEN.
Oppose Any Reduction in the Tariff on Imported Oil.
Special to The Advertiser.
Ottawa, Jan. 29.—The Canadian oil men from Petrolia appeared in full force before the Tariff Commission here today, and asked that no change in the duty of 6 cents on the imported article take place. The delegation was introduced by Mr. Fraser, M. P. for East Lambton, and Charles Mackenzie, ex-M. P. for Barnia.
The delegation gave an array of statistics, and argued that the whole industry of Petrolia would be destroyed if the duty was interfered with.

BRAKEMEN STRIKE.
Refuse to Ride on Top of the Cars in Cold Weather for a Dollar a Day.
Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 29.—Cold weather and low wages have brought on a strike among the brakemen of the Georgia road. The brakemen had begun to seek shelter on the engine and in the caboose, saying that when the time came to go down grade or stop at a station, and the management issued an order recently to the effect that the rule as to riding on top must be strictly complied with, it was this order that thinned the ranks of the brakemen. They are paid $20 a month, and many of them are unwilling to undergo the exposure for $1 a day.
Halifax, Jan. 29.—The strike at Springhill coal mines has broken out again. The trouble this time is over the employment of Henry Rea, an overman, who was dismissed, the men say, because he was a member of the P. W. Lodge, and they refuse to go to work unless Rea is reinstated.

LIFE ON THE OCEAN WAVE.
May Be Very Fine in Song—in January It is Different.
Boston, Mass., Jan. 29.—A message was received by John G. Hall & Co. this morning, that the British bark Corvirech, Capt. Hammond, Java to Boston, had been wrecked with an anchor between Hastings Ledge and Minor's Light, with both her anchors and her crew disabled. The crew of 20 men were disabled, and the bark was badly torn-bitten that they were unable to raise the anchor.
Capt. Hammond requested the company that men be sent to the vessel to work her into port, as, aside from the crew being disabled, the Corvirech's sails were blown to ribbons during yesterday's gale.

"Boodle!"

Friday Afternoon.
The interest in the trial, judging by the attendance, does not seem to diminish in the least. It is seldom possible to secure a seat at any session, unless one is sharply on time. A number of enthusiastic spectators bring their dinners every day, and dine in the court room, which they sitew with crumbs and paper. This assures them a good seat, not a good meal—and they prefer the former.
Up to 1 o'clock this afternoon, Mr. Nelson Butcher, the official stenographer, had accumulated $3,400 words perhaps the longest trial in his experience; certainly the longest election case.
The court resumed at 2:05 p.m. Judge Ferguson said they had decided not to issue the warrant for Doty immediately. However, on the first day of the court's adjournment, if witness did not answer to his name, the warrant would be issued.
ALD CARROTHERS.
Ald Carrothers was called by the defense to answer the Quigley charge. Witness said he did not see Pat Quigley the night before the election. He saw Quigley the week before the election, but not on the night of the election. Quigley said he was not in the city on election day, and that he was not in the city on election day, and that he was not in the city on election day.
Witness denied this. Quigley came to his house one evening in the week before the election, and said: "I'm going to vote for Mr. Boadle this time, although I'm working at the Asylum. I'm expecting a steady job there, and I told them I was going to vote for Mr. Hyman."

FRIGHTENED TO DEATH.
Child Scared Into Convulsions by a False Face.
Williamsport, Pa., Jan. 29.—Two-year-old Walter Priest, of Muncy, was frightened into convulsions over the sight of a hideous false-face, worn by 8-year-old Margaret Colley, last night. The latter had previously donned the mask and rushed into the Priest home, to frighten the older people.
The baby was in its mother's arms and gave a shriek of fright and sank sobbing on the mother's breast. Two physicians were summoned, but the convulsions continued until this morning, when the child died.

A PIONEER EDUCATOR.
Honors For the Venerable Dr. Henry Barnard.
Dr. Henry Barnard, who is known as the father of American education, will see on Jan. 31 the eighty-sixth anniversary of his birth. There is some talk of having a celebration in his honor. Dr. Barnard is an extremely modest man, opposes the project, but there are so many who realize the extent and importance of his work that it is possible his objections may be overruled.
Few men have so persistently turned their energies toward one purpose as has Dr. Barnard during his long life. From earliest manhood until the present day he has worked for the cause of education in this country, and the record of his accomplishments is a long one. He was graduated from Yale in 1830, admitted to the bar in 1835 and two years later, as a member of the Connecticut legislature, began his educational career by advocating reforms in the common schools. He effected reorganization of the public school system in that state, introducing schoolhouses of improved construction, high schools, teachers' institutes, a normal academy and new methods of instruction.
But Dr. Barnard was working for the nation and not for Connecticut alone. He went to Rhode Island and, in the face of much opposition, introduced similar improvements there. In 1842 and 1843 he visited every state in the Union except Texas, working in the interests of education. He spoke in more than 60 cities and appeared before 17 legislatures. Subsequently he corresponded with the leading men in all parts of the Union, and school reforms followed everywhere. In 1857 he accepted a position as president of the University of Wisconsin, putting that institution on a sound educational basis.
His greatest achievement, however, was the founding of the national bureau of education. For several years he agitated the subject and finally got the bill through congress. President Johnson appointed him commissioner of education and he held the position for three years. Dr. Barnard has also been a most voluminous
