Debt on the Building. The trustees of Metropolitan church be ing anxious to liquidate a portion of their debt invited the members and adherents of the church to meet in the lecture room las night and take action in the matter. The bone and sinew of the congregation were present and the meeting was enthusiastic and highly successful. Quite a number of young people were among the audience.
After the ladies had served an excellent tea, Rev. Dr. Potts took the chair and made a few happy remarks by way of introducing the trustees' plan to reduce the debt, which on church and parsonage amounts to $65,000. The trustees then distributed to $65,000. The trustees then distributed blank cards among those present, leaving it to each and every one to fill their card up with any sum they thought fit to give payable within five years. At first the people felt a little hesitancy in filling up their cards, but soon all signs of backwardness disappeared, and Dr. Potts was kept busy for some time reading out the names of the subscribers and the amount of their subscriptions. The list was added up shortly after 10 o'clock and found to amount to $15,651, which was regarded as a very satisfactory showing.

The list will be left often for a while to give members and adherents of the congregation not present last night an opportunity to subscribe. It is expected that the amount will be swelled to $25,000.

OSGOODE HALL NOTES.

The convocation of benchers will be held next week. One of the questions before the benchers will be the appointment of a reporter to the chancery division of the high court, a position which entails so much labor upon its holder that the last incumbent found himself quite unable to fulfil the duties and at the same time practice as a solicitor.

The divisional court of the queen's bench and common pleas are to sit on Monday. The work of these courts has largely decreased since the judicature act, as many cases which were formerly appealable to them from a single judge must now be taken direct to the court of appeal.

The last case of the present chancery sittings was reached yesterday by Chancellor Boyd. It is an action brought by Joseph Davis, a broker and land agent of Church street, Toronto, against Samuel Wickson, a barrister and the reeve of Yorkville, and Ald. James Boustead, to set aside a judgment obtained by Mr. Wickson against an absconder named Oswald Foster on the ground that the judgment was collusive and fraudulent.
