As head of the council it was his duty As head of the council it was his duty to report on the condition of the finances. He asked their attention to the treasurer's report of receipts and expenditures for the past year as compared with the year 1883. It would be found that in almost every de-partment of expenditure there had been a large increase, which, if continued in the future and during the period of depression, must result in increasing the taxation to a point beyond the legal limit of two cents in the dollar, the present rate being 18 mills, including the local improvement rate, as he believed the debenture debt had increased from $2,600, 000 in 1873 to $7,000,000 in 1884. He called particular attention to the fact that the annual increase in the value of real and personal property subject to agsessment is not keeping pace with the very great increase in the rate of expenditure. For instance, the demand for school purposes, exclusive of buildings, was in 1873 $58,995. In 1884 it was $14,000, being one fifth of all the ordinary taxes collected. The police department was $21,236 in 1873 and $134, 296 in 1884. The rate in the dollar had increased from 124 mills in 1873 to 155 mills in 1884, with 24 mills for local im provements in 1884. The population had increased from 67,000 to 95.000 from 1873 to 1884. The general debt in 1884 was $6,202,808, with a local improvement debt of $837,430—a total of $7,040,-239. He recommended to the council that they apply to the legislature for power to control the expenditure of the police and public school boards. They should carefully consider how far the proposed annexation of Parkdale would benefit Toronto. If they had to incur a large expenditure and assume any addi-tional inset they work of street watering could unite on a reasonable basis the union might prove of mutual advantage. INDUCTION OF THE NEW CITY COUN-CIL FOR THE YEAR 1885.

His Worship's Inaugural Address – A Breeze on Civic Economy – Striking the Standing Committees. Mayor Alexander Manning and his new council were duly installed at the city hall yesterday. There was a large number of prominent citizens present, and the usual number of people with axes to grind were on hand. His worship took the oath of office in his private room shortly before 11 o'clock. Judge Boyd administered it. The mayor entered the council chamber at 11 o'clock under the escort of Ald. Baxter and Adamson. His worship was attired in a brand new broadcloth suit of the Q.C. cut, and he carried in his hand a draped besver. It was said Mr. Manning would revive the befrilled sleeves and shirt front so well known in the days of the late Mayor Morrison, but this was not the case, as his worship wore a plain bolded shirt, a regulation pair of cuffs and a white tie. Thirty-five members of the new council were in their places and sub-scribed to the declaration. Ald. Shaw was the only absentee, being away on account of illness. hand. by his worship. Quite a number of corks were pulled, and the contents of the bottles stowed sway. Mayor Manning delivered his inaugural address just after the council opened. He assured the aldermen that he would advocate strict economy in every department, and retrenchment wherever possible, consistently of course with a due regard for the city's requirements. He would aid them in every possible way in promoting every work which would add to the health and cleanliness and good govern-ment of the city. He would especially in-sist upon greater cleanliness of the thoroughfares. Amongst the most im-portant matters that should engage their attention was thorough repairing of the engine house, pumping wells, crib and wooden conduit pipes at Haplan's point, so at to secure an unfailing supply of pure water from the lake. The construction of a trunk sewer was urgently demanded to divert the sewage from the bay to some point east of Ashbridge's bay. He recommended the council to invite leading citizens to a conference as to the best c-drase to adopt in carrying out this work, ourse to adopt in carrying out this work, and to obtain the assistance of the most and to obtain the assistance of the most eminent engineer in sewage works. In or-der to get rid of the present nuisance until the principal work is completed, he would suggest that the present sewers discharg-ing into the bay be continued out to the end of the wharves by close piling covered over, to deep water, which would remove all offensive odors. The cleaning of the city was a matter of the utmost import-board. Ald. Hall and Hastings complained that all the plums were being given to the conservatives. There were pickings in all these appointments. ## Not the "Grand Old Man." Yesterday we were pleased to see one of Foronto's old representative firemen, who might prove of mutual advantage. He thought the work of street watering could be done cheaper and to better advantage by letting out at contract. The water-works expenditure was very large, the cost of fuel alone amounting to the enormous sum of $52,000 during the past year. He strongly recommended the appointment of a competent manager to this department. He would, as soon as possible, investigate the complaints against the police commis-sioners. He would recommend the doing away with the local improvement initia-tive principle, compelling citizens to make improvements when they did not ask for them. He referred to the large increase in the number confined in the jail. He did not think assessors should re-value lands every year. He thought two alder-men from each ward would be sufficient: Also, that a permissive bill he obtained from the dominion parliament regarding the Esplanade, and also to make applica-tion to the legialature for the abolition of tax exemptions. [Applause.] was once dubbed by the Globe as "the notorious Alex. Jacques," but who is more popularly known on the continent as the "Old Man." He says the old corners are "Old Man." He says the old corners are still to be seen, but the village has grown a bit since the days of '37, and he misses the old familiar faces, many of whom have gone out with the silent majority. The "Old 'Un" looks good for twenty years yet. A and B's Sheep Division.
