

"Come, let us live with our children!"

Earnestly, holily live,
Learning ourselves the sweet lessons
That to the children we give.
Fresh from the kingdom of heaven
Into this earth-life they come,
Not to abide—we must guide them
Back to the heavenly home.

"Come, let us live with our children!"

Leading them tenderly on
Into the fields that God's love-light
Ever shines brightly upon.
Then when our feet grow too weary
For the safe guidance of youth,
We shall be led, like the children,
To Him who is goodness and truth.
