CUPID'S BEST SHAFT.

(The Spectre Knight)

(The Spectre Knight.)
Said Cupid to me, come hither and see
That lady in ringlets so bright, boy.
Said I, with a nod to the knowing young god,
She puts them in paper at night boy.
But, said Cupid to me, did ever you see
On any girl's check such a red bloom?
Said I, half a score, but don't mention it more.
She's a small pot of rouge in her bedroom.
But, said he, if you've taste, there's a beautiful walst.

walst.
The doves of my mother all haunt it;
He dose a good trade, her correct that made
I can give you hat early it you want it.

Ah! said Cupid, I see you're to clever for me, And are heart-whole where otners have bled

And are heart-whole where orders have bled

And he dingered a dart by the feathery part.
And he winked his blue eyes as he said so.
Then he bade me good-bys, but said gaze in her eye.
What a love-like of beauty there's in it.
I could scarce turn to look, when an arrow he took
And pierced through my heart in a minute;
And he cried to the fair, as he flew through the

WANTED TO KNOW ALL ABOUT IT.

The other day a lady, accompanied by her son, a very small boy, boarded a train at Little Rock. The woman had a care-worn expression hanging over her face like a tattered veil, and many of the rapid questions asked by the boy were answered by unconscious sighs.

"Ma," said the boy, "that man's like a baby, ain't he?" pointing to a bald-headed man sitting just in front of them.

" Hush." "Why must I hush?"

After a moment's silence : " Ma, what's the matter with that man's head?"

"Hush, I tell you. He's bald." "What's bald?"

- "His head hasn't got any hair on it?" "Did it come off?"
- " I guess so." "Will mine come off?"
- "Sometime, maybe." "Then I'll be bald, won't I?"
- " Yes." "Will you care?"
- "Don't ask so many questions." After another silence the boy exclaimed : "Ma, look at that fly on that man's head." "If you don't hush I'll whip you when we get home. "Look! There's another fly. Look at 'em newspaper and looking around, "what's the matter with that young hyena?"

The woman blushed, stammered out something, and attempted to smooth back the boy's hair.

"One fly, two flies, three flies," said the boy innocently following with his eyes a basket of oranges carried by the newsboy. "Here, you young hedgehog," said the bald-headed man, "if you don't hush I'll have the conductor put you off the train." The poor woman, not knowing what else to do, boxed the boy's ears, and then gave him an orange to keep him from crying.

"Ma, have ! got red marks on my head? "I'll slap you again if you don't hush."
"Mister," said the boy after a short silence,

"does it hurt to be bald-headed?"

"Youngster," said the man, " if you'll keep quiet, I'll give you a quarter."

The boy promised, and the money was paid

The man took up his paper and resumed his reading.

"This is my bald-headed money," said the boy. "When I get bald-headed I'm going to give boys money. Mister have all bald-headed men got money?"

The annoyed man threw down his paper, arose and exclaimed: "Madam, hereafter when you travel leave your young gorilla at home. Hitherto I always thought that the old prophet was very cruel for calling the she bears to kill children for making sport of his head, but now I am forced to believe he did a Christian act. If your boy had been in the srowd he would have died first. If I can't find another seat en this train I'll ride on the cow-catcher rather than remain here."

"The bald-headed man is gone," said the boy, and the woman reaned back and blew a tired sigh from her lips .- Little Rock Gazette

MIRACULOUS CURE.

A Connecticut woman is convinced that she has been cured by a piece of cement from the Irish miracle-working chapel at Knock. Mary Ellen McNamara, daughter of a respectable laborer at Norwich, had been for five years afflicted with epileptic fits, which had completely paralyzed her lower limbs. She is twelve years old, and her limbs are not larger than those of a child of seven or eight. She had not walked a step in five years. Her | For sale by all Druggists and Fancy Goods Dealers. father has cousins in Ireland, in Knock parish, the scene of recent luminous apparitions of the Blessed Virgin and the saints. They wrote to him, telling of the wondrous cures that were being affected in that county, and Mr. McNamara, half believing, asked them to send him some of the cement from the chapel. A short time ago the cement was applied to the back of the girl's neck. The effect is thus told by the child: "First I felt a pain in the back of my neck and it kept growing worse, until finally it all left me, and I telt better. Then my folks took me up and put me on my feet, and I found that I could walk. "Did you take any other medicine?" she was asked, and the child replied: "Oh! no none at all." On Thursday last she walked to the city with a companion without aid, and on Friday she walked over to the circus grounds, and after the exhibition back home.—N. P.
