

In business, timing is everything.

Never has the time been better to seize the opportunities for business growth in Saskatchewan.

With our productive, dedicated work force and our stable business climate, entrepreneurs are sure to benefit. And affordable land costs and excellent utility rates add up to good financial sense.

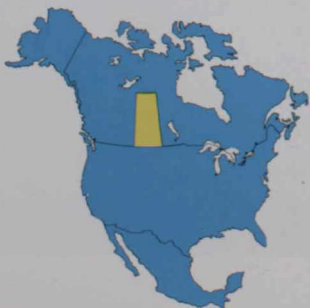

Saskatchewan's central location ensures shipments reach customers all over North America by rail, air or ground transportation — on time and on budget.

And Saskatchewan's quality of life is second to none. Enjoy a cost of living that is well below other major Canadian centres. Housing is inexpensive, and residents have one of the best health care systems in North America and access to world class universities.

The time is now. The place is Saskatchewan. For more information on our business opportunities, please contact:
