

remain in grave danger.

In furtherance of the objectives of Mr. Kenyatta's humanitarian initiative, these governments, being signatories to the Geneva Conventions of 1949 for the protection of war victims, which govern the treatment of civilians and others in the present conflict in the Congo; and being concerned for the safety of all the civilian population, appeal to all concerned to facilitate an immediate and safe arrival at Stanleyville of personnel of the ICRC, in order that they may perform their humanitarian services throughout the whole Congo including those parts of the Congo to which they do not now have access. If it would help to ensure the success of this mission, these Governments would, for their part, be prepared forthwith to designate their own representative to accompany the ICRC Mission to Stanleyville, and if any OAU member states wish to designate a representative to accompany this mission these Governments would welcome this".
