GOVERNMENT SENDS TROOPS TO ULSTER

Despatch Received in London Reports Mobilization in Ireland.

STRICT ORDERS ISSUED

Soldiers Not to Associate With Ulster or National Volunteers.

Canadian Associated Press Cable. LONDON, Friday Morning, July 24.

The Telegraph's Dublin correspondent is sending a startling message to the effect that infantry are being despatched to Ulster, and that those who are engaged in field operations in that province are being mobilized with a view of coping with any contingency which might arise.

An order has been issued from the war office, preventing them from associating or taking part in any way with the Ulster and National volunteers. The order has been read to the men on parade. The document orders that arrest and court-martial, with the usual punishment, will follow in case of its violation on the part of those giving aid or instruction to any or either of the volunteer forces now known to exist in Ireland, whose intentions or objects are partially or wholly known to interfere with the peace and good order of that portion of his majesty's domains known as Ireland.

All pensioners from the service have been warned that their action in giving help to either of the volunteer forces designated as the imparting of military secrets to another force which differs in essentials from that under which they were employed, will be strictly investigated.

WORMS INVADE NEW DISTRICTS

Farmers Between Bowmanville and Newcastle Kept Busy Combating Their Inroads.

Special to The Toronto World. PORT HOPE, Ont., July 23.—The destructive army worm has made its appearance in this vicinity. It has been found in large numbers about midway between Cobourg and Port Hope on the farms of Dr. Samuel Nichols, Mr. Beck and John Carr.

The pest has been busy between Bowmanville and Newcastle as well as the west of Bowmanville.

It is also reported at Taunton and Courville.

R. S. Duncan, B.S.A., and staff of the Port Hope branch of the department of agriculture are doing all they can to assist the farmers in combating the pest, which is a nocturnal feeder. They advise the possibility of controlling the infestation of the army worm before the caterpillars leave their breeding places by careful watching.

This has been done by plowing around such breeding places a few deep furrows, and when the caterpillars collect in the furrows they can be killed by the use of the holes. Mr. Duncan is advising the farmers to dig out the pest every ten or fifteen feet will be sufficient.

These deep furrows are made directly across the path. The sides of the furrows should be perpendicular if necessary by a spade so as to render it difficult for them to climb. The holes should be about a foot deep. The caterpillars, when they reach the furrows, will crawl along it and fall into the holes. Mr. Duncan is advising the spraying of Paris green to kill the pest, using two pounds with forty gallons of water.

When it rains, the caterpillars will not be so numerous, but they will not doubt save the situation which has become alarming with the farmers.

PEST APPEARS AT AYR.

AYR, July 23.—The army worm has been discovered in small quantities in this vicinity. The pest occupies fields on three farms south of the town. One section has been found in larger numbers on a farm to the west. The usual precautions are being taken, and if the worm does not appear in greater numbers no serious damage will result.

RAIN IS LESSENING ARMY WORM MENACE

Special to The Toronto World. GAITHER, July 23.—Today's rain, besides helping the crops, will tend to lessen the ravages of the army worm, which has become less active. However, there have been new outbreaks of the pest on the Cedar Creek road, near Gait, at Hayville and New Ham.

The worms are not in large numbers, but they are causing alarm. It is thought by experts that the pest has reached the zenith of its depredation and trouble will diminish from now on.

STRENUOUS EXERCISES MADE

been still further postponed. This justifies the belief that the conference will extend into next week.

Another hopeful indication was a meeting of the Unionist leaders, which was attended by the Marquis of Lathom, the Earl of Selborne, the Marquis of Salisbury, Lord Halsbury, Earl Curzon of Kedleston and the Duke of Devonshire, such a gathering of Unionist peers would hardly have assembled unless some weighty matter was to be discussed.

Liberals Work for Solution. The Liberals, from Premier Asquith down, are working tooth and nail to find a solution of the Ulster problem which will meet the views of Ulsterites and Nationalists. Should the conference fail, they hope to reach the goal by other means.

Their most persuasive followers have been busy in the lobbies trying to induce the Irish protagonists to reconcile their differences. Baron Courtney, a life-long home ruler and an insistent advocate of peace at home and abroad, was busy all afternoon interviewing John Redmond and the other leading members of the Nationalist party in behalf of the Liberals. The Irishmen listened courteously and smilingly to the blandishments of the white-haired peer, but outwardly at least they declined to give way an inch.

Carsonites as Adamant. The Carsonites apparently are just as adamant. They are standing out for the exclusion of the four Protestant counties and Tyrone. The Nationalists are ready to grant them the former, but will not budge with regard to Tyrone.

The English Unionists are interested spectators of the fight. They believe that no matter how it terminates it must benefit them, at least to the extent of hastening a general election. They argue that whichever party in Ireland thinks it has received the worst deal will turn against the Liberals. If it is the Nationalists they will defeat the government on the floor of the house, if the Carsonites, they will set up a provisional government and threaten civil war before which, the Unionists believe, Premier Asquith will surrender.

The Liberals say that threats of civil war do not frighten them, and point to the incident of the Irish landlords cheering Redmond on Wednesday as evidence that the whole of Ulster should they attempt to take over the government of the province.

CLUE TO MISSING WOMAN STOPS AT CAPE VINCENT

Special to The Toronto World. KINGSTON, July 23.—The provincial police are still working on the Cape Vincent clue to find Miss Blanche York of Tamworth, but as far as can be learned they have secured nothing definite. She has been traced as far as Cape Vincent, but her later movements appear to be unknown.

WHAT DYSPEPTICS SHOULD EAT

(ADVERTISEMENTS.) A PHYSICIAN'S ADVICE. Indigestion and practically all forms of stomach trouble are, nine times out of ten, due to acidity; therefore stomach acidity, if it is not immediately relieved, will lead to serious complications. Such a rule eliminates most foods which are pleasant to the taste as well as those which are rich in blood, flesh and nerve building properties. This is the reason why dyspeptics and stomach sufferers are usually so thin and emaciated and lack energy in that vital energy which can only come from a well-fed body. For the benefit of those sufferers who have been obliged to exclude from their diet all starchy, sweet or fatty food, and are trying to keep up a miserable existence on starchy products, it would suggest that you should try a meal of any food or foods which you may like, in moderate amount, taking immediately afterwards a teaspoonful of bismuthated magnesia in a little hot or cold water. This will neutralize any acid which may be present, or which may be formed, and instead of the usual feeling of uneasiness and fullness you will find that your food agrees with you perfectly. Bismuthated magnesia is doubtless the best food corrective and antidote known. It has no direct action on the stomach, but by neutralizing the acidity of the food contents, and thus removing the source of the acid irritation which induces the delicate stomach lining, it does more than could possibly be done by any drug or medicine. As a physician, I believe in the use of medicine whenever necessary, but I must admit that I cannot see the sense of doing this, in the case of the stomach, when a little bismuthated magnesia from your drugstore, set what you want at your next meal, take some of the bismuthated magnesia as directed above, and see if it is not right.

CAILLAUX ASSAILED BY FORMER WIFE

Mme. Gueydan's Revelations Stirred Listeners in Court Room to Depths.

STRONG PERSONALITY

Handing Over of Private Letters Created Intensely Dramatic Situation.

Canadian Press Despatch. PARIS, July 23.—Mme. Berthe Gueydan, Joseph Caillaux's first wife, a slender woman with wasted cheeks and black eyes came into court and faced her former husband, the ex-premier of France, and put as the question on a rack, the woman who had won him from her—Mme. Henriette Caillaux, now on trial for the killing of a man.

Mme. Gueydan was to tell her part in the publication in The Figaro of the now celebrated "The Joe" letter, but she declared she knew nothing about it, and affirmed that she had told Gaston Calmette nothing.

The emotional summit of the trial was reached when other private letters were handed over by Mme. Gueydan to Ferdinand Labori, counsel for Mme. Caillaux. It was one of the most dramatic moments in the annals of the French courts. A deep and impressive silence fell upon the court-room.

Secrets Laid Bare. Mme. Gueydan then left the box after having completely dominated by her remarkable personality the whole procedure. For three hours she spoke and her voice gained strength and clarity to the remotest corner of the room.

In that time she laid bare many of the secrets of her life with M. Caillaux. She told of his liaison and of his throwing himself at her knees and asking her pardon. She testified that he even threatened her life.

Then she left him and hoped that he would follow her but he did not, she added, with a dash of her eyes and a tightening of her lips: "You know why."

The sympathies of those in the court room she gained rapidly with telling phrases and shafts that seemed to sink deep. There were murmurs of applause despite the admonitory rappings of the judge's pencil and threats to clear the court. When she returned to her place many crowded around her with cries of "Bravo!"
