

A SHORT
DESCRIPTION
OF QUEBEC.

THE city of Quebec is divided into the Upper and Lower Town; it stands upon the S. E. side of a very high and steep bank, which stretches out into the river from the north side of the river St. Lawrence. The Lower Town stands upon a flat between the river and hill, which is exceeding steep; it is of no great breadth, but encircles the foot of the hill

B above