A small horse power engine, which is said to make 42 cigarettes a minute, is the invention of a Frenchman.

A Georgian boy, thought to be lost, was found on the banks of the river, where he had been fishing steadily for three days.

A young Swede was induced to join the A. R. U. prior to the strike, and lost his job. Subsequently he was solicited by a local committee to join the Y. M. C. A., but he flatly refused, for the reason that it might bring on another strike.

A nine-foot shark was recently caught in a bluefish net off Coney Island,

One inch of rain falling upon one square mile is equivalent to nearly 17,500,000 gallons.

The Ohio State University is soon to have one of the finest mastodons ever mounted in this country. It was found some months ago in Clark county, O., and the mounting, which is being done in Rochester, N. Y., is almost finished. The expert engaged in mounting the mastodon says that there is but one other in the United States to compare with it.

The north coast of Egypt has been guarded by a lighthouse since 300 B. C., when Ptolemy Philadelphus, the Greek king of Egypt, and one of the successors of Alexander the Great, built the so-called Pharos of Alexandria. This was a lofty tower, placed at the entrance of the harbor, with a great fire blazing on its summit during the night.
